PETITIONS URGING NOV. 22 COUNTY BOND ELECTION IN CIRCULATION

$39,211,839 Proposal Presented to Council —$500,000 Added to Road Proposition for Emergencies.

(Map in Everyday Magazine.)

Circulation of petitions calling for an election Nov. 22 on a proposed $39,711,839 civic improvement bond issue for St. Louis county began today.

The petitions cover six of the eight propositions that will be submitted to the voters. Petitions for the other two, expressway right-of-ways and children's buildings have already been filed with the County Council.

Presentation of the bond issue proposal was made last night to the County Council by Edwin J. Spiegel, chairman of the Executive Campaign Committee, and three of its 19 members. It totaled $39,211,939 and represented about $16,000,000 less than projects proposed earlier by the St. Louis County Citizens Bond Issue Screening Committee.

On motion of Councilman Harold D. Carey, $500,000 was added to item No. 18 of the supplementary roads proposition to provide for emergencies. The motion, which resulted from doubt that cost of all of the projects had been estimated correctly, was passed unanimously.

On a motion by Councilman James H. J. McNary, also passed unanimously, County Counselor Herbert C. Funke was instructed to draft an amendment to a pending bill to change the date of a proposed special bond issue election from Oct. 4 to Nov. 22, and to include all the propositions recommended by the executive committee.

In presenting the proposals to the Council, Spiegel announced that E. E. Pershall, a member of the executive committee, had agreed to serve as general chairman of the campaign for passage of the bond issue and was in the process of selecting his group.

Spiegel, president of Gaylord Container Corp., praised the work of the bond issue screening committee which had called for a bond issue of $55,170,710. He said all of the items in that proposal had been important and those that had been omitted by his committee should be the subject of a later bond issue.

Estimate of Tax Rate.

While an exact estimate of the tax rate needed to finance such a bond issue is in course of preparation, Spiegel expressed the opinion the rate would not exceed 20 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation and might be "substantially less."

In passing, Spiegel noted that the proposal for an inner belt highway connecting the northeastern part of the county to the southern part would provide most of the right-of-way needed for a second route through south Maplewood originally proposed for the Daniel Boone Expressway.

This southern route, which had been put forward as an alternative to the presently designated route through Richmond Heights, will soon be needed as a supplement to the Daniel Boone route, Spiegel said, adding that the Missouri Highway

The TRUMAN MEMOIRS

In First Address to Congress, Mr. Truman Promises to Carry Out Roosevelt Policies — Holds His First Press Conference.

FIRST ADDRESS TO CONGRESS: "For me it was a very stirring moment. I was so affected that I completely forgot an important bit of protocol. (Speaker Rayburn in background behind the second set of microphones.)

By HARRY S. TRUMAN
Thirty-third President of the United States.

FIFTH ARTICLE.

ON MONDAY, April 16th, I was to make my first address to Congress as President. I hoped it would go well. I entered the House chamber at 1:02 P.M., and was greeted by a standing ovation which I knew to be a tribute to the office of the President. Those who filled the galleries had also risen. I looked up and caught a glimpse of Mrs. Truman and Margaret.

For me it was a very stirring moment. I was so affected that I completely forgot an important bit of protocol.

"Mr. Speaker," I began.

Rayburn, who was with Senator McKellar on the rostrum just behind me, interrupted me at once.

"Just a minute, Harry," he whispered as he leaned toward me. "Let me introduce you."

He spoke softly, but the microphones that stood before me had been turned on, and he was heard all over the chamber and all over the country over the radio networks. Then he straightened up:

"The President of the United States," he said in his full voice.

I had now been introduced, and so I went ahead.

Pledge to Carry Out Roosevelt Policies.

I pledged myself to carry out the war and peace policies of Franklin Roosevelt, and I made it clear that I would work for the peace and security of the world. I asked for public support for a strong and lasting United Nations organization. I called upon all Americans to help me keep our nation united in defense of those ideals which had been so eloquently proclaimed by Roosevelt.

There were many indications of approval of what I said. I was applauded frequently, and when I reaffirmed the policy of unconditional surrender, the chamber rose to its feet.

I returned to the White House, and with Steve Early and Bill Hassett, two of my able Secretaries, I tackled another batch of accumulated work. Also, I was advised that Blair House had been readied for us and that we could move in that evening. Mrs. Truman, her mother Mrs. David W. Wallace, and Margaret were already moving out of the Connecticut Avenue apartment. Since Blair House is directly opposite the old State Department Building and little more than diagonally across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House, I decided I would go and come on foot, little realizing what security precautions would be required on that short walk.

It was a little after five when, flanked by Secret Service men, I started for our new home. I had given no thought to the problem of getting there and was somewhat surprised when, as we reached the corner of Pennsylvania Avenue at the cross street of Executive West, the traffic lights turned red in all directions. They remained red, too, until I had reached the front entrance to Blair House.

This was about the time of the heavy traffic hour, and I had no knowledge, at first, that the lights had changed because of a request of the Secret Service. But when I did find out, I asked that the normal traffic signals be restored, for I felt that I could wait and observe the traffic regulations along with the other pedestrians. However, this didn't work well either, for the Secret Service began to worry about the crowds that waited to watch me go by. To allay the anxiety of the security people I eventually had to arrange to make four trips daily from the rear of Blair House and back.

Letter to Mother and Sister.

It was that evening, I remember, that I wrote my mother and my sister my first letter to them as President.

"Dear Mamma & Mary:" it began. "Well, I have had the most momentous, and the most trying time anyone could possibly have, since Thursday, April 12th.

"Maybe you'd like to know just what happened. We'd had a long, drawn out debate in the Senate and finally came to an agreement for a recess at 5 p.m. until Friday, Apr. 13th.

"When I went back to my office, a call from Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the House, was awaiting me. Sam wanted me to come over to the House side of the Capitol and talk to him about policy and procedure and, as Alice in Wonderland would say, 'shoes and ships and sealing wax and things.'

"But— as soon as I came into the room Sam told me that Steve Early, the President's confidential press secretary, wanted to talk to me. I called the White House, and Steve told me to come to the White House 'as quickly and as 'quietly' as I could. Well I told Sam I had to go to the White House on a special call and that he should say nothing about it.

"I ran all the way to my office in the Senate by way of

BRITAIN WARNS EGYPT'S DEAL WITH REDS MAY SPUR ARMS RACE

London Move Is Third Step Opposing Cairo's Purchase of Communist Weapons in Return for Cotton.

LONDON, Sept. 29 (AP)—The Foreign Office said today it has ordered Ambassador Sir Humphrey Trevelyan to inform the Egyptian government of the "grave view" Britain takes of Egypt's announced intention to buy arms from behind the Iron Curtain.

A spokesman said the British envoy was told to warn Prime Minister Gamal Abdel Nasser of the dangers of starting an arms race in the Middle East.

British intervention in Cairo is the third of a series of steps taken by this country and the United States in the 48 hours since Egypt's disclosure that it has accepted an offer to get arms from Communist sources in return for Egyptian cotton.

United States Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan complained to Soviet oFreign Minister V. M. Molotov yesterday that Russia's entry into the Middle East military scene threatened to touch off an arms race and contradicted the spirit of Geneva. The three foreign ministers were in New York for United Nations meetings.

Allen to Visit Cairo.

The United States aso ordered George V. Allen, assistant Secretary of State for Middle Eastern Affairs, to visit Cairo, Beirut and Athens. Allen expects to see Nasser on the arms question.

The Foreign Office spokesman said it is not yet absolutely clear whether Egypt has concluded an arrangement to get arms from Russia or Czechoslovakia, or both. The Foreign Office claimed two days ago Trevelyan was told by the Egyptian authorities that they had accepted a Russian offer of arms. Shortly afterward Nasser himself announced Egypt had concluded such a deal with Czechoslovakia.

Radio Prague reported today Czechoslovakia is selling the arms to Egypt in a purely commercial deal "with no political strings attached." The broadcast did not state the types of weapons involved.

(In Washington, the United Press said the United States has received reports that Communist arms shipments already have left European and Black sea ports for Egypt. So far, the reports say only that ships carrying arms to Egypt have left Antwerp, in Belgium, and Odessa, a Soviet port on the Black sea. Authorities were unable to say what kind of arms are supposed to be aboard the ships and whose vessels are involved.)

Wants Data on Cyprus.

Allen declined to comment on his mission to Egypt during a stopover in Paris today. He said he would spend a few days in Cairo, then visit Beirut and Athens, the latter because "I want to learn more about the critical Cyprus situation."

The United States, Britain and France are bound under a 1950 declaration to preserve a military balance between Arab countries in the Middle East and Israel. The three Western powers have observed their declaration by rationing military equipment to both sides in hopes of preventing an arms race between them.

A highly placed Egyptian source in Cairo said Israeli aggressiveness forced Egypt to buy arms from Communist countries.

Answering charges that his country is opening the door to Soviet penetration of the Middle East by buying arms from the Soviet bloc, the informant said "in the history of the Arab world no nation has been more anti-Communist than Egypt under this regime."

Hougher Than U.S.

"Egypt is much tougher on Communists than the United States," he continued. "If we convict a Communist here we give him 15 years in jail."

When David Ben-Gurion became minister of defense in Israel early this year, the source said, the Israeli army opened up a series of attacks in the Gaza area. These attacks convinced the Egyptian army they were not ready to meet the Israeli threat, the source said, and Egyptian army officers put heavy prssure on Premier Nasser to find heavy armament urgently.

At United Nations, N.Y., yesterday Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi challenged the right of any country to tell his government where and how it should buy arms for its defense.

A few hours after issuing his statemept, Fawzi had a private dinner with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov. There was no

ADAMS FLYING TO DENVER WITH OFFICIAL PAPERS FOR EISENHOWER TO INITIAL

Assistant President at White House Desk

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

SHERMAN ADAMS, assistant to the President and "chief of staff" in the White House organization, in conference yesterday with FRED SEATON, deputy assistant to the President. Adams occupies quarters close to President Eisenhower's office and his desk, with the presidential seal, once was used in the President's office.

ASSISTANT WILL TAKE CHARGE OF TEMPORARY WHITE HOUSE

President 'Continues to Progress Without Complications'—May Start to Do Routine Work.

DENVER, Sept. 29 (AP)—President Eisenhower has reached the point where he now will initial two official documents within the next day or so. His top assistant, Sherman Adams, will fly out from Washington tomorrow to take charge of the temporary White House.

This was announced by Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, at a press conference at which he released a statement declaring that "the President continues to progress satisfactorily without complications."

Adams is the number one assistant to the Chief Executive. Hagerty said Adams would come to Denver tomorrow after sitting in on a Cabinet meeting at the White House.

First Official Work.

After Adam's arrival, Hagerty said, Mr. Eisenhower will put his initials on two lists of personnel asignment shifts for State Department foreign service officers. It will be the first semblance of any official work by the President since he was stricken by a heart attack last Saturday and taken to Fitzsimmons Army Hospital.

Asked if the arrival of Adams means that from here on the Chief Executive will begin to handle routine matters once more, Hagerty replied: "Could be, could be."

Hagerty indicated, too, that barring complications in the condition of the President, there now will be no delegation of Mr. Eisenhower's powers to others.

At the White House, Hagerty said, Adams is top man on the staff and checks the paper work before it is placed before the President. He said that in Denver Adams would "do just what he does in the White House in Washington."

"We want to keep it as normal and routine as we can," the press secretary remarked.

(As for speeding up the President's recovery so that he can get back to work sooner, the United Press quoted Hagerty as saying: "Nobody connected with the White House is going to try to rush anything on this situation."

(He said Mr. Eisenhower knew of the decision by Administration leaders for Adams to come here but that the President did not make the decision. Hagerty would not name the officials who figure in the decision but said they included Vice President Richard M. Nixon.)

The medical bulletin said:

"The President continues to progress satisfactorily without complication. After a comfortable night, the President had breakfast. His temperature is normal, and his blood pressure and pulse are stable and satisfactory.

"His morning cardiogram continues to show the usual evolution.

"The President this morning has been listening to music and he is also being read to for short periods."

First Lt. Loraine P. Knox, an Army nurse, read Mr. Eisenhower excerpts from the current issue of the Readers Digest. The President also listened to four softly-played selections from Bach.

The bulletin was from Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, the President's personal doctor, and Col. Byron E. Pollock, chief heart specialist at Fitzsimons.

The doctors have been saying that rest and sleep are essential to repairing the Chief Executive's damaged heart and putting him on the road to recovery. Thus the some nine hours of sleep last night appeared to be an encouraging sign.

Optimism Develops.

On the basis of a procession of similar bulletins over the past few days, an atmosphere of increasing but still restrained optimism has developed here about the Chief Executive's heart condition.

There still is an inclination here to say that the President probably will turn down any attempt to induce him to try for a second term in the White House. But in Washington, where practical political aspirations may outweigh actual medical considerations, there

RUSSIANS KEEP PROMISE TO FREE 9626 GERMANS

Decree Orders 8887 Released Outright, 749 Others Turned Over to Governments.

MOSCOW, Sept. 29 (AP) — The Soviet Union is keeping its promise to the Germans by releasing 9626 German war prisoners.

The Presidium said the other 749, because of the "special gravity" of their offenses against the Russian people, would be handed over for further disposition to the East or West German governments depending on their original residences.

Premier Bulganin told West German Chancellor Adenauer in their talks here earlier this month that Russia would release the prisoners. This was the principal condition Adenauer fixed for opening diplomatic relations between Moscow and Bonn.

The West Germans claim the Russians have not accounted for 80,000 to 100,000 German prisoners, but Bulganin insisted Soviet records show only 9626. He agreed, however, to make a further check.

The big question in the West has been whether the Russians would give West Germany or Communist East Germany credit for negotiating the prisoners' release. The East Germans claim they began talks on the subject in 1948, and their top officials conferred with Russian leaders immediately after Adenauer returned to Bonn.

The Presidium's decree divided the credit. It said the action was being taken in response to requests by both West and East Germany and because of the long period since the war ended.

Adenauer's announcement that the German prisoners would be freed has never been published here although there has been considerable previous publicity about East German moves to get the captives released.

The Presidium decree gave no indication where the prisoners would be freed, but Berlin was considered the probable point.

WIDOW, 4 SONS IN HOSPITAL WITH NON-PARALYTIC POLIO

TUCKAHOE, N. Y., Sept. 29 (UP)—A widow and four of her five sons are under hospital treatment for non-paralytic polio, it was disclosed yesterday.

Mrs. Anne Dowling, 46 years old, was the last to contract the disease. Her 11-year-old son, Robert, became ill first. Then Roderick, 14, Peter, 16, and Brian, 12, were stricken.

FILLING STATION CAN'T KEEP HELP, ROBBED TOO OFTEN

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 (AP)—When Edward Sczesny took a job at a gasoline station last Friday his employer told him he was replacing a man who quit after being robbed.

"I'll take my chances," said Sczesny. He was on the job five minutes when he was robbed.

"We'll see about this," Sczesny said, and got an automatic pistol.

He was held up Tuesday by two gunmen, who took $51. He emptied his pistol at them as they fled. Police yesterday picked up a man who appeared at a hospital for two minor gunshot wounds.

STOCK MARKET DECLINES AFTER TWO-DAY RECOVERY

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP)—Stock market prices went lower today on profit-taking which followed two days of recovery from the big Monday sell-off. Losses were around $2 a share at the worst while a scattering of key issues advanced around $1.

Volume totaled 2,560,000 shares compared with 3,780,000 shares yesterday, 5,500,000 Tuesday and 7,720,000 on Monday when the Associated Press 60-stock average dropped $11.40 for its biggest decline since Oct. 28, 1929. Today the A. P. average dipped 90 cents to $174.10.

Trading slowed as baseball claimed attention with the second World Series game and prices declined.

Some observers said the back-and-forth action of prices was a normal reaction after two days of sharp recovery and that there appeared to be no strong pressure on the market either way.

FINDS PEARL IN EGG, WANTS TO KNOW HOW IT GOT THERE

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

LIVINGSTON, N.J., Sept. 29—How, Mrs. Raymond Kohl intends to ask the Rutgers University agriculture department, did a pea-sized pearl get into the egg her four-year-old daughter Linda dropped on the floor last week?

When the egg, borrowed from a neighbor, cracked open, the pearl rolled out, Mrs. Kohl said. Four jewelers have pronounced the pearl genuine, she said, but can offer no theories on how it got into the egg. Mrs. Kohl will have the pearl set into a ring for Linda.

NIXON PRESIDES AS SECURITY COUNCIL MEETS

Opens Session With Prayer — Announces Later No 'New Decisions.'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (UP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon presided over a National Security Council meeting today, and said later no "new decisions" were made.

After opening the meeting with a "moment of silent prayer of thanksgiving" for the recovery being made by President Eisenhower, Nixon and Government leaders discussed problems for two and one-half hours. Nixon declined to say whether he had any guidance for the session from Denver, where Mr. Eisenhower is recovering from a heart attack.

Meetings of the council will be held regularly each week, Nixon said, and it will be decided at a Cabinet meeting tomorrow whether it will be necessary for the Cabinet to meet weekly while the President is ill.

Nixon emphasized that neither the Security Council nor the Cabinet is a decision-making body. Their function is to provide advice and consultation for the President.

"No Changes" Now.

"At the present time the policy decisions that have been made—on both foreign and economic policy — are sufficiently clear and well-defined that no changes in these policies, which would of course mean new decisions, are needed or contemplated in the near future," Nixon said.

Public reports never are made on the Security Council meetings, but Nixon indicated the budget and advance work on President Eisenhower's State of the Union message in January were considered today.

Those Present.

Among those present were Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, Mobilization Director Arthur S. Flemming, and other top Government leaders.

The session was the first held

Rawlins, Wyo., Gets Message To Rawlins, Wyo.--Via Hawaii

VAN NUYS, Calif., Sept. 29 (AP)—The accident was near Rawlins, Wyo., but police say the speedy report went by way of Honolulu.

An amateur radio operator in a mobile unit saw the accident on highway 30 about 23 miles west of Rawlins and broadcast an appeal for aid. The message was picked up by another amateur operator in Honolulu, some 2200 miles west of here.

The Honolulu operator relayed the appeal, which was received by a "ham" here and reported to police. Officer Freeman Calvert, who sent a teletype to Rawlins, said the entire transmission took less than 20 minutes — probably quicker than if a witness at the crash scene had driven directly to Rawlins.

DEFENSE COSTS EXCEED BUDGET FIGURE, WILSON TELLS SENATOR

Secretary Says It Will Be Difficult to Reach 34-Billion Goal — Hunt on for Ways to Save.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (UP) — Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson said today that despite the Pentagon's "best efforts" defense spending is running well ahead of the target set by President Eisenhower last January.

Wilson's statement, in a letter to Senator Lyndon B. Johnson (Dem., Tex.), apparently ruled out any likelihood of a further one billion-dollar cut in military spending for the fiscal year ending next June 30. Wilson's views were made public after he attended a 2½-hour National Security Council meeting over by Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The outlook for defense spending cuts and balancing the budget apparently was thoroughly discussed at the meeting which also was attended by Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey.

"In spite of our best efforts," Wilson said, "it now looks as though it would be very difficult to get down to the 34-billion estimate of expenditures made in the President's budget message last January."

34.5 Billion Estimate.

After a "very complete review," he said, the Defense Department now estimates that it will spend $34,500,000,000 this fiscal year although Mr. Eisenhower's January figure is still the goal.

Humphrey has been hoping for an additional billion dollar cut this year as defense's share in the effort to balance the Federal budget. Apparently, Humphrey will have to look elsewhere.

Wilson addressed his letter to Johnson, chairman of the Senate Preparedness Investigating subcommittee, to the Senator's home in Austin, Tex. He was replying to a letter from Johnson Sept. 8 asking a series of questions concerning rumored defense cuts.

Johnson asked whether there were to be cuts from spending levels approved by Congress.

Wilson replied, "no reduction or so-called cuts are contemplated in defense plans and activities" that would put spending below the 34 billions outlined to Congress. Wilson said that there is a constant effort to reduce waste and eliminate extravagance and "some people who resist such economies call them cuts."

No Basic Reappraisal.

Johnson asked whether any cuts would merely reflect a budget-balancing desire or were based on new military appraisals. He asked also how cuts would be applied.

Wilson said that "no such cuts are being contemplated" and there has been no basic reappraisal of defense needs which would indicate "any substantial change" in military programs now.

"Regardless of any rumors to the contrary," Wilson said, "our current plans are entirely consistent . . . with the policies and programs presented to the Eighty-fourth Congress."

By the Associated Press.

The Secretary declared "I know of no one in a responsible position in the executive branch of the Government who advocates cutting the bone and muscle of the nation's defense for any purpose."

Humphrey Insistent.

Earlier, it was reported Secretary Humphrey had urged the defense agency to conduct a "never give up" search for waste, extravagance and duplication in an effort to trim spending.

This, rather than a reduction of military force or equipment levels, was said yesterday to have been Humphrey's suggestion after Wilson decided it was unwise from a military standpoint to cut service spending more than already contemplated.

IOWAN IN RUSSIA TO TAKE ORDERS FOR HYBRID CORN

MOSCOW, Sept. 29 (AP)—An Iowa farmer who is in Russia to sell hybrid seed corn says "this is the best sales set up you ever saw. . . . "We got it and they want it."

Roswell Garst of Coon Rapids, Ia., arrived in Moscow yesterday lugging a big bag of seed samples and an offer to sell the Soviet Union 250,000 to 300,000 bushels of seed corn for Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev's big corn-hog drive. Garst said this would fill about 10 per cent of the Soviet Union's requirements for a planned 50,000,000 acres planted to corn.

The Iowan declined to make public the prices being discussed. He said he expected to meet today with Acting Agriculture Minister Vladimir Matskevich, who headed the recent Soviet farm delegation to the United States. Garst said he plans to leave Friday for Kiev en route to Romania and Hungary and would not stay around haggling.

He said he had cleared the sales trip with both the Agriculture and State Departments in Washington and that the latter had promised him an export license if he makes the sale.

Mr. Truman's First Press Conference as President

MR. TRUMAN WRITES: "At 10:30 A.M. on April 17, 1945, I held my first press and radio conference. It is often helpful for a President to judge, from questions put to him by the reporters, what is going on in the minds of the people. Good reporters are always in close touch with developments and with what the people want to know . . . Questions followed, usually unrelated questions that forced my mind to leap in many directions."

The TRUMAN MEMOIRS

the unfrequented corridors in the Capitol, told my office force that I'd been summoned to the White House and to say nothing about it.

"When I arrived at the Pennsylvania entrance to the most famous house in America, a couple of ushers met me * * * and then took me up to Mrs. Roosevelt's study on the second floor.

"She and Mrs. Boettiger, her daughter and her husband, the Lt. Col., and Steve Early were there. Mrs. Roosevelt put her arm on my shoulder and said, 'Harry, the President is dead.'

"It was the only time in my life, I think, that I ever felt as if I'd had a real shock. I had hurried to the White House to see the President, and when I arrived, I found I was the President. No one in the history of our country had it happen to him just that way.

"We waited for Bess and Margaret to arrive. We then had to scurry around and find a Bible for me to put my hand upon to take the oath. They finally found one. If I'd known what was afoot, I'd have used Grandpa Truman's Bible, which was in my office bookcase.

"This afternoon we moved to this house, diagonally across the street (Penn. Ave.) from the White House, until the Roosevelts have had time to move out of the White House. We tried staying at the apartment, but it wouldn't work. I can't move without at least ten Secret Service men and twenty policemen. People who lived in our apartment couldn't get in and out without a pass. So—we moved out with suitcases. Our furniture is still there and will be for some time. . . . But I've paid the rent for this month and will pay for another month if they don't get the old White House redecorated by that time.

"My greatest trial was today when I addressed the Congress. It seemed to go over all right, from the ovation I received. Things have gone so well that I'm almost as scared as I was Thursday when Mrs. R. told me what had happened. Maybe it will come out all right.

"Soon as we got settled in the White House you'll both be here to visit us. Lots of love from your very much worried son and bro.

"Harry."

I wrote Mamma often, and regularly each weekend would telephone her and sister Mary, who lived with her. I was deeply devoted to her, and we were very close. She was a wonderful mother. At ninety-two, she was still keen and alert and saw things in their true perspective, even at a time like this. When asked by a press representative at her home in Grandview, Missouri, to comment on how she felt about her son being President, she said, "I can't really be glad he is President, because I'm sorry that President Roosevelt is dead. If he had been voted in, I'd be out waving a flag, but it doesn't seem right to be very happy or wave a flag now."

The Trumans Move Into Blair House.

We were settled in Blair House now, at least for a time. We took up residence there with some trepidation. This had nothing to do with politics. I suppose that the demands of protocol and the many things that had to do with officialdom made us uneasy about our prospects for a reasonable family life.

Mrs. Truman had been happy as the wife of a Senator, and had fallen in love with Washington. She had many friends among Congressional wives and others in official and private life. She knew, however, that these relationships would probably change now that she was the First Lady of the Land. She was entirely conscious of the importance and dignity of White House life. She was not especially interested, however, in the formalities and pomp, or the artificiality which, as we had learned from our years in Washington, inevitably surround the family of a President. In this connection, we had our daughter Margaret to think of, a school girl who wanted and needed friends. Would she now be isolated from all the normal relationships that are so important in the lives of youngsters?

Mr. Truman's First Press Conference.

At 10:30 a.m. on April 17, 1945, I held my first press and radio conference.

It is often helpful for a President to judge, from questions put to him by the reporters, what is going on in the minds of the people. Good reporters are always in close touch with developments and with what the people want to know. I have always made a sharp distinction between the working reporter and the editor or publisher. I always got along well with the reporters. They try to do an honest job of reporting the facts. But many of their bosses—the editors and publishers—have their own special interests, and the news is often slanted to serve those interests which, unfortunately, are not always for the benefit of the public as a whole.

Important as I knew the White House press conferences to be, I felt compelled to announce that I would cut them to one a week. I did this so as to be able to devote more of my time to the heavy load of business my office had to handle. I needed time to keep up with the mounting developments on the homefront and elsewhere in the world. I decided also to continue the practice established by my predecessor of barring direct quotation of my replies and comments while permitting indirect quotation. The idea of a press conference is to find out what the President thinks about pending matters, but it must be obvious that he should not be quoted directly on every question. That could often change an answer from an expression of opinion to a final commitment. This would serve no useful purpose, for in order to avoid commitment on matters still pending, the President would be reluctant to answer or even to suggest a clue that might reveal his line of thought.

Answers to Reporter's Questions.

At the time my first press conference was held I had been President less than five days. It was the first opportunity the reporters and White House correspondents had to question me.

I told them I favored the international monetary program that had been sent to Congress by President Roosevelt, and that I favored the Reciprocal Trade Agreements program as well.

I was asked what I thought of the proposed Missouri Valley Authority, and I referred my questioner to a speech I had given on the subject. I was asked how I stood on the Fair Employment Practices Act, the right to vote without being hampered by poll taxes and other matters that were of especial interest to Negroes, and I referred my questioner to my Senate record.

"Mr. President," I was asked, "is there any possibility that you will go to the United Nations Conference at San Francisco near the end?"

"There is not," I answered.

"Will you send a message, Mr. President, to the San Francisco Conference?" To which I replied, "I shall probably welcome the delegates by an opening statement, when they arrive for their first meeting."

"Do you expect to see Mr. Molotov," I was asked, "before he goes to San Francisco?"

"Yes," I replied. "He is going to stop by and pay his respects to the President of the United States. He should."

"Mr. President, do you have a desire, as soon as possible, to meet the other Allied leaders—Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill?"

"I should be very happy to meet them," I said, "and General Chiang Kai-shek also. And General de Gaulle; if he wants to see me I will be glad to see him. I would like to meet all of the Allied heads of governments."

Mind Forced to Jump in Many Directions.

Other questions followed, usually unrelated questions that forced my mind to leap in many directions.

Would Mrs. Truman have a press conference?

Did I intend to lift the ban on horse racing?

What were my views on the disposal of synthetic rubber plants?

What about my Cabinet?

What about the rumor that Stalin had reached an agreement with the "new Polish government approved by the United States and Great Britain"?

Some of these I refused to discuss. Some I answered. Some I merely put off to a more appropriate time. And finally I heard the signal that always ends these conferences: "Thank you, Mr. President."

Visit to the White House Map Room.

A few hours after my first press conference was held, I went for the first time to the super-secret Map Room in the White House. Very few of the White House staff had access to this carefully guarded room, and very little was ever said about it. I had first learned that it existed after I became Vice President.

The Map Room was planned by President Roosevelt and was located on the ground floor of the White House directly across the hallway from the elevator. Every morning Roosevelt would come down in the elevator from his living quarters and go to this closely guarded room.

It was lined with a map of the world and maps on larger scales of Europe and Asia, on which were outlined the locations of all major military forces in the world. Detailed maps showed the battle lines everywhere and from the center of the room it was possible to see at a glance the whole military situation. It was an immensely important intelligence center.

By a special communications system and by means of special devices set up in this room Churchill and I were able to telephone each other in complete security. These conversations were transcribed and kept as part of the diplomatic record for future reference.

It was ten o'clock that night—the sixth evening since I had become President—that I addressed our armed forces throughout the world.

"All of us have lost a great leader, a farsighted statesman, and a real friend of democracy," I told them over the radio. "I have done as you do in the field, when the commander falls. My duties and responsibilities are clear. I have assumed them. Those duties will be carried on in keeping with our American tradition. . . . As a veteran of the First World War I have seen death on the battlefield. . . . I know the strain, the mud, the misery, the utter weariness of the soldier in the field. And I know, too, his courage, his stamina, and his faith in his comrades, his country and himself. We are depending upon each and every one of you."

Israeli Premier Confers With Soviet, Czech Diplomats.

JERUSALEM, Sept. 29 (UP) —Israeli Premier Moshe Sharett summoned the Soviet and Czech charge d'affaires to a conference here today to discuss the arms deal between the two Communist nations and Egypt.

Sources said Sharett will ask the Soviet representative to reconcile the recent Moscow denial of an arms deal with Cairo with the announcement that Egypt had agreed to trade cotton for arms from Czechoslovakia.

The Israeli Premier met for two hours yesterday with United States Ambassador Edward B. Lawson to discuss the arms question. Informed sources said Sharett asked Lawson for assurances that the United States would not initiate an arms race between Egypt and Israel. Sharett also told Lawson that Israel hoped the United States would not compete with any other powers in providing arms.

In Cairo, Abdel Khalek Hassouna, secretary general of the Arab League, said Egypt's arms deal with Czechoslovakia was the proper way to lay the foundations of freedom for the Arab world.

He said the "agreement pointed the way to the Arabs to know who are their friends and who are their enemies" and "it also pointed the way to the Western powers to know they cannot bargain with the Arabs over their freedom."

FPC STANDS ON LICENSE ISSUED TO IDAHO POWER

Refuses to Reconsider Approval for 3 Dams to Be Built in Hell's Canyon.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP) —The Federal Power Commission refused today to reconsider its issuance of a license to Idaho Power Co. to build three dams in the Hell's Canyon stretch of the Snake river.

The commission's action was unanimous.

A request for a rehearing was filed early this month by the National Hells Canyon Association, eight public utility districts in Washington state and the National Rural Electric Co-operative Association.

Each had opposed the Idaho application and supported construction of a high Hell's Canyon dam by the Federal Government.

The commission also denied a request by the three groups that the license to Idaho Power be held up until the conclusion of appeal proceedings.

The commission said the request for rehearing had presented no new facts or principles of law "which either were not fully considered by the commision before it entered the the order issued Aug. 4, 1955, or having now been considered, warrant rehearing, revision or modification of aforesaid order."

On Aug. 4, the FPC unanimously authorized the company to build three dams to develop a stretch of the river along the Idaho-Oregon boundary and extending about 100 miles downstream from Weiser, Idaho.

TRIAL OF CHURCHILL NEPHEW ON DRUNK CHARGE POSTPONED

LONDON, Sept. 29 (AP)—The trial of Sir Winston Churchill's artist nephew and his wife on charges of being drunk and disorderly was postponed today until Oct. 6.

The defendant, 50-year-old John Churchill, is also a brother of Prime Minister Eden's wife. Mr. and Mrs. Churchill pleaded not guilty at a hearing three weeks ago and were released on bail of 10 pounds ($28).

KATHARINE CORNELL HAS LUNG ABSCESS OPERATION

BOSTON, Sept. 29 (UP) — Stage actress Katharine Cornell underwent lung surgery at New England Deaconess Hospital today and her condition was described as "satisfactory."

Dr. Richard H. Overholt, a thoracic surgeon, who performed the operation, said Miss Cornell was suffering from bronchiectasis, a serious chronic lung abscess.

The hospital said Miss Cornell would be able to fulfill a planned tour in November.

Kremlin Reported Marking Time On Deals Till President Recovers

Western Diplomat Says Soviet Chiefs Trust Eisenhower, but Not Nixon, Will Go Slow on Commitments.

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON, Sept. 29 (AP)—A highly placed Western diplomat said today that Soviet leaders are so deeply concerned over President Eisenhower's illness that they have decided to go slow in dealing with the West.

The diplomat said Kremlin leaders told him in Moscow they do not want to make any long-term foreign policy commitments until they learn when and whether Mr. Eisenhower will return to active leadership of the United States.

The Russians, he said, are especially suspicious of Vice President Richard Nixon.

The diplomat, who asked that his name not be used, is visiting Western Europe on leave from his post in a foreign embassy in the Soviet capital.

Eisenhower Esteemed.

"President Eisenhower," he said, "is very highly regarded by such men as Bulganin, Khrushchev and Molotov. In my talks with them since Stalin's death they refer to him as the same sort of friend they had in Franklin D. Roosevelt."

"Eisenhower made a tremendous impression on Khrushchev and Bulganin at Geneva," said the diplomat. "They told me and they told Dr. Adenauer (Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of the West German government) that Eisenhower is a sincere man who wants peace."

The diplomat said the Kremlin leaders are worried lest President Eisenhower's illness lead to an East-West situation similar to the one that developed when Harry Truman succeeded Roosevelt at the end of the war in Europe.

Worried Over Successor.

"They are afraid," he said, "that Eisenhower may step down from the leadership and somebody else take over—somebody they neither know nor trust."

The diplomat said that in the nearly 10 years in which he has been intimately associated with Soviet foreign policy, he remembers no time when the men in the Kremlin were more anxious over the health of a Western leader.

The Kremlin allowed Roosevelt to be built up in the eyes of the Russian people as a sincere man and a friend of Russia, and they've also allowed their people to regard President Eisenhower as a great American leader.

"Now," said the diplomat, "they don't know what to do and until they know more about the President's recovery and his plans, I don't believe they will do very much of anything that will tie them up for any long period."

MOVE TO CLARIFY VICE PRESIDENT'S POWERS PLANNED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (UP) Representative Peter Frelinghuysen Jr. (Rep.), New Jersey, will press next session for a constitutional amendment to clarify the powers and responsibilities of the Vice President. President Eisenhower's illness points up the need for such an amendment, he said yesterday.

Frelinghuysen noted that the Constitution provides that the Vice President shall take over the powers and duties of the President upon the death or disability of the Chief Executive. But he said it establishes no procedure for determining when the President is unable to discharge his duties.

He said his proposed amendment may suggest that the Supreme Court be assigned the duty of detrmining when a President is unable to perform his duties and when he can resume his duties.

A constitutional amendment must be passed by two thirds of the House and Senate and ratified by 36 of the 48 states.

PRAVDA CHARGES BIG 3 EFFORT TO UPSET MEETING

MOSCOW, Sept. 29 (AP)— Pravda charged today the western Big Three Foreign Ministers have been holding secret talks in New York aimed at upsetting directives for their October meeting in Geneva with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

The Soviet army newspaper, Red Star, at the same time asserted that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization military maneuvers this year showed "again without doubt that the maneuvers and training of NATO armed forces are being conducted with the aim of preparing troops for fighting action against the Soviet Union and countries of the people's democracies."

The charge of diplomatic maneuvering was made in an article by the New York correspondent of Pravda, the Communist party newspaper.

The article claimed public opinion in the West is condemning the British, French and United States Foreign Ministers' meeting in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel this week.

JET TROUBLES DATE TO TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION, THOMAS SAYS

New Navy Procurement Procedures in Effect to Correct Situation, Secretary Says — Comment by Wilson.

By DAVID R. WALLIN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29—Procurement procedures dating back to the Truman Administration were blamed by Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas today for "difficulties" the Navy has had with a Westinghouse engine for the F3H-1 jet fighter, the "Demon."

Those difficulties have included a series of crashes and emergency landings, and the grounding of 50 "Demons" at St. Louis, where they were produced by McDonnell Aircraft Corp.

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson said at his press conference this afternoon, "I don't hold anyone responsible," when asked if he placed the blame on anyone in his department.

"When you prepare for war it is a wasteful thing," Wilson said. "This (difficulty with Navy planes) was due to a combination of things and it didn't turn out well. That is a risk you always take when you rush something into production right off the drawing board."

Asked why the Navy continued to accept the planes in question after a series of difficulties with them, he replied: "I suppose hope springs eternal in the human breast. They hoped to salvage the things. They did reduce their commitment . . . These planes would have been better than nothing if we had needed them."

Senator Lyndon Johnson, chairman of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, said two or three investigators were being sent to St. Louis tonight to investigate the jet plane situation at McDonnell Aircraft Corp. Senator Johnson said the investigators were being sent at the request of Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri.

Thomas's statement follows:

"Difficulties with the F3H-1 (a McDonnell aircraft) stem from aircraft produced under letters of intent let four years ago, or in October 1951, and converted to a formal contract in August 1952. These letters of intent and the contract were let under procurement procedures now considered inadequate.

"From the time the deficiencies became apparent in this aircraft-engine combination the Navy has made a great effort to correct the deficiencies and also to utilize the aircraft already produced to the best advantage possible.

"Approximately two and one-half years ago new procurement procedures were developed and have since been put into effect, which should prevent a recurrence of such a situation.

"A subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee was given detailed information relative to this contract last March, and full information will be made available to any additional congressional committee requesting it."

In previous statements the Navy has said the first "Demon" was not flown until December 1953, and that aircraft of that type were accepted as late as last June. By spring of 1954 there had been a number of flight failures, ascribed primarily to engine trouble.

CONTRACT OFF FOR LACK OF ENGINES

A $70,000,000 Navy plane contract with Chance Vought Aircraft Corp. of Dallas was canceled because Westinghouse Electric Corp. failed to supply jet engines for the planes, the Post-Dispatch was told today.

The contract called for production of 96 of the A2U-1, a twin-jet attack plane to be used on aircraft carriers. It was to be a later version of the F7U-E "Cutlass," which Chance Vought is producing for the Navy with Westinghouse J-46 engines.

The Navy found it necessary to cancel the program because the "development and supply" of engines was 'unacceptably late" and no suitable alternates were available, a Chance Vought spokesman said.

Trouble Conceded.

Westinghouse has conceded that it had "an ungodly amount of trouble" with both the J-46 and the J-40 engines, produced at Kansas City, and suffered a heavy loss of profits because of contract cancellations.

Grounding of the 50 "Demons," equipped with J-40 engines, has led to a congressional inquiry into the Navy's handling of its jet procurement program.

No "Cutlasses" have been grounded because of engine deficiency, a Chance Vought spokesman told the Post-Dispatch by telephone, and J-46s are still being used in them. That model has been in production since 1953, but it is to be "phased out," probably next year, to make way for a later one.

The successor, the F8U-1 "Crusader," is to have Pratt & Whitney engines, the spokesman said.

The A2U-1 contract was canceled last November.

Preliminary Conference.

Two staff investigators of the House Military Operations subcommittee had a preliminary conference with Navy officials in Washington yesterday, to become familiar with basic information, and are scheduled to return tomorrow for an analysis of more detailed data the Navy is to have for them then.

The investigators talked with Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas, Under Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr., and officers of the bureau of aeronautics.

After tomorrow, it is understood, they are to talk with Representative Chet Holifield (Dem.), California, subcommittee chairman, and tell him what they have found. Then it is to be decided whether a more complete inquiry should be made and whether hearings should be scheduled.

G.O.P. WOMEN BEGIN SURVEY, CITY PASSED UP

Republican women today began a national doorbell-ringing survey to find out what voters in the United States are thinking about leading issues of the day—but apparently the opinions of St. Louis voters are being overlooked.

Miss Ann Richards of Brookfield, vice chairman of the Republican State Committee, said she had mailed instructions to the vice chairmen of local G.O.P. committees in St. Louis and in each Missouri county on how to make the canvass in a "border-line" precinct in their district.

She sent the instructions to Mrs. Florence Raeder, vice chairman of the Republican City Committee in St. Louis, and assumed she is making the survey here. But a check disclosed that Mrs. Raeder is in Europe, and has been there for several months. Others connected with the St. Louis G.O.P. city committee said they knew nothing of the survey.

In St. Louis county, Mrs. Ollie Ochs of University City, vice chairman of the county G.O.P. committee, reported a survey was started today in a precinct in Hadley Township. She declined to say which precinct it was, explaining that she did not want the residents to expect an interview. The survey, a national Republican party project, is scheduled to be completed by Oct. 12.

CHICAGO BANKER NAMED CONSULTANT TO DULLES

WASHINGTON, Sept 29 (UP)—Herbert V. Prochow, Chicago banker, has been appointed special consultant to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, the State Department announced today.

Prochnow will leave tonight on a Far Eastern inspection trip with Under Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. and John B. Hollister, director of the International Co-operation Administration.

PILOT USES HEAD TO RUN CAMERA WITHOUT HANDS

Pilot Gerald Huelsbeck, whose job is testing jet planes for McDonnell Aircraft Corp., has worked out a novel scheme for making pictures on test flights without the necessity of taking his hands off the controls.

Huelsbeck, who flew 54 combat missions as a Navy pilot in Korea, explained he did not enjoy his work when he took pictures while his hands were away from the controls of his plane. To overcome this situation he rigged a modified gun camera weighing slightly more than one pound to the side of his helmet. The camera, which is five inches long and three inches thick, is electrically operated. To take a picture, Huelsbeck turns his head toward the subject to be recorded, usually another plane that is being tested, and makes a 50-foot movie.

There have been no complaints, Huelsbeck said, about the pictures he has taken with the unusual camera arrangement. He compensates for the weight of the camera by attaching lead weights to the opposite side of his crash helmet. "It's using your head that counts," the 27-year-old flyer remarked.

SKUNK LEAVES BREEZEWAY HOME, POLICE FIND IT

Ferguson police went on a skunk hunt last night and after an hour of searching found their skunk. That made everybody happy, including the skunk, Petunia, which lives in a breezeway.

Mrs. J. K. Dean, 211 South Park avenue, reported Petunia missing from the breezeway shortly after her husband left to attend a night school class at Washington University.

Officers, heartened by the news Petunia was deodorized, joined Mrs. Dean and neighbors in a search of the neighborhood. They found domesticated Petunia sitting in a driveway looking longingly at a neighbor's breezeway.

RIFLE FIRES ACCIDENTALLY, MAN WOUNDED IN HEAD

Emil Grothe, 312 Lawrence street, St. Charles, was seriously wounded yesterday when he was struck by a bullet accidentally discharged from his .22-caliber rifle.

The St. Charles county sheriff's office reported Grothe was hunting frogs on a farm near St. Paul, Mo., when he stopped to talk to his uncle, Frank Griesbauer. He placed the loaded rifle against the wheel of Griesbauer's wagon and it was discharged when it fell to the ground.

PLANS DISCLOSED FOR EXPRESSWAY AROUND ST. LOUIS

Belt Highway to Be Part of National System, Financed With U.S. Assistance.

A new belt highway to carry through traffic around St. Louis and East St. Louis will be part of the national syste mof interstate routes, the Federal Bureau of Public Roads announced today.

The artery, a high-speed expressway, will be financed partly by federal aid to Missouri and Illinois, with construction handled by the states' highway departments. When work will begin and the pace of construction will depend on Congress.

If federal assistance for improvement of the national system of interstate highways is continued at the present rate of $175,000,000 a year, it may be 10 years or more before the belt highway is built. However, there has been strong pressure for expanding and accelerating federal aid.

The bond issue program planned for submission to the voters of St. Louis county Nov. 22, includes $1,937,500 to defray the county's share of the cost of an outer belt expressway. This artery will be a portion of the new highway now designated for inclusion in the national network.

Route Subject to Change.

Route of the belt highway has been mapped only in a general way, and is subject to change.

As now projected, it will begin on the Missouri side of the Chain of Rocks Bridge and follow U.S. Highway 66-Bypass 40 to an intersection with Lindbergh boulevard just north of Lambert-St. Louis Field. The belt highway here will be immediately south of Highway 66 but a separate road. The present highway will be used as a service road—that is, a road for local traffic offering full access at every intersection.

The belt highway, on the other hand, will be a limited-access artery with interchanges for traffic to enter or leave the expressway only at such important crossings as Bellefontaine road, Highway 67 and Florissant road.

From Lindbergh, the new highway probably will proceed due west for a distance before swinging south. Crossing the Mark Twain Expressway, where there will be an interchange, it will cut through St. Louis county on a north-south line in the vicinity of Ballas road.

After crossing the Boone Expressway near the state highway patrol station and the Ozark Expressway between Lindbergh and the Meramec river, the artery will proceed to a connection with the Jefferson Barracks bridge.

Route in Illinois.

On the Illinois side, starting at Chain of Rocks, the belt highway will go directly east to a point southeast of Edwardsville, where it will connect with a new highway being built as an extension of Highway 66 from Chicago. Executing a loop, it will pass north of Mounds State Park, cut through Grand Marais Park, skirt Dupo and lead to the Jefferson Barracks Bridge.

The original interstate network took in 37,700 miles of roads. Authorized by Congress to expand this system to 40,000 miles, the Bureau of Roads is now designating new routes into, through and around 102 urban areas.

In Missouri, Kansas City and St. Joseph are to get new highways in this expansion.

KROGER STRIKE CONTINUES AFTER NEW PARLEY FAILS

The strike of AFL maintenance men against the Kroger Co. continued today after an unsuccessful conference of union and company representatives with United States Conciliator M. K. Sheehan.

At the conclusion of the two-hour session, at the Old Federal Building, Sheehan said both sides had been asked to reconsider the situation. Another negotiating session will be called within a "reasonable time," Sheehan added.

LIGHT TURNOUT FORECAST IN TUESDAY'S VOTE

School Financing Proposals Have Not Been Objects of Vigorous Campaign.

A light vote is expected in St. Louis and elsewhere in Missouri in next Tuesday's special state election, in which two public school referendum proposals will be up for approval or rejection by voters.

One proposal is the so-called school "foundation" plan to establish a new system of distributing state aid to public schools. The other proposes a state cigarette tax of 2 cents a package to help finance the foundation program.

Joseph P. Uxa, chief clerk of the St. Louis Election Board, estimated the St. Louis turnout would be about 75,000, or only 22 per cent of the city's 336,878 registration.

'Anybody's Guess' in County.

C. M. O'Sullivan, chief clerk of the St. Louis County Election Board, reported that 220,000 county residents are eligible to vote next Tuesday, but declined to make an estimate of the expected vote there. "It is anybody's guess," he said.

In Jefferson City, Will Davis, chief clerk in the Secretary of State's office, said he thought the total vote in the state would not reach more than 675,000. This would be less than a fourth of the estimated 2,750,000 eligible voters in Missouri.

The forecasts for a light vote were based largely on the fact that neither sponsors nor opponents of the referendum proposals have conducted a vigorous state-wide campaign.

School and teacher organizations, parent groups and civic organizations backing both proposals have conducted their campaigns largely within their own membership.

There has been no organized opposition to the foundation measure, but the state CIO and AFL organizations and tobacco distributors are opposing adoption of the cigarette tax proposal.

No candidates.

This is the first state-wide referendum election, without political candidates, to be held since April 4, 1950, when the voters defeated overwhelmingly a measure backed by former Gov. Forrest Smith to increase the state gasoline tax from 2 to 4 cents a gallon.

A total of 707,000 ballots was cast in that election, following vigorous campaigns by both sides. The total St. Louis vote in that election was 141,231, or 36.6 per cent of the registration. The St. Louis county turnout was 78,660, or 53.6 per cent of the registration.

It is estimated it will cost $63,000,000 to $64,000,000 a year, at the start, to finance the new school foundation program in full. This is about $11,000,000 more than the amount the schools are expected to receive under their present appropriation. The cigarette tax, if approved, would raise an estimated $9,000,000 a year, all of which would go to the schools.

The cigarette tax will be listed on the special election ballot as Referendum Measure No. 1. The school foundation measure will be Referendum Measure No. 2. Each proposal will become effective if approved by a majority of those voting on it.

Precinct polling places in St. Louis and St. Louis County will be open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. next Tuesday.

City Planning Big Expansion In Industrial and Play Areas

Plant Space Would Be Increased From 21 to 26 Pct., Recreational From 9 to 14 Pct.

A big expansion in the city's acreage for industrial and recreational purposes is contemplated in a land use plan being drawn up as a guide for the development of St. Louis, the City Plan Commission disclosed last night.

Industry at present occupies 21 per cent of the land in the city. Acreage designated for industrial use would be stepped up to 26 per cent—an expansion of almost one-fourth—if the plan is adopted. Most of this increase would be provided by land now vacant.

Open recreational areas would be expanded from 9 per cent of the total area to 14 per cent, involving demolition of some buildings.

The plan is still in the formative stage. Details are to be made public for citizen review before the end of the year. At least one public hearing is to be held, and after getting the reaction of the public, the commission will consider adoption of the land use guide as part of the official city plan.

Used in Zoning Changes.

The guide would be used in processing applications for zoning changes, mapping new subdivisions, formulating plans for urban redevelopment projects and other phases of city development.

In general it is proposed to follow the present trends in land use. Areas marked for residential use now comprise 45 per cent of the land in the city, and the percentage would be unchanged in the proposed plan. Commerce, which now utilizes 5 per cent of the developed land, would continue at the same ratio.

The guide under consideration would divide the city's residential areas into 16 "communities" designed to accommodate a maximum population of 40,000 to 80,000. Ideally, each community would have at least one major shopping center, high school, community center, park, playing field and branch library.

Each of the 16 communities would be divided into five or 10 planning units of maximum population in the 5000-to-8000 range. Planners believe each unit should have an elementary school, park, playground and shopping area.

Intermixture of homes and industrial buildings is a major cause of blight. The proposed plan would seek to maintain a sharp line between living and working areas.

The emphasis in areas marked for residential use would be on safe streets and elimination of noise, dirt and outside interference. In districts designated for industrial development, the obvious needs are streets capable of accommodating heavy traffic, extensive utilities and specialized police and fire protection.

Only 11 per cent of the city area is undeveloped. A map showing the location and zoning classification of all vacant tracts of three acres or more has been prepared by the Plan Commission and is revised annually as a public service. There are now 110 such tracts comprising 1875 acres, as compared to 111 tracts covering 2084 acres a year ago.

Copies of the newly revised map may be obtained at nominal charge at the Plan Commission office on the third floor of the Civil Courts Building.

The Plan Commission urged that the overpass to carry the Daniel Boone Expressway across Vandeventer avenue between Boyle and Spring avenues be six lanes wide. The State Highway Commission has expressed the opinion that a four-lane structure would suffice, although the rest of the expressway is to be six lanes.

CHARGE AGAINST LEO F. HAVEY IS DISMISSED

Conviction on Racketeering Indictment Unlikely, U.S. Attorney Tells Judge.

An indictment charging Leo F. Havey, business representative of Local 1, AFL Bricklayers' International Union, with violating the federal anti-racketeering law, was dismissed today by United States District Judge George H. Moore.

The dismissal was requested by United States Attorney Harry Richards, who said he did not believe the Government could obtain a conviction. He said the Department of Justice had authorized him to take the action.

Later, Richards told reporters his office had made an exhaustive investigation of the Havey charges. No pay-off was involved, he said, and there was only one government witness to substantiate most of the allegations.

Havey, prominent in civic and political affairs here, was charged with feloniously threatening physical violence to Gordon Gill, officer of a masonry contracting firm, and also with threatening violence to the firm, the Rowley-Berst Corp., of Cincinnati, O.

The alleged threats, the indictment said, were made in furtherance of a plan to obtain property rights of the contractor in obstruction of interstate commerce. In a second count Havey was charged with conspiring with Clyde W. Martini and George Freml to obtain the contractor's property rights.

The incidents on which the indictment was based were alleged to have occurred in 1951 while the Rowley-Berst Company had a contract to construct buildings at the Jefferson Barracks Veterans Hospital.

An earlier indictment of Havey on a similar charge was dismissed by Judge Moore on technical grounds.

Havey was one of more than 50 persons indicted in Missouri and Illinois in a federal investigation of labor racketeering which followed an inquiry by the Post-Dispatch in 1951. Twenty-four of those indicted have been convicted.

Two White Men Defy 'Invitation' To Move Out of Mississippi Area

Accused of Having Race Integration Views That Might Provoke Another 'Emmett Till Case.'

TCHULA, Miss., Sept. 29 (UP) —Two white men accused of having racial views that might provoke another "Emmett Till wolf whistle case" today defied an "invitation" from their neighbors to move away.

A crowd of 700 white men and women jammed a high school gymnasium Tuesday night and adopted a resolution expressing the community's "opinion" that Dr. D. R. Minter and A. E. Cox, co-operative farm manager, should move from this heavily Negro-populated farming area.

"We don't want a Sumner here," State Representative-elect J. T. Love said in a reference to the Emmett Till murder trial at Sumner, Miss., last week.

Minter and Cox said they had made no move to comply with the suggestion. They said they had not received any threat.

The meeting was called to discuss reports that the men favored racial mingling and that "certain strange racial relations" were practiced at Providence Farm's, Cox's 2700-acre co-operative plantation near here.

The crowd heard a tape recording of a statement made by a Negro boy who was arrested last week and charged with making obscene remarks to a white woman. The recording said that Negroes and whites "went swimming" together on the farm and that Minter and Cox preached racial mingling.

Love, who presided at the meeting, pointed out a parallel to the case of Emmett Till, 14-year-old Chicago Negro who was kidnaped and murdered after he was alleged to have insulted a white woman at Money, Miss., with a wolf whistle.

Two white men were acquitted of murder in the Sumner trial but now are held at Greenwood on a charge of kidnaping the boy.

Minter and Cox, who said they attended the Mass Meeting voluntarily, immediately denied the statements made in the tape recording.

Love said it was rumored that Negroes and whites "sat together" at meetings on the farm and at a private school. It was because of these reports of "integrated practices" that the meeting was called, Love said.

"We wanted to go on record as disapproving the conditions," he added. "Nobody was ordered to get out of the country and everybody left in a good humor."

Minter said there "has been no mixed swimming to my knowledge."

Minter, a physician with a private practice, said he devotes a good deal of his time to helping persons of low economic status. He indicated he feared publicity resulting from the incident might harm his "work."

Neither he nor Cox have "immediate plans" to leave the co-operative, on which four white families and two Negro families live, Minter said.

"I have nothing to hide or to be ashamed of," he said.

ADAMS FLYING OFFICIAL PAPERS TO EISENHOWER

was a surge of hope today that the President still might head the Republican ticket in the 1956 election.

Representative Oliver P. Bolton (Rep.), Ohio, recently recovered from a heart attack himself, wrote Mr. Eisenhower he was looking forward to "next fall with you again at the head of our team."

Bolton said all the President had to do is take a good rest and then "live rationally and calmly" with his job.

Concentrating on Recovery.

At the temporary White House here there is little tendency to look beyond the immediate future and concentrate on giving the President every opportunity to get well again.

Hagerty said that Mr. Eisenhower has suffered no pain since Tuesday, that he no longer is running a temperature, that his morale is high, appearance good and there is no feeling of depression.

For 13 hours yesterday there was no need of an oxygen tent for the Chief Executive. At times he listened to recorded music.

None of the heart specialists here or on call across the country is discounting the possibility of a relapse or even another attack. None will say, at this point, that the President is out of danger, "over the hump," or even that he is improving definitely and steadily.

Reacting Normally.

But for five consecutive days, they say, he has been reacting normally and "without complications" to a type of heart attack from which the large majority of victims eventually recovers.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, the Boston heart expert who was flown in Sunday to examine the President, says that complications can come any time in the first two weeks after a heart seizure. That is the period in which an afflicted heart is disearding damaged muscle tissue and forming a scar.

"For the first two weeks," White says, "we keep our fingers crossed."

Mr. Eisenhower still has more than eight days to go on that critical two weeks' period. His "moderate" coronary thrombosis—a blood clot in a heart artery—occurred in the early morning hours last Saturday.

Some of the bulletins from the presidential bedside at Fitzsimons mention satisfactory "progress." Others speak only of a satisfactory "condition." Until this morning they'd included the phrase "without complications."

Hagerty disavowed any significance in the use of "progress" in all of Tuesday's bulletins and the first of four yesterday, then a shift to "condition." He said it merely represented an effort to vary the wording.

He told a press conference last night that "of course" the President's progress still was satisfactory.

In Boston, Dr. White said last night that the latest report on Mr. Eisenhower was "good" and the return of the President's blood pressure "toward its usual level" was a "particularly good sign."

1600 Calories a Day.

Hagerty disclosed that Mr. Eisenhower is being held to 1600 calories of food a day because the doctors are "trying to keep him from putting on too much weight while he is inactive and lying in bed." Lately, Mr. Eisenhower has weighed around 175 to 180 pounds—slightly above the 172 pounds of his cadet days at West Point.

White, who is kept informed constantly of the President's condition, said that "we want to take a pound or two off." He said the Chief Executive "has a hearty appetite and we'll have to restrain it."

Fo rthe first time since he went to the hospital, Mr. Eisenhower rested and napped yesterday outside the oxygen tent. The tent was removed, and taken from the hospital room, at 6:30 a.m. Last night's medical bulletin—No. 20 in a series—said at 9:15 p.m.:

"The President spent a comfortable day without complications.

"He returned to the oxygen tent at 7:30 p.m. this evening. The use of the oxygen tent is a routine measure to assure rest for the President for the night."

(The United Press said that meantime, the President received a new motorized hospital bed for use later in his recovery. The new type bed, designed especially for heart patients, and equipped with an electric motor for raising or lowering the mattress and springs, was shipped by train from Chicago and delivered to Fitzsimons this morning. Hagerty said he did not know how soon the doctors will transfer the President to the new and more comfortable bed.)

Has Lunch With Wife.

Mrs. Eisenhower, who has remained at the hospital since Saturday night, sav her husband yesterday morning, lunched with him at noon, and spent 10 or 15 minutes with him around 7 p.m.

At the President's request, a tape recorder now is beside his bed and he can listen to music or recordings of western and mystery stories — as well as Shakespeare. The presidential liking for westerns and whodunits is well known.

But it came to light yesterday that he also wanted some Shakespeare, and Bach and Brahms along with lighter symphonic music, to help while away the hours.

So far he has asked for nothing to read — perhaps in the knowledge that it would be denied him in any event.

So far, too, aids have made no effort to discuss any official business with him. Yet the feeling is growing here that within another month the Chief Executive once more may be able to start picking up the reins of government.

That doesn't mean that Mr. Eisenhower might get back to the White House and start operating on a business-as-usual basis by then. Rather there is a feeling that, as Dr. White has suggested, he might be able to fly back to his country home outside Gettysburg, Pa., consult occasionally with top Administration officials and resume at least part of the burden of making necessary decisions.

Expected to Complete Term.

As some presidential friends see things, Mr. Eisenhower now will want to complete his present term, then retire at Gettysburg as an "elder statesman."

The President will be 65 Oct. 14.

No appointments of any kind are being made for the President this week or next. But Dr. White has said it might be possible for Mr. Eisenhower to have some limited conferences at the end of two weeks, barring unforeseen developments, go to Gettysburg at the end of a month, and look forward to "reasonably good" prospects of complete recovery within two months.

In spite of that forecast, the army of reporters at the temporary White House continues to increase. Reporters maintain an around-the-clock alert snatching cat naps on Army cots, glancing now and then at the World Series on television, and grinding out thousands of words of copy.

NIXON PRESIDES AS SECURITY COUNCIL MEETS

since President Eisenhower suffered a heart attack Saturday.

It marked the first formal beginning of the difficult task the Eisenhower "team" must perform in running the Government temporarily without Mr. Eisenhower.

The roster of officials at today's meeting suggested the discussion ranged over a wide area. But Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, said the attendance was not unusual.

Nixon's Opening Words.

Snyder said Nixon opened the meeting with these words:

"Gentlemen, as we all know it is a custom of the Cabinet to open with a silent prayer. While this has not been the practice of the Security Council, may I propose a moment of silent prayer of thanksgiving for the marvelous record of recovery the President has made up to this hour."

As Nixon entered the White House for the meeting, he said the session could be considered "routine." He said it was another indication that the government's business "is going forward in the absence of the President."

By the Associated Press.

It has been learned that at today's Security Council meeting and tomorrow's Cabinet meeting the Cabinet and chief Cabinet advisers expect to be able to put Administration affairs in order for the duration of the President's absence.

One Administration source said that "there are no serious problems, barring some entirely unexpected major change in the world situation."

There is nothing on the horizon that the Cabinet and the Security Council cannot deal with, the source said, except such matters as the presidential signature on postmaster commissions, and the like. That problem will be solved, it was said, by giving the job, but withholding the title, until the President is able to catch up with his signing chores.

And, it was reported, Attorney General Brownell is looking into the problem of what has to be signed "Dwight D. Eisenhower," and what can be made legal with no more than "D. D. E."

Nixon signed a paper "on behalf of the President" yesterday and received several additional messages from the White House for his signature. The first document expressed good wishes for a meeting of the General Society of Mayflower Descendants in London next week.

As if to underline the business-as-usual talk, the White House permitted photographers to come in and take pictures of officials at work yesterday.

PETITIONS CALL FOR NOV. 22 VOTE ON COUNTY BONDS

Commission would be asked to make a study of it.

County Supervisor Luman F. Matthews, praising the work of the executive committee, said he would like to have it remain in existence to advise him on matters affecting St. Louis county. He said he needed the guidance of people willing to take an interest in future development of the county.

SCHOOL FOUNDATION CALLED EFFORT TO EQUALIZE LOAD

The School Foundation Program, on which Missourians will vote Oct. 4, was described yesterday as an attempt to equalize educational opportunities among the more than 700,000 boys and girls enrolled in the state's 4000 public school districts.

Ward Barnes, superintendent of Normandy Public Schools, told the Scottish Rite Club of St. Louis the program would force some school districts that have not been carrying a fair share of the school costs to make greater efforts in that direction before they could receive state funds.

Had the program been in effect in the 1953-54 school year, the St. Louis Public Schools would have received $1,600,000 more in state aid than they got, he said. This would have been the equivalent of 10 cents in the school tax rate levied for that year, he added.

ANTI-NOISE BILL INTRODUCED IN COUNTY COUNCIL

Any "unreasonably loud, disturbing or unnecessary noise," in St. Louis county's unincorporated areas would be prohibited under penalty of a fine or jail term under a proposed ordinance introduced in the County Council yesterday.

Councilman Harold D. Carey, sponsor of the measure, said he had received a large number of complaints, chiefly about barking dogs, from residents of his Sixth District, in the Lemay area.

Penalties ranging from a $5 fine for a first offense to $50 and 50 days in jail for the fourth offense within a year are provided in the bill. The measure is similar to a St. Louis ordinance adopted in 1939.

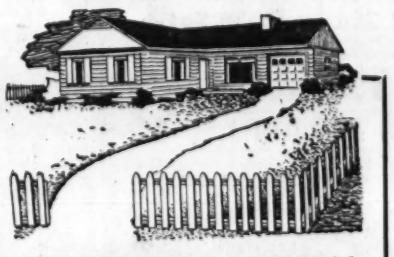

Illegal actions, "among others," listed in the bill include the following: Sounding of automobile, bus and streetcar horns or signals when not necessary for safety; keeping of overly noisy animals and birds; use of drums, loud speakers "and other instruments" except under a permit from county authorities; operation of any vehicle with an objectionable "grating, grinding or rattling" noise, and loud playing of radios and phonographs between midnight and 7 a.m.

PINAY BARS ANY ACCORD BASED ON DISSOLVING NATO

French Leader Tells U.N. That German Unity Is Vital to European Peace.

By ALVIN H. GOLDSTEIN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 29—French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay warned the United Nations General Assembly today that East-West "coexistence" must be founded on a genuine effort by both sides to preserve world peace.

It would be an illusory objective if the policy of force "was perpetuated by other methods," Pinay said.

"There would be no true coexistence if force should assume the mask of subversion from within or incitement of primitive nationalisms," he continued, "or if an armistice was concluded on one front only to fight on another.

"There would be in that case only attempts at dissociation, aiming at imbalance, then at hegemony—in other words, the very negation of coexistence.

Climate for Both Sides.

"An authentic detente (relaxing of strained relations), founded on tolerance, excludes all disguises, all transfers, all maneuvers," Pinay said. "It is not the means of implementing a particular policy; it is the climate in which both sides act."

Pinay, the third of the Big Four foreign ministers to address the assembly, emphasized:

1. That France is against any understanding with Russia that involves dissolution of NATO and withdrawal of United States forces from Europe.

2. That unification of Germany is essential to European peace, and that France recognizes only West Germany as a legitimate government.

Pinay stressed that his conception of "co-existence" implied mutual respect for the values and basic interests of both East and West.

"We would like to be sure this conception is accepted by all men everywhere," he said.

Birth of New Spirit.

He said the Geneva conference had "made it possible to foresee the birth of a new spirit in the relations of states."

Pinay said that France was determined to consolidate at Geneva in October, when the Big Four Foreign Ministers meet, "that which was confirmed at Geneva in June."

He said that although the destines of the peoples of the world are inseparable, leading either to prosperity or annihilation, the world is divided by seemingly irreconcilable political philosophies.

"Our supreme duty is to overcome this contradiction so successfully that some day, perhaps, it may be abolished," he said.

Pinay defended the Atlantic defense pact and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, replying directly to demands of the Soviet Union that states relinquish military bases abroad.

"I know of no foreign military establishments imposed upon my state, within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization," he said.

"I only know of means of defense that have been placed in common, freely and voluntarily, in the service of a single ideal, that of peace. For the West, particularly France, there is no real security outside the Atlantic organization."

Cites Factor of Insecurity.

Pinay called for re-unification of Germany, which he said, was "the essential condition for a return to a normal situation" in Europe.

"The division of Germany constitutes, in the very heart of Europe, a permanent factor of insecurity," he said. "Continued division is more than an injustice. It is a mistake."

He said that the French recognized only the democratically elected Federal Republic. The de facto government maintained in East Germany by Russia could not be accepted on an equal basis, he said.

"While we feel that there is no security for Europe, without the reunification of Germany, we also feel that there could be no reunification of Germany without the formulation of a security system," Pinay continued.

"France is ready to go as far as possible in the direction of these real and concrete guarantees. A united Germany must, in our opinion, be subject to controlled military limitations, and these limitations and this control should not in any sense be discriminatory.

"If the Soviet Union is really concerned only with insuring its own security, I can say, in the name of my country, that, in such a case, agreement is truly possible."

Step for Disarmament.

Dealing with disarmament, Pinay proposed a first step "achieved by a synthesis of proposals made by the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France.

Those included the Eisenhower plan for exchanging military information and engaging in mutual inspection with Russia, the Eden plan for trial inspection by East-West observers in an appropriate European area, the Faure plan to reduce military budgets and Soviet proposals for staged arms reduction and inspection at key transportation points to detect military movements.

Referring to the troubled situation in Tunisia and Morocco, Pinay said that France would not permit interference by any country or by the United Nations in the conduct of the affairs of those French protectorates.

The five-power disarmament commission subcommittee met yesterday with "satisfactory progress" reported by a high-level United States spokesman toward agreement on the Eisenhower plan for trading American military information with Russia and verifying it by mutual aerial inspection.

Question on Aerial Photos.

By the Associated Press.

The United States asked Russia in the disarmament talks whether it was proposing aerial photo reconnaissance of all countries where either has forces.

Informed sources said Harold E. Stassen put the question to Arkady A. Sobolev. They gave this account:

The Russian asked Stassen one of the questions in Soviet Premier Bulganin's recent letter to President Eisenhower: Did the Eisenhower aerial inspection plan apply not only to the United States and Russia but also to other countries where they had bases and forces?

Stassen in turn asked if this meant the Soviet Union was making a tentative counterproposal that the plan be extended to those other countries. The meeting ended before he got an answer.

Stassen recalled that Molotov told the General Assembly Friday that his country, having given up Port Arthur and Porkkala, no longer had foreign bases. He said the United States was under the impression that the Soviet Union still had substantial ground and air forces in East Germany, Poland, Hungary, Romania and other countries and that they exceeded the number of American forces outside the United States, Alaska and Hawaii.

CHEST CRUSHED BY TANK

James E. Butts, a welder, suffered internal injuries and a crushed chest yesterday when he was pinned beneath a steel tank at the Art Welding Co., 1630 North Ninth street.

Police said Butts, who is 26 years old and lives at 1118 North Simmons avenue, Kirkwood, was welding a seam in the 4500-pound tank when a wall plate to which the tank was fastened broke. Butts was held beneath the tank until police and fellow employes released him. He was taken to City Hospital.

L. C. CARPENTER 'INTERESTED' IN GOVERNORSHIP

Farm Commissioner Calls on Democratic Ward Leaders Here, Sees Dwyer.

State Commissioner of Agriculture L. C. Carpenter of Columbia called on a number of St. Louis Democratic ward leaders this week to let them know that he was "interested" in becoming a candidate next year for the Democratic nomination for Governor, the Post-Dispatch was told today.

Carpenter, who has the backing of a group of state farm leaders, told the politicians here, however, that he has not yet made up his mind whether he will run. He said he is seriously considering making the race.

Some of the party leaders with whom Carpenter talked reported that the state agriculture commissioner did not directly solicit support, and as far as they know received no commitments.

Calls on Dwyer.

City Treasurer John J. Dwyer, chairman of the Democratic City Committee, said Carpenter called on him Monday at his office in City Hall and they talked only briefly.

"He told me he could not say definitely that he would be a candidate, but that he was giving it serious consideration," Dwyer reported.

Another Democratic leader here, who declined to be quoted, said he doubted any of the ward committeemen would commit themselves for any state candidate at this time because it was "too early."

Carpenter has the support of leaders of the Missouri Farmers' Association, a large statewide organization of agricultural co-operatvies, which claims a membership of 150,000 farmers. He is widely known in rural Missouri, after 15 years as an administrator of state and federal farm programs, but is relatively unknown in St. Louis and Kansas City.

Because of this, his backers have been attempting to line up support for him among organized labor groups in the two cities, hoping to form a farm-labor coalition within the Democratic party. It was reported that CIO leaders are looking favorably on Carpenter, although they have not made any formal commitments. Most St. Louis AFL leaders are taking a "wait-and-see" attitude.

Most St. Louis Democratic politicians believe that Lt. Gov. James T. Blair Jr. of Jefferson City, is out in front in the race for the party's gubernatorial nomination. They think, however, that Carpenter could give Blair some trouble if he is able to win over labor and some organized political support to go with his farm backing.

Others still in the Democratic gubernatorial picture for 1956 include Attorney General John M. Dalton of Kennett, Frank S. Land of Kansas City, former national head of the Shriners, and former Gov. Forrest Smith.

FINED $200 IN ACCIDENT IN WHICH DEPUTY WAS HURT

Raymond C. Counts of the 4000 block of Blaine avenue was found guilty of felonious wounding and fined $200 by a jury yesterday in the court of Circuit Judge Raymond E. LaDriere at Clayton. The charge resulted from injury to a former deputy sheriff when Count's truck struck a sheriff's cruiser at the scene of an accident. Count pleaded not guilty.

Counts's eastbound truck struck the parked cruiser on the north shoulder of Manchester road near Pond in St. Louis county on May 16, 1954. Two men injured in an earlier auto accident were being placed in the cruiser, which was knocked backwards by the impact, throwing Walter Herr, now a county police sergeant, down a hill. Herr suffered a fractured left leg and broken neck.

Joseph Feco and Wilson Delano, both former deputies, testified that Counts was on the wrong side of the road. Counts contended that his truck swerved into the ambulance from the right side of the road when he had to apply the brakes to avoid striking bystanders at the earlier accident.

GREEK BAR ON ALL NATO PLANES BUT U.S. REPORTED

ATHENS, Sept. 29 (AP)—Authoritive sources said today that Greece will bar all military planes except Americans from it.. air space and its airports in NATO maneuvers in the eastern Mediterranean Oct. 1-5.

The Greeks already have withdrawn from the exercises as a result of the violent anti-Greek riots in Turkey early this month. Britain, with whom Greece is also embroiled in the bitter dispute over Cyprus, is to participate in the maneuvers along with Turkey and the United States.

Greek police arrested a Turkish student today and charged him with being involved in the hynamiting of the Turkish consulate in Salonika which preceded the rioting in Turkey. Police said the student, Oktal Eghim Faik, is a member of the "Cyprus is Turkish" movement.

W. German Phones for Iran.

BONN, Sept. 29 (AP)—Iran's government is buying 180,000 telephones from West Germany. The order, valued at $25,000,000 was talked over with Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi on his visit to Bonn early this year.

FORMER STATE REVENUE DEPUTY UNDER ARREST

Pius G. Unterreiner of Perryville Accused of Embezzlement of $16,967.

By BOYD F. CARROLL
Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 29—Arrest of Pius G. Unterreiner of Perryville, former deputy collector there for the State Department of Revenue, on a charge of embezzlement of $16,967 in state funds was announced today by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly.

Prosecuting Attorney Francis Toohey Jr. of Perry county, who filed the information against Unterreiner last night, told the Post-Dispatch Unterreiner was in jail today on the charge, pending furnishing of bail bond, fixed at $18,000.

Existence of the shortage in the Perryville branch office for collecting of state motor vehicle license fees and other state fees, and dismissal of Unterreiner as deputy collector there, was disclosed last July, but no charges had been filed heretofore.

Inquiry Since April.

An investigation has been under way since last April by Attorney General John M. Dalton, Prosecuting Attorney Toohey and the State Highway Patrol. Unterreiner, who operates a restaurant in Perryville, was arrested last night by highway patrolmen, Donnelly said.

Gov. Donnelly declined to confirm reports that investigations into handling of state tax collections were under way at two other points. He said he "might have heard by the grapevine" but would not verify that the patrol was making other inquiries for him.

Prosecuting Attorney Toohey said the alleged shortage at Perryville involved state motor vehicle and driver's license funds, and other fees collected for the state in the Perryville branch office, which had been headed by Unterreiner since December 1953.

Disclosure in Audits.

He said two audits disclosed that reports on collections made by Unterreiner to the State Department of Revenue were $16,967 greater than the amount of cash turned over to the department by Unterreiner.

Duplicate deposit slips covering cash deposits of the branch office collections in a Perryville bank did not coincide with the reports of revenue collected, the prosecutor said.

Alleged embezzlement of funds covered a period of about a year before the Perryville branch office was closed by the Department of Revenue last April 28, Toohey said.

After disclosure of the alleged shortage last July, Unterreiner told a Post-Dispatch reporter he knew nothing about it, and refused to answer any questions.

POLICE TO KEEP CURIOUS AWAY FROM CAPT. TOWNSEND

BRUSSELS, Sept. 29 (UP)—Capt. Peter Townsend, air attache at the British Embassy, has requested and been granted a police guard to keep the curious from his home, it was disclosed today.

The disclosure coincided with growing expectations in Britain that some statement will be issued soon to stop the speculation concerning a romance between Townsend and Princess Margaret.

The 41-year-old flyer announced three days ago he would spend his mid-October leave in England, and that set off new gossip, compounded by the fact Prime Minister Eden is visiting the Queen next weekend at Balmoral Castle in Scotland.

SAIGON SHIPPING RESUMED AFTER HALT FOR REBEL RAID

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, Sept. 29 (AP)—Shipping was resumed today on the Saigon river after a 24-hour halt resulting from an attack by the Binh Xuyen rebels on the Panamanian-registered ship Sam Blas.

The 4000-ton freigher was not hit, American aid officials said, but its skipper decided to return to Cap St. Jacques after running into mortar and machine-gun fire 28 miles from the mouth of the river.

The Binh Xuyen, although they have been disclodged from their main posts on the river by the government forces, still occupy certain sections of the bank. Government troops now are carrying out a major clean-up operation.

ZULU TRIBESMAN SENTENCED TO DEATH FOR 15 MURDERS

PIETERMARITZBURG, South Africa, Sept. 29 (AP)—A Zulu tribesman named Elifasi Msomi was sentenced to death yesterday for the ax murders of 15 Africans.

The killings resulted in a reign of terror in African villages throughout wide areas of Natal between August 1953 and last January.

Msomi said the crimes were committed by a spirit conjured up by an African witch doctor. He said he had to accompany the spirit while it collected samples of blood from persons.

Firemen to Ticket Cars.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP)—Firemen now are going to give out parking tickets to motorists who park too close to fire hydrants or in front of firehouses. It will marke the first time firemen have received authority to tag automobiles.

BRAZIL'S FROGS QUACK, CAW CHIRP, COME IN WILD COLORS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—The frogs are fantastic in southeastern Brazil, the Smithsonian Instiution said today.

It has put out a bulletin on the nearly 200 types of amphibians found in the area. The bulletin was prepared by Dr. Doris M. Cochran, associate curator of reptiles and amphibians, after study in Brazil.

Some of the frogs she found there grunt like pigs, cackle like hens, chirp like crickets, caw like crows or quack like ducks. They range in color from a normal froggy gray to gold, red and purple.

STEVENSON SAYS HE IS SOUNDING OUT DEMOCRATS

Declares President's Illness Will Not Affect His Own Decision on Seeking Nomination.

JOHNSON CITY, Tex., Sept. 29 (INS)—Adlai Stevenson said today he was sounding out the sentiment of Democratic party leaders before deciding whether to seek the presidential nomination in 1956.

He declared that the illness of President Eisenhower had not changed his plans to make his own decision about what course to take.

Stevenson, who had previously said he would make his decision in November, told reporters that he didn't "see any reason for changing my plans."

The 1952 Democratic nominee held a press conference on the front lawn of Senate majority leader Lyndon B. Johnson's ranch home near here, after private talks with Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn.

All three Democratic leaders denied that they had talked politics.

But Stevenson said pointedly that "as of now, I am just trying to ascertain what the wishes of the Democratic leaders around the country are."

Asked if he had ascertained the wishes of Texas political leaders, he replied: "We haven't discussed their wishes."

Johnson interposed that it was not his place to select the party's nominee. He added: "I supported him (Stevenson) enthusiastically in 1952, and if he's a candidate and the convention nominates him, I will support him enthusiastically in 1956."

Johnson, playing on the theme that the Democratic "Big Three" had not discussed presidential politics, said his party has agreed on "a constructive, responsible and unified program and we don't find any necessity to change our program."

Rayburn echoed this statement and remarked that the Democrats are "not haters . . . we never hated Eisenhower and never will."

Johnson said: "We think the policies of the Democratic party at their worst are better than the Republican policies at their best."

The Senator, touching on the President's illness, said he himself has made a "truly remarkable recovery" from a similar heart ailment and added: "I'm sure we all hope the President will recuperate as well as I have."

STEVENSON GIVES TALK ON TRADE

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 29 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson last night said countless people of the world are demanding more of the good things of life, and warned: "We will not enjoy our own well-being so long as they hunger. Perhaps we will not be allowed to enjoy it if they hunger."

Stevenson spoke at the University of Texas to a crowd of 5500.

The 1952 Democratic presidential candidate backed a program of trade and aid in his speech.

He said he was not proposing "free trade tomorrow" but that, "we should recognize once and for all that we are the great creditor nation of the world."

He said if this country expects to sell its products abroad, "we must permit foreign producers to sell in our market to earn dollars to buy our products."

Stevenson also said he wished there were more talk about the "durability" of the United States' prosperity and less about "booms."

"Let us keep in mind that prosperity has two dimensions," he said. "One is its level and the other is its durability."

Stevenson steered clear of serious politics in his speech, and refused to answer most reporters' questions, saying he had promised not to talk politics before his non-partisan lecture under auspices of a University of Texas student committee.

Asked if he intended to reply to Gov. Allan Shivers's statement that he could not support Stevenson if he is the party's nominee in 1956, Stevenson replied, "I haven't the faintest idea."

Stevenson won more than half a minute of applause and laughter at a jab in his speech which did not mention Shivers by name, but which was an obvious reference to their political enmity.

The 1952 presidential candidate had disclaimed his qualifications to speak on "America, the Economic Colossus," saying he was not a full-time expert on such matters.

'Full-Time Democrat.'

"Must I conclude that you young Texans asked me to speak because I am a full-time Democrat?" he asked. The audience laughed and cheered.

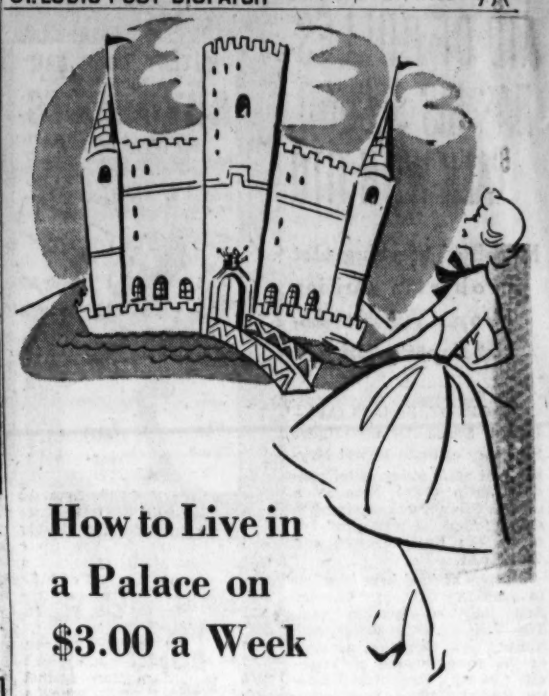

In 1952, Shivers repudiated Stevenson when the Democratic candidate refused to uphold Texas tidelands claims. While Shivers was speaking for Dwight D. Eisenhower, Stevenson criticized him for leaving the Democratic party.

Traffic Coincidence.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP)—An automobile roared out of control onto a sidewalk outside police headquarters, breaking up a meeting on traffic safety.

AID OF DULLES HAS HIS SECOND TALK WITH TITO

Murphy Threshing Out Problems Arising From Yugoslav-Soviet Rapprochement.

BELGRADE, Sept. 29 (AP)—United States Deputy Under Secretary of State Robert Murphy met again today with President Josip (Tito) Broz in a series of conversations aimed at settling "mutual problems" between the United States and Yugoslavia.

Murphy arrived here Monday to open the talks and had his first long conversation with Tito Tuesday. It is understood Murphy said then that because of the strengthening of Yugoslav ties with the Soviet Union the United States is re-examining its attitude toward the Belgrade government.

Informed sources said Murphy stressed the importance the United States attaches to Yugoslavia's independence and was assured by Tito that basic Yugoslav policy is unchanged. Tito said the country's independence never would be put at stake, these sources said.

Other sources said Tito and Murphy found a solution to the dispute between their governments over Yugoslavia's refusal to permit United States inspection of weapons delivered to Yugoslavia under the United States military aid program. Details, however, will be left to Murphy to work out with Yugoslav Defense Minister Ivan Cosnjak.

Also under discussion is Yugoslav manufacture of jet fighter planes. Yugoslavia had asked the Western powers for licenses to build the planes, but considered fees demanded by the West too much. Meanwhile, Russia offered a license to build MIG-15 fighters, which brought a warning from American officials that an agreement to manufacture under Russian license might halt United States arms deliveries to Yugoslavia.

Murphy also has talked with Vice President Svetozar Vukmanovic, director of national economy, reportedly inquiring from him Yugoslavia's intentions regarding trade with the Soviet Union and other eastern European Communist countries, as well as its need for further economic aid from the West.

Murphy is expected to see Tito again before his departure for Washington, now scheduled for late tomorrow or Saturday.

COUNTY AND CLEVELAND AIR COMPRESSOR FIRMS MERGE

Merger of the 101-year-old Curtis Manufacturing Co., 1905 Kienlen avenue, St. Louis county, and United Air Compressor Co., of Cleveland, O., has been approved by stockholders of both firms, it was announced yesterday. The merger will become effective tomorrow.

Both companies are owned by a financial group headed by Harold C. and Joseph J. Schott, brothers, of Cleveland, who purchased the Curtis company last year. United Air Compressor and the Visioneering Co., a division of United Air Compressor, will continue to be operated at Cleveland as a division of the St. Louis county company.

Under the merger plan, Curtis stockholders authorized an issue of 1,000,000 shares of $4 par common stock. Each of the 98,716 shares of Curtis will be converted into two shares of the new common while each of the 11,457 shares of United Air Compressor will be converted into 32 shares of the new Curtis stock. Both firms manufacture and sell air compressors, hydraulic lifts and similar products.

2 ST. LOUISANS, 7 OTHERS HURT WHEN TRUCK HITS BUS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOWLING GREEN, Mo., Sept. 29 — Two St. Louisans and seven other persons were injured early today when a tractor-trailer truck ripped open the side of a bus in which they were passengers about eight miles south of here. Seven of the injured were treated at Pike County Hospital at Louisiana.

St. Louisans injured were George Delonjay, 2429 North Spring avenue, and Lloyd E. Bryant, 5866 Nottingham avenue. At the hospital it was reported Delonjay was not seriously injured and Bryant suffered a fractured right leg.

State Highway Patrol officers said the bus, en route from Des Moines to St. Louis, had pulled to the side of United States Highway 61 apparently to await repairs when the truck swerved and the trailer smashed into the side of the parked bus. Both drivers and four passengers escaped injury. Bowling Green is about 80 miles northwest of St. Louis.

JUKEBOX DEALER ROBBED OF $6100 ON HERRIN ROAD

Earl Walker, Former Slot Machine Kingpin, Is Forced Off Highway, Held Up.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

HERRIN, Ill., Sept. 29—Earl Walker, distributor of coin-operated music and entertainment devices in southern Illinois and former slot machine kingpin, was robbed of $6100 yesterday by two holdup men on Illinois Highway 148, four miles north of Herrin.

The robbers, wearing business suits and driving a late model sedan, also took $1100 in checks, Walker's $1200 diamond ring and the keys to his automobile.

Walker, who heads the Ace Music Co. here, reported he was on his way to a bank at Zeigler at 10 a.m. when the robbers forced his automobile off the road. One man displayed a snub-nosed revolver and ordered Walker to drive into a side road. After robbing him, the men drove away.

Unable to start his car, Walker obtained a ride from a motorist, and gave the alarm. Roadblocks were established by Sheriff Carl Miller, but the robbers had fled.

Reports that Walker was robbed of large sums twice previously in the last year were never officially confirmed. Herrin is in Williamson county, about 100 miles southeast of St. Louis.

BENSON OFFICIATES AS HIS DAUGHTER IS MARRIED

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 29 (UP)—Barbara Benson, daughter of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, and a young Canadian doctor were married today in the high-spired Salt Lake temple of the Latter-Day Saints Church with Benson, an L.D.S. apostle officiating.

Immediately after the wedding, Dr. Robert Harris Walker of Calgary and his bride were honored by 1500 guests at a reception in the nearby Hotel Utah in the same suite where Secretary Benson and his wife had their reception 30 years ago. The newly-married couple will live in Calgary, where Dr. Walker practices medicine.

Heart Specialist Defends Early Handling of President's Case

Dr. White Calls Criticism of Gen. Snyder Unwarranted—'I Would Not Have Done Differently.'

BOSTON, Sept. 29 (UP)—Dr. Paul Dudley White, heart specialist who rushed to Denver to examine President Eisenhower, said today that criticism of the early handling of the case by the President's physician was unwarranted.

Dr. White told a press conference that the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, handled the early stages of Mr. Eisenhower's attack of coronary thrombosis "excellently."

He said he had been "recently appraised" of criticism of the early diagnosis of the President's attack, charges that wrong drugs were used, and complaints that the transportation of the President to the Fitzsimon's Army Hospital by limousine was faulty.

The President was assisted by two guards to his private automobile, and driven to the Army hospital where he was assisted to a wheelchair.

Dr. White said "coronary thrombosis is a sudden, acute illness often difficult and many times impossible to diagnose in its early stages. Gen. Snyder very quickly suspected coronary thrombosis and acted accordingly. I would not have done differently."

"Gen. Snyder gave the two hypodermic injections of morphine at 3 a.m. and 3:45 a.m. Saturday. However, he did not want to make such an announcement in the middle of the night to the world. It was evident that Gen. Snyder thought coronary thrombosis probable, inasmuch as he ordered an electrocardiogram to be taken on the spot before moving the President.

"This was taken after the President awoke at 1 p.m. following the subsidence of the effect of the opiate.

"I would add here that an electrocardiogram, taken at the very onset of an attack, is not infrequently negative and may define signs of trouble only after some hours have elapsed. This was quite probably the situation in the President's case."

"Gen. Snyder did not want to disturb him for several hours because he (Mr. Eisenhower) was in pain and mild prostration at the time," Dr. White said.

He said Snyder "waited until Mr. Eisenhower recovered from the attack before he had the electro-cardiogram. This showed the presence of coronary thrombosis."

The specialist said most of the criticism of the early treatment of the President's case was based on a lack of knowledge of heart seizures.

Defends Use of Auto.

He said the fact that Mr. Eisenhower was taken to the hospital by automobile rather than by ambulance "was very sensible."

"I have seen death come on a number of occasions to patients who were moved too soon after the onset of their acute thrombosis; they succumbed sometimes before reaching the hospital."

"A stretcher would have had to be almost upright in order to get it down. There were only 13 to 14 steps, then two steps down from the porch to the road, and six paces to the car. He was supported by two husky guards."

Dr. White said, "It is wiser, if a patient is in condition to do so, for him actually to be on his feet than to be carried in a stretcher awkwardly."

"My personal opinion is that any family doctor seeing such a patient under similar circumstances would do well to follow Gen. Snyder's procedure."

Dr. White, who is in constant touch with the President's bedside physicians in Denver, said drugs used on the President "had a good effect and were used just right."

AMERICAN UNITS FROM AUSTRIA ENTERING ITALY

First U.S. Combat Troops in Peninsula Since 1947 Arrive Via Brenner Pass.

BRENNERO, Italy, Sept. 29 (AP)—United States occupation troops leaving Austria entered Italy before dawn today for NATO duty. Their mission is to help the Italian army plug a gap left in Western defenses by Austrian neutrality.

The new arrivals are the first American combat troops to be stationed in Italy since October 1947 when the Eighty-eighth Infantry Division was deactivated as a combat unit. American soldiers based at Leghorn and Naples are from service units.

Crossing the Austrian-Italian border through historic Brenner pass was a convoy of 214 officers and men under Lt. Col. William W. Hawke of Terryton, Tex., commander of the First Battalion of the 350th Infantry Regiment, which made a distinguished combat record in Italy in World War II.

5000 Men Involved.

The convoy was the vanguard of some 5000 Americans who will form a new Southern European Task Force Command under Brig. Gen. John H. Michaelis. It will operate under Italian Lt. Gen. Clemente Primieri, North Atlantic Treaty Organization commander of land forces in southern Europe.

The convoy headed for Vincenza, 150 miles southwest of here, to set up headquarters in concrete Italian army barracks.

The Americans are pulling out of Austria under the independence treaty signed by the Big Four with that country last May. Some engineering and other units left ahead of the combat troops.

The Southern European Task Force will be something new for NATO's southern line. Although small, it will be equipped with the most modern weapons — almost certainly weapons with an atomic potential, such as rockets and artillery.

Striking Force.

Italy, Greece and Turkey all have big armies better trained than any forces in their history, but they have only World War II weapons. SETAF will be an American striking force with weapons as modern as any possible enemy could muster, a striking force which the Atlantic allies could move anywhere in the Mediterranean if needed.

Communist newspapers in Italy have attacked the transfer of United States combat troops here but the government and the bulk of the press have welcomed them. The Communist attack has been less virulent than NATO planners anticipated.

Most United States tactical troops already have left Austria, either for the United States or Germany. All but a few families also have departed.

By Oct. 15, all troops are expected to be gone except for a few left behind to clean up last details.

TYPHOON STRIKES SOUTHERN JAPAN, MOVES ON TOKYO

TOKYO, Sept. 29 (UP)—Typhoon Louise struck heavily-populated Kyushu island today after battering little Yakushima island with 152-miles-an-hour gusts.

The Japan Central Meteorological Observatory said Louise, the worst typhoon of the season, struck Kyushu, one of Japan's four main islands, at Cape Hatami. It was moving due north at 10 miles per hour, on a course that would hit Tokyo.

The storm left countless homes and buildings destroyed on Yakushima. Mammoth ocean waves sank two ships and washed away at least six others.

Waves as high as a three-story building hit the coast of southern Japan. A 65-foot gap was torn in a breakwater at Kawanami and other seawall breaks were reported elsewhere.

GINO PRATO OFFERS TO HELP FINANCE ROAD TO HOME TOWN

GENOA, Italy, Sept. 29 (UP)—Gino Prato, the opera-loving cobbler from New York, left for America today with a promise to bring his isolated childhood friends closer to the outside world.

He offered to contribute part of the $32,000 he won on a television program for construction of a road to his native village of Statale.

The present winding route into the hills above Genoa is a six-mile dirt lane. When Gino and his family arrived Sept. 5 to visit the cobbler's father for the first time in 33 years, they had to make the trip by mule.

TRUCKMEN FINED $14,588 FOR 521 CITY VIOLATIONS

All Are for Driving Vehicles That Are Too Long—Amount Sets Record.

Fines and court costs totaling $14,588 were assessed in police court today against truck operators, who were found guilty by Judge Morris Rosenthal of 521 violations of an ordinance limiting the length of a vehicle operating on a city street.

Appeals from the fines, which were $25 and $3 costs in each case, were taken to the Court of Criminal Correction. The total sum assessed by Judge Rosenthal was a record for a single day in police court.

The 521 cases resulted from almost daily arrests of truck drivers on Riverview boulevard near Hall's Ferry Circle, since August 1954. Although state laws permit operation of trucks 45 feet in length, the limit set by city ordinance is 35 feet.

Although a formal plea of not guilty was entered by Gregory M. Rebman, attorney for the defendants, the defense conceded that the trucks exceed 35 feet and use the street in question.

In a motion to dismiss charges in 223 cases against a single operator, Rebman contended that Alternate U. S. Highway 67 from Alton, including Riverview boulevard, is the only route which the company is authorized to use by both the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Missouri Public Service Commission.

In a second motion, to dismiss the charges, the attorney argued that the ordinance is in conflict with Missouri Revised Statutes. Both motions were overruled by the court.

City Counselor Samuel Liberman, who was present, voiced the opinion the city has authority to regulate traffic within its boundaries. Residents of the north St. Louis neighborhood through which the trucks pass have lodged many complaints with police.

Flood Gift from Italy.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—Italy's Ambassador Manalio Brosio yesterday presented $20,000 to the American Red Cross to aid victims of last month's floods in the eastern United States. It was a gift from the Italian government.

CHIEF LOSES OUT TO PATROLMAN ON PENSION BOARD

Patrolman Cornelius Powers of the Page boulevard district won a place on the police pension board today, beating out Chief of Police Jeremiah O'Connell by 279 votes, with only one district missing. The vote was 985 for Powers and 706 for Chief O'Connell.

Powers, who has been a perennial candidate for the board, is assured of election, officials said, because votes from the missing district will not total 279. His term is for one year.

The board passes on applications for pensions from policemen.

O'Connell, who is attending a police chiefs' convention in Philadelphia, will not lose all his duties on the board as a result of his defeat in the election, since regulations call for the board to be presided over by the Chief of Police and the president of the Board of Police Commisisoners.

WARNS ON PROPERTY SALES IN PROPOSED HOUSING AREAS

Residents of the Mill Creek Valley slum clearance area and a proposed public housing site in northwest St. Louis were cautioned yesterday to demand credentials of persons who claim they represent either the Land Clearance Authority or the St. Louis Housing Authority.

James T. Drought, deputy director of the land clearance agency, said he had received several reports that attempts to purchase properties in the two areas had been made by persons claiming to be officially designated by the authority for the purpose.

The land clearance authority is not contemplating starting the purchase of property within the Mill Creek area before the summer of 1957, nor is the housing agency ready to start purchasing its site in northwest St. Louis, he said.

Appraisers, engineers and city planners are at work making preliminary surveys and studies in the two areas, he said. These have been furnished with identifying credentials.

REDS FREE 3 JAP BOATS

TOKYO, Sept. 29 (AP)—Three Japanese fishing boats and most of their crews were released by Soviet patrol boats today after being held three days by the Russians. The fishermen were captured off the tip of northern Hokkaido.

Kyodo news service said the captains of the three boats are still held in the Kuriles, along with five other Japanese seized earlier for trespassing in Russian waters.

They are Dr. Cecil P. Headlee, associate professor of pharmacology; Dr. James R. McCowan, assistant professor of pharmacy; Dr. John F. Keane Jr., instructor in physics; Louis C. Schroeter, assistant instructor in pharmacy, and Lester G. Bruns, graduate assistant in chemistry.

CHOU EN-LAI, YUGOSLAVIA ENVOY EXCHANGE TOASTS

TOKYO, Sept. 29 (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai of Red China and V. Popovic, Yugoslavia's ambassador, exchanged toasts in Peiping last night to friendship between their two countries.

A Peiping broadcast said Chou attended a reception given by Popovic in connection with the visit to Red China of a Yugoslav song and dance ensemble.

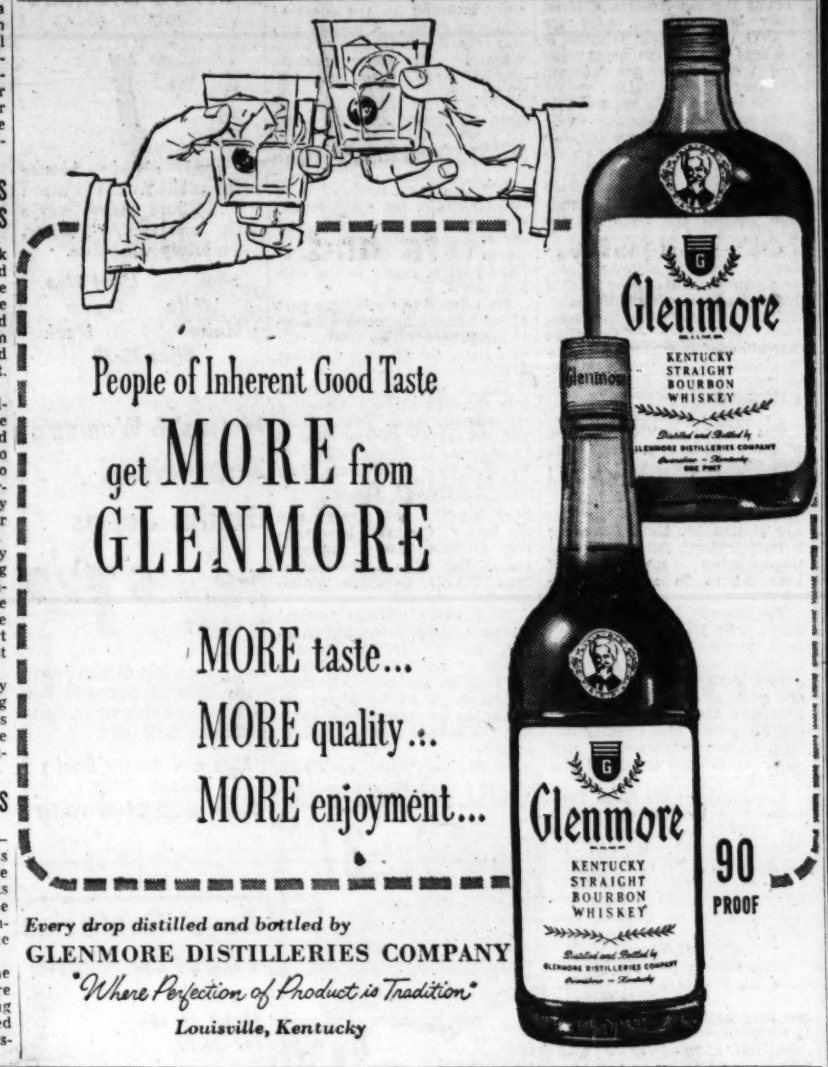

Popovic, whose country was on the outs with all Communists counties until Russia's recent decision to patch up differences, proposed a toast to Mao Tse-tung, ruler of Red China, and "the co-operation and firm friendship between China and Yugoslavia." Chou in reply offered a toast to president Josip (Tito) Broz and to friendly relations.

LONARDI TO FORM 4-PARTY BOARD TO ADVISE HIM

Argentine Provisional Government Moves to Broaden Democratic Base.

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 29 (AP)—The Argentine provisional government moved today to broaden its support and stimulate the nation's slowly reviving democratic political life.

Interior and Justice Minister Eduardo Busso announced a four-party "consultative junta" would be formed to advise Provisional President Eduardo Lonardi and his Cabinet until a new Congress is elected.

Busso said four parties—the Radical, Democratic, Socialist and Progressive Democratic—had agreed to serve on the junta. Each was expected to contribute four representatives.

The minister made no mention of ousted Dictator Juan Peron's Peronista party or of the Communists. He said that representatives of labor, business and industry probably would be included on the junta.

In the 10 years after Peron seized power, the dictator's steady war on his opponents virtually killed off the opposition parties. In the last 189-member Congress, 12 Radical deputies were the only non-Peronistas.

Delay In Elections.

Lonardi has promised to hold elections as soon as the electoral process can be arranged, but this is expected to take considerable time. The more delayed the election, the more chance the anti-Peron parties will have to reorganize against any Peronista attempt to get back in.

Report on Peron.

Reports spread in Buenos Aires that Peron had left for Spain, but the Spanish embassy said the Franco government had not granted him asylum.

The Paraguayan ambassador, Juan R. Chaves, insisted Peron still was aboard a Paraguayan gunboat in Buenos Aires harbor. Chaves said negotiation were proceeding for Peron's departure.

Peron has been aboard the gunboat for more than a week. The supposition had been that he was going into exile in Paraguay, but Lonardi's government had been described as opposed to letting Peron stay in that neighboring country too long.

The Government's round-up of potential troublemakers continued. Federal police last night arrested Alejandro Leloir, wealthy president of the Peronista party's supreme council. Reliable sources said several other Peronista party leaders would be picked up soon.

Peron's Loot.

An inventory continued of personal possessions of the ousted regime's leaders. Official sources said a vast wealth in jewels had been found in Peron's 19-room private suburban residence. Among them was a miniature gold elephant with a giant emerald set in it. Peron's possessions were reported to include 10 television sets, 15 automobiles and rare paintings by Rembrandt, Velasquez and other masters.

(The United Press reported police announced they had discovered a $20,000,000 fortune in gold coins and banknotes stacked in boxes in Peron's residence.)

Lonadi issued a promised decree of complete amnesty for all civilians and military meen sentenced for political crimes and uprisings against the Peron regime.

The amnesty covered arrests since June 4, 1946, the day Peron became constitutional president. Military men were given back ranks stripped from them for opposition to the dictator.

AFTER 36 YEARS SWEDES ARE FREE TO DRINK FREELY

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 29 (AP)—With a sigh of relief, Sweden is giving up its system of liquor rationing. Next week Swedes can buy all the booze they want and can afford.

The official date for the change is Oct. 1, but it has been taking place gradually over a period of weeks. Today one can walk into any of the government stores and buy freely.

In an effort to cut down the potential demand, the government barred all advertising of beer, wines and liquors during September. But never, perhaps, have Swedes been more drink-conscious than this month.

Sweden has never tried total prohibition. Instead, 36 years ago, Swedes imposed on themselves a complicated system limiting the quantity of liquor they might drink and when.

Time has proved to the government's satisfaction that making it difficult to obtain liquor does not necessarily curb drinking. The authorities therefore decided on a new course of action to fight alcoholism, with emphasis on large-scale temperance propaganda.

G.I. REDS FREED GETS DISCHARGE FOR BAD CONDUCT

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 29 (UP)—Pvt. William A. Verdine, who survived six years in Communist slave camps, received a bad conduct discharge from the United States Army today for joy-riding in an Army truck and leaving the scene of two accidents.

The 28-year-old soldier from Starks, La., was released by the Russians last March. He was tried then by an Army court-martial for being absent without leave for six years and drew only a small fine. The fine was wiped out in a review of the sentence.

Verdine was convicted by the court-martial today of "wrongly appropriating" an Army truck last Aug. 9 and of leaving the scene of two accidents involving German motorcycles in suburban Frankfurt. Another charge of being absent without leave was dropped.

ARMY RESTS COLLABORATION CASE AGAINST MAJ. ALLEY

FORT MEADE, Md., Sept. 29 (UP)—The Army rested its case yesterday against Maj. Howard E. Alley, charged with rollaborating with his Chinese Communist captors in Korea.

The court-martial recessed at the request of the defense until next Tuesday, when the defense will begin its case. Two more witnesses testified yesterday against the 34-year-old career officer from Bar Harbor, Me. The trial has been in progress since Aug. 22.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29 (AP)—The court-martial trial of Cpl. Thomas Bayes Jr. on charges of collaborating with the enemy while a prisoner of the Communist Chinese continued yesterday at the Presidio of San Francisco. For the first time since the court-martial began, all spectators, including newsmen, were barred from the proceedings.

Courtesy Counts.

CAMDEN, S.C. (AP)—Courtesy on the highway paid off for F. B. Mobley. He noticed in his rear view mirror that an automobile wanted to pass his. He slowed down and waved the driver behind to come ahead. As the other car passed, two pieces of paper fell out of the window. Curious, he stopped, got out and picked them up. They were two $1 bills.

FRENCH THREAT TO PULL OUT OF U.N. REPORTED

Faure Said to Have Ordered Action If Algeria Is Put on Assembly Agenda.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 29 (UP)—France has threatened to withdraw from the United Nations if the problem of Algeria is put on the General Assembly's agenda, authoritative sources said today.

These sources said French Premier Edgar Faure had sent a message to Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay that he would ask parliamentary approval for France's withdrawal from the United Nations if the Assembly votes to debate the Algerian issue.

Faure said he had informed the French National Council of his contemplated action, the informants said, but assured Pinay that no action would be taken until the assembly makes its decision.

The informants said Pinay had informed the United States delegation, among others, of the gravity with which it views the issue.

The 15-nation Assembly Steering Committee voted last week to exclude the Algerian issue from the assembly's agenda. The United States voted with France to keep it off the agenda.

The Arab countries have staged a concentrated campaign on the assembly floor to upset the Steering Committee's decision. A final decision by the assembly was expected late today.

ST. LOUIS TRUCK DRIVER KILLED IN NEOSHO CRASH

Homer C. Lancaster, 4410A Athlone avenue, was killed last night in a collision between a tractor-trailer truck he was driving and a switch engine of the Kansas City Southern Lines at Neosho, Mo., about 300 miles southwest of St. Louis.

The crash, which occurred near the intersection of U.S. Highways 50 and 71, set fire to the tractor-trailer, which belonged to Roadway Express, Inc. Lancaster, 36 years old, was only an hour away from his destination at Afton, Okla., at the time, a spokesman for the company said.

TUCKER HOMESICK IN EUROPE, WILL TAKE OFF TONIGHT

Mayor Raymond R. Tucker is "homesick," therefore he's cutting short his European trip, skipping a visit to Paris and taking a plane from Rome tonight.

In a telephone conversation last night with his secretary, Robert E. Smith, the Mayor said: "I'm anxious to get home." If plane schedules are not delayed, he should arrive in New York tomorrow and St. Louis tomorrow night — Saturday at the latest, Smith said.

The Mayor left St. Louis Aug. 27 and took a four-week tour of Germany with six other Mayors and city managers. On the phone he told Smith the tour was conducted on a dawn-to midnight schedule, seven days a week. Last Sunday he went to Rome as a delegate to the International Congress of Local Authorities. He had a private audience with Pope Pius XII yesterday.

Smith indicated the Mayor had to come home for a rest. He quoted him as saying: "I haven't even had time to shop for souvenirs."

2 BOYS IN CUSTODY AGAIN, FLED CHILDREN'S BUILDING

Two boys who fled from the Children's Building, 1321 Clark avenue, last night by sliding down sheets and window bars from the third floor were in custody again early today.

The boys climbed through a trap door in a broom closet into a loft between the third floor and the roof. Using knotted sheets, they slid to a ledge and then clambered down bars to a point where they could drop to the ground. They were seen by an attendant, who gave the alarm. A guard halted several other boys before they were able to reach the loft.

One boy, a St. Louis Negro held as a criminal delinquent, returned to the institution voluntarily several hours later. The second youth, held here after running away from his home in Northern Illinois, was picked up on Grand boulevard, near Windsor place, at 5:30 a.m. by Patrolmen Edward Egenriether and John Wonderachek.

G.O.P. LEADER CRITICIZES SPECULATION ON CANDIDATES

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29 (UP)—A. J. Gock, former board chairman of the Bank of America and a state Republican leader, today urged the G.O.P. to stop discussing possible presidential candidates during President Eisenhower's illness.

"Any talk among Republicans of candidates or succession to the Presidency is presumptuous and in very poor taste," said Gock, chairman of the board of trustees of the Republican Associates, a G.O.P. organization of industrialists and business men.

"No one, and this perhaps includes the medical specialists, can do anything other than speculate as to the extent of the President's future activities," Gock said.

Gock said that the President's heart attack had hurt the Republican's chances for victory in 1956.

CONFLICT REPORTED AMONG INDIAN TRIBES OF PERU

LIMA, Peru, Sept. 29 (UP)—A conflict among savage Indian tribes was reported raging today in the heavy jungles along the upper reaches of the Madre de Dios river in eastern Peru.

According to dispatches reaching government authorities here, three tribes have gone on the warpath, the Piros, Amahucas and Yaminazuas.

CALGARY EVACUATION TEST CALLED GOOD BUT LIGHT

CALGARY, Alta., Sept. 29 (AP)—The men who plotted Canada's first major evacuation test agreed today the quality of Operation Lifesaver was good but the quantity was disappointing.

Only about 5000 of the estimated 25,000 persons in the northwestern part of the city accepted the invitation to take part in the operation yesterday. Civil defense officials said 1328 automobiles carrying an average of four persons each, passed check points at the city limits.

Officials blamed the low turnout on poor weather, loss of enthusiasm in a one-week postponement, criticism of the operation by some public officials and lack of co-operation by some employers. It was the biggest evacuation exercise undertaken in Canada.

MILK WILL COST SOME CLAYTON PUPILS ONLY 2 CTS.

Pupils in some Clayton public schools will be able to purchase milk for 2 cents a carton when the school district begins participation in a "drink more milk" program sponsored by the United States Department of Agriculture, it was learned today. At present the price of milk is 7 cents.

Approval of the program was given this week by John L. Bracken, superintendent of Clayton schools. The program is expected to begin the first week of November.

A similar program already has begun in elementary schools in the city where the price of a half-pint of milk is 3 cents in lunchrooms and milk stations. Last year the price was 6 cents at milk stations and 7½ cents in lunchrooms.

BRITISH SOLDIERS BEGIN WITHDRAWAL FROM SUDAN

CAIRO, Sept. 29 (UP)—British troops today began withdrawing from the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan under an agreement to allow the country to decide its own political future.

The main body of the first battalion of the Royal Leicestershire Regiment, last British infantry regiment to serve in the Sudan, leaves for Cyprus Oct. 11 aboard the Charlton Star.

Bear Uninvited Guest.

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP)—Forest Supervisor Frank C. Curtiss says he is going to invite a big, black bear along on the next Custer National Forest tour. Curtiss says he might as well invite the bear because "he muscles in anyway." This year the bear sneaked into a tent and ripped a mattress to shreds. Last year the marauder gobbled up a mess of fresh fruit in the tour's camp.

COAL AID PLAN DROPPED, SENATE INQUIRY ORDERED

O'Mahoney Says Program for Purchases in Distressed Areas Was Abandoned.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—Senator O'Mahoney (Dem.), Wyoming, yesterday ordered a Senate subcommittee inquiry into abandonment of a $150,000,000 program for purchase of coal in "distressed" areas for overseas use.

The program was announced a year ago by Harold Stassen, then director of the Foreign Operations Administration, as a step to relieve unemployment in the coal fields.

Under the original plan 10,000,000 tons were to be purchased in job-short coal fields for use in providing aid to underdeveloped foreign countries.

O'Mahony is chairman of a subcommittee on petroleum, coal and other fuels.

He said in a statement that since Stassen announced the program in Denver a year ago "there has been complete silence and apparently the whole thing was quietly dropped several months ago."

He added that "it was only through the insistent efforts" of Representative Mollohan (Dem.), West Virginia, and other Representatives from coal producing states "that information of the program's termination was obtained."

O'Mahoney said that in response to Mollohan's inquiries, John B. Hollister, director of the International Co-operation Administration which succeeded the FOA, "admitted" that the program had been dropped. Hollister was quoted as saying the agency had decided purchases for coal for underdeveloped countries "should not be limited to the United States or to specific geographic regions within the United States."

O'Mahoney said that "since only 1,130,000 tons of coal have been purchased under the employment relief program instead of the 10,000,000 promised by Mr. Stassen during the campaign, and since many areas . . . are still definitely in a "distress' category, it appears that the Administration never did establish much of a program.

"As chairman of a special Senate interior subcommittee on petroleum, coal and other fuels, I have assigned two members of the committee staff to obtain the whole story of the purchase and distribution of the small amount of coal that was handled."

RULES FATHER'S RED LINK DOESN'T DISQUALIFY SON

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP)—A state supreme court justice said yesterday a man is not disqualified for the police force just because his father once signed a Communist nominating petition.

Said Justice Walter A. Lynch as he ordered the police department to reconsider the application for appointment of 25-year-old Alfred Aresco: "If ever there was a case of the application of the thoroughly un-American theory of guilt by kinship, or guilt by dissent, this is a classic example."

Assistant Corporation Counsel Leon Fischel argued that Aresco's school marks and his Korean war record were factors against appointing him to the force. But Lynch said the real reason was that Aresco's father, Joseph, signed a petition to nominate a Communist for the city council in 1939—when the youth was only nine years old. The justice added: "There is no reason the son should have the mistake of the father visited upon his head."

The father, in an affidavit, said he signed the petition without knowing it was for a Communist candidate.

JAPANESE VOTE PLATFORM FOR MERGING SOCIALISTS

The meeting attached a resolution calling on the more radical Left Socialists to faithfully execute the platform as drafted. The parties are scheduled to merge at a joint convention opening Oct. 13.

Well-Dressed Burglar.

DROP IN COFFEE PRICES EXPECTED BY END OF YEAR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP) —Coffee prices should tumble before the year's end, more than erasing the recent retail price boosts which ranged up to 4 cents a pound.

This was the consensus today of trade observers here, who noted a world surplus of coffee is expected and new harvests start coming to market in November and December.

The world's exportable coffee production for the year ending next June 30 is estimated at 37,000,000 bags, compared with an expected world consumption of 30,000,000 bags. There is also a sizable carryover from last year's stocks.

Prices might break even before November, the observers said, should coffee-growing Brazil soon go ahead with a long-rumored currency devaluation which would make its coffee cheaper in terms of United States dollars.

American roasters recently increased their prices when they found themselves in a squeeze between their own low stocks, the east coast dock strikes and a shortage of Colombian coffees which are needed in most United States blends.

DRIVER RETURNS WOMAN'S $42,800, GETS ONLY THANKS

DETROIT, Sept. 29 (AP)— Truck driver Vearl Valentine was driving from Detroit to Jackson Tuesday when he saw a brown purse at the side of U.S. 12, two miles east of Ann Arbor.

He stopped his tractor-trailer, picked up the purse and there was $42,800 in large bills, held together by rubber bands and a piece of paper listing the amount of money.

As he sat with the money in his hands a woman drove up and claimed it. She said it had fallen from her car when she opened a car door while driving to close a deal "to buy a store or something."

"When I asked her to prove it was hers, she rattled off the amount of money and told me how it was wrapped," Valentine related. "Yep, it's yours," I told her.

"Then she said, 'well, thanks,' and got into her big car and drove off."

NOT GUILTY OF HIDING LOOT

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 29 (UP)—Sara Mobley Dages of Phoenix today was free of charges of receiving and concealing most of the loot taken in a $111,000 Albuquerque (N.M.) bank holdup in September 1954. A United States district court jury of seven men and five women found Mrs. Dages not guilty last night.

Her husband, Dennis Logan Dages, and Henry Rixinger, of Albuquerque, have been sentenced to 25-year terms in federal prison for the robbery. Both testified in her behalf.

FRENCH KILL 110 REBELS IN ALGERIAN ENCOUNTER

ALGIERS, Sept. 29 (UP)— French officials announced today that security forces killed 110 rebels and captured seven in a fierce action in the Constantine region.

The French also captured arms and ammunition. The action began Sept. 21 and was completed six days later.

LONDON, Sept. 29.

RUSSIAN and Czechoslovakian arms experts are expected to move into the Suez Canal Zone area with the first delivery of military equipment sold to the Egyptians.

Along with technicians who will demonstrate how to use the arms will come a number of Soviet agents to study Suez installations and promote Communist doctrine, it is feared.

The announcement by Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser that he had signed contracts to purchase arms from behind the Iron Curtain has upset the British, who are evacuating troops from the Suez Canal Zone under an agreement that they can move back if there is an international emergency.

Free Access.

Now that the Russians and Czechoslovakians will have free access to the Canal Zone, the British say they must re-examine their evacuation policy.

Nasser, in a radio address, said he had tried to buy arms from the United States but that Washington insisted on attaching too many strings involving the signing of mutual defense pacts.

France, he said, declined to sell arms unless the Egyptians stopped stirring up anti-French sentiment among the Moslems in Algeria, Tunisia and Morocco. The British, he added, were unable to deliver arms as rapidly as Egypt wanted them.

So Egypt turned to Russia and Czechoslovakia and will buy equipment on a straight business deal. Egypt will send cotton and other materials to Czechoslovakia in exchange and will use both cash and barter to buy from Russia.

The Soviets will send MIG fighter planes which Egypt says it needs to match the new Mystere jets Israel has purchased from France.

The pouring of arms into Egypt, it is feared, will upset the delicate balance between the Arab states and Israel. They are still technically at war. Washington, London and Paris agreed in 1950 to control arms sales in the area to maintain the balance.

Influence Doubtful.

It is doubted here that the statement issued in New York by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan will influence Russia in selling arms.

They said the United States and Britain were in full agreement on selling arms in the Middle East in quantities sufficient for internal security and defense. They expressed the hope that other countries, meaning Russia, would follow this same formula.

The British think it would be too much to expect the Russians to back out of the arms deal in the interest of maintaining a balance between Israel and the Arab states. The Russians have been trying to stir up trouble in the Middle East and North Africa for years. This is their big chance.

Those British members of Parliament who fought against evacuating troops from the Suez Canal Zone are saying "I told you so" to those who favored getting out.

EFFECT IN ARAB WORLD LIKELY

By WILTON WYNN

CAIRO, Sept. 29 (AP)—Communist sales of arms to Egypt can have strong propaganda impact not only in Egypt but throughout the Arab world. The ordinary Arab may easily get the impression that the Soviet bloc is the Arab's only friend against Israel.

Ever since the birth of Israel in 1948, Arabs have complained that big powers armed Israel while denying Arabs the means to defend themselves. For almost 10 years Palestine has been the chief barometer of international friendship or enmity in Arab eyes.

Egyptian Line.

It will not be surprising if public opinion in countries with parliamentary regimes like Syria and Jordan demands their governments follow the Egyptian line as a means of getting arms. "Arms from the Iron Curtain" can serve as a ready made issue for demagogues seeking to topple governments by playing on the anti-Westernism of Arab masses embittered by the Palestine debacle of 1948.

Iraq's acceptance of American arms last year was bitterly criticized in the Arab world.

It is doubtful that Egypt's dealing with Communist states means Premier Nasser prefers the Soviet bloc, or that he is leaning leftward. Heavy pressure from his own army officers probably prompted him to look for weapons from any available source. Israeli attacks this year—especially the Feb. 28 attack when 39 Egyptian soldiers were killed near Gaza—have convinced army officers Egyptian strength must be bolstered.

One is political. Nasser says he could not get arms from the West without political conditions. It is legally impossible for the United States to furnish arms aid unless Egypt signs a mutual security agreement. Determined to rid Egypt of pacts and ties with foreign powers, Nasser has refused to sign such an agreement.

Economic Reason.

The second reason is economic. To get arms without strings attached Egypt must buy them outright. United States arms are sold for dollars.

Egypt is short of dollars and would prefer trading cotton or other agricultural products. Iron Curtain countries on the other hand are eager to barter arms for cotton. Egypt has a huge surplus.

Egypt's tightly censored press has welcomed news of the arms deals as a "declaration of independence" for Egypt and a signal of neutrality between both major camps.

Maj. Gen. Hassan Ragheb, deputy under secretary in the ministry of war, is leaving this week for Czechoslovakia.

U.S. FEARS CRISIS IN MIDDLE EAST

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—The United States has the makings of a first class crisis on its hands in the Middle East, with the danger of a new Arab-Israeli war in the background.

That is why Secretary of State Dulles has sent George Allen, his assistant for Middle Eastern affairs, on an urgent mission to Cairo.

Allen has the evident task of trying to persuade Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser not to import such a volume and variety of arms from Communist Czechoslovakia as would upset the delicate power balance between the Arab states and Israel.

Geneva Spirit Violation.

Dulles is understood to have sought to impress the dangers of the situation on Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in New York. He reportedly argued that a flow of Soviet bloc arms to the Middle East now would violate the spirit of the Geneva Big Four meeting and create new tensions in the world.

Allen was prepared to warn the Egyptian government that if it brought about a radical change in the Middle East power balance the United States would be compelled to review its policies of cooperation with Egypt in the field of economic development—the current United States aid program is $43,000,000—and in policies governing world cotton supplies. The major part of Egypt's foreign income is derived from cotton exports.

At the same time Allen was in position to argue that the United States had offered to sell Egypt arms in small quantities which it was believed here would not create new Middle East tensions and enlarge the dangers of a new war in that area.

Allen left for Cairo, by way of Athens and Beirut, yesterday afternoon. In Athens he was to urge the Greek government to co-operate with Turkey in seeking to ease the dispute of the two nations over the Island of Cyprus—a source of Middle East troubles unrelated to the Egyptian arms problem.

In Beirut it was understood he would seek to dissuade Syrian leaders from joining Egypt in an arms race with Israel.

If the arms race develops as feared between Egypt, possibly Syria, and Israel, the danger of war would be gravely increased because of mounting tensions on both sides. Pressures could build up in Israel to seek a military showdown with Egypt before that country was better armed.

President Has Always Guarded His Health Zealously—Trouble Likely in Cabinet Over Policy Toward Russia.

By DREW PEARSON

(Copyright, 1955.)

WASHINGTON.

MAJ. GEN. HOWARD SNYDER has given President Eisenhower a complete physical checkup twice a year and keeps a voluminous file of every one of his medical ailments. This detailed case history was turned over to the heart specialists when they arrived in Denver.

It showed the following ailments in the past 10 or 12 years:

Bursitis of the left shoulder, inflammation of the stomach lining, intestinal disorders, which have afflicted him half a dozen times since his election. He was also laid up for four days with a severe flu attack in January 1943, during the North African campaign.

In his younger days, he picked up malaria and dysentery in the Philippines. He has had his tonsils and appendix removed. He is still troubled by a football injury to his left knee joint in 1912 and uses a special, five-pound weight to exercise the bad knee.

Always Has Guarded Health.

Mr. Eisenhower has always guarded his health zealously. He is the only President who had a special doctor attached to him even while he was in the army. He has repeatedly said it is part of the job to keep in good health. To ward off colds, he takes pills made up from Dr. Snyder's own formula. The President watches his weight and automatically goes on a diet whenever the scales show over 178 pounds. He gave up smoking six years ago, because of high blood pressure.

1. There are bound to be important differences over Russia. Secretary of State Dulles has made sour faces privately over President Eisenhower's attempt to get along with the Russians. Vice President Nixon has sided with Dulles and even made a speech which knocked down some of the "summit" good will. Nixon made his political reputation as a Russian-baiter. Men close to the President, such as as Harold Stassen, Sherman Adams and Nelson Rockefeller, who know how the President feels about the importance of peace, are certain to tangle with Dulles and Nixon.

2. There will be little chance of tax cuts. Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, though anxious for tax cuts, is determined to balance the budget and his word will be law.

3. More defense cuts. Again Humphrey is likely to have his way about cutting the defense budget further. Despite the fact that Pentagon Generals are up in arms and Senate Democrats threaten to vote the money anyway, the Treasury Secretary will probably win out in his demand for less spending.

In general, there will not be too much upheaval in the cabinet or around the White House during Mr. Eisenhower's absence. He has been away more than any recent President, and had used the general staff system of delegating authority. He once told his Joint Chiefs of Staff that he didn't want any problem brought to him until there was a unanimous opinion, and he has followed the same general system with other agencies—namely, letting them make the decisions. This was one reason why he never really understood the implications of the Dixon-Yates deal.

Ordinarily, the man who would emerge as the heir apparent to Mr. Eisenhower during his convalescence would be the Vice President, in line to fill his shoes in case of death, but political prognosticators who have already picked Nixon as the Republican nominee for 1956 forget one thing—Nixon won't be able to carry his own state of California at the G.O.P. convention in San Francisco.

The boy wonder who shot to fame on the issue of Communists-in-government made some powerful enemies in his quick climb to the top. Three of these happen to be the Governor of his state, Goodwin Knight, who will control the California delegation in 1956; the Republican Leader of the Senate, Bill Knowland, who will help Knight control it; and the Chief Justice of the United States, Earl Warren, who, while out of politics,

G.O.P. Faced With Dilemma On Convention

President's Illness Apparently Ends Prospect of Mere Jubilee.

By DORIS FLEESON

WASHINGTON.

THE Republican National Committee is scheduled to meet next January to issue the call for the 1956 GOP presidential nominating convention. Party strategists still think that date is just about right, assuming of course that the President continues his satisfactory progress toward recovery from his heart attack.

They suggest that by January everyone—the public, the politicians and the Eisenhowers—will have had time to assess the condition of the President's health and to sort out their own feelings about it. It is expected that the President will give his party a very prompt clue to his own thoughts about his future.

Men of long experience in planning national conventions see no reason why changes in GOP plans must be hurried if they are to be made. According to one of them, Republicans could probably switch to Chicago with its many hotel rooms as late as six months before meeting. This is the more true since the necessary arrangements for telephone, TV, etc. are already planned there for the Democrats.

Planned As Jubilee.

Most professionals believe, however, that when January comes Republicans are going to have to take a long hard look at their plans for a late August convention in San Francisco. That convention was planned as a mere jubilee to celebrate the unanimous renomination of the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket, with only one session a day in a hall far from the center of the city.

What the party now faces is a wide-open convention, contests between individuals and between factions for place and power, and the necessity of then closing ranks and building up sentiment for a new ticket and possibly a somewhat altered policy. To make it harder, California is already sending out stories about the three-cornered rivalry between its Governor, Goodwin Knight, its senior Senator, William F. Knowland, and a third native son, Vice President Nixon.

Going May Get Rough.

Party sources there are admitting the going will be rough if they can no longer count on Mr. Eisenhower's name on the

Train More Scientists or Fall Behind Russia, Strauss Warns

Slow Rate Can Produce 'National Calamity' a Generation From Now, He Tells Atomic Forum—Geneva Appraisal.

By GEORGE H. HALL

A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.

THE NATION had another warning today that unless it expands its training programs for scientists the United States will fall behind Soviet Russia in a few years.

The too-slow rate at which American scientists are being developed, in the view of Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission, will become a "national calamity" a generation from now, "imperiling our security and freedom in an age of expanding dependence upon science and technology."

Strauss, in a speech to the Atomic Industrial Forum, said that at the atoms-for-peace exposition in Geneva last month American scientists "were impressed by the disturbing fact that Russia appears to be training scientists and engineers at a faster rate than we are."

Strauss quoted Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, as stating that between 1950 and 1960 Russia will have graduated 1,200,000 scientists and engineers compared with about 900,000 in the United States if the present United States program is carried out without change.

Needs Only Half Filled.

Those figures would not be so important, Strauss said, if it was not known that American universities are turning out only about half the number of engineers the country requires today.

"It is the general impression among members of our delegation that on the basis of Geneva we are well ahead of all other nations in both the scope and the state of our technology in using atomic energy for peaceful purposes," Strauss said. "This, however, was to be expected since we appear to have a considerably larger program than any other country and have been engaged upon it for a longer time."

Strauss noted in this connection, however, that at least one paper delivered by a Russian bore the date 1943, indicating the Russians have been exploring the possibilities of atomic energy for peaceful purposes "for a longer time than many of us realize."

Russians revealed nothing new or startling at Geneva, Strauss went on, but what they said and did gave insight into their working methods and the caliber of their research. They appeared stronger in basic research than in practical applications, he added.

Serious Challenge.

"The fact that we appear to be ahead in the peaceful applications of atomic energy—perhaps by a scant few years — certainly offers no justification for complacency," Strauss said. "To the contrary, the situation must be regarded as a serious challenge.

"The Soviets have not outstripped nor equalled us in any peaceful application, but at the same time—and this is important—we did not show anything at Geneva which they cannot have in a few years, given the talent and zeal which we believe them to possess.

"Too many of us have been thinking of the Russians, either by education or temperament, as not quite equal to us in the technological sense. Despite the many things wrong with their political system from our point of view, let us not fall into the easy attitude of assuming that they cannot compete with us in mastering atomic energy.

"The early date at which they produced nuclear weapons should be a constant reminder of the fallacy and danger of such an attitude on our part. We can never let down our research without letting down our guard at the same moment.

Cites Paradox.

"Also, the belief that science cannot thrive under conditions designed solely to protect the security of data already in hand and deemed important to national defense would seem to be brought into question by the degree of Soviet progress.

"This progress was achieved under security provisions which are part of a complete tyranny where communication is rigidly controlled and the individual has no rights. Since we proceed under the policy of removing information from classification as rapidly as possible, the Soviet results present something of a paradox."

Strauss said the Russians presented no evidence to support statements made by Soviet officials a few years ago to the effect that while the United States was engrossed in using atomic energy to make bombs the Russians were employing it to change the course of rivers and to remove mountains.

On the other hand, he said, Russian exhibits in areas of biology, in certain industrial applications and in general instrumentation "were not unimpressive and occasionally not greatly dissimilar from our own."

Other experts, incidentally,

How Charitable Trusts Help the United Fund of Greater St. Louis

THE organization of the United Fund of Greater St. Louis represents an important milestone in civic responsibility. It unites in one fund-raising campaign the Greater St. Louis Community Chest with its 102 separate agencies and the worthy charities operating outside of the Community Chest. Instead of 14 or 15 separate fund-raising campaigns with a duplication and waste of effort, there will be one campaign with consequent economy in time and effort. Support of the United Fund campaign is recognition of community responsibility to the indigent, the handicapped, and other unfortunate citizens in the community. The campaign opens October 20 —give generously.

Support of the United Fund is everyone's job. The business community carries most of the burden, but it cannot do the job alone. If the campaign is to reach its goal, it is necessary for everyone to support it — labor, white-collar workers, and the housewife, as well as business and professional men.

Businessmen recognize an obligation to support the United Fund, educational institutions and other worthy causes, not only in prosperous years, but also in bad years. They are aware that much of the burden falls on them—upon corporations and businessmen. They realize that their ability to give is greatest in prosperous years and may be the least when the need is greatest.

In the light of these facts, many corporations and some individuals have found it desirable to establish charitable trusts and in prosperous years to put into such trusts any excess over their customary charitable contributions and the maximum amounts deductible for tax purposes. Then, if bad years follow, they may draw upon these trusts to maintain their donations at the customary level.

Supplementing current donations to charity by making additional donations to a charitable trust in prosperous years will permit a corporation, at no additional cost to stockholders, to give more generously to charity over the years than it could without the use of such a trust. It can give more at no increase in cost because it can concentrate its tax-deductible contributions in high-tax and high-profit years. Gifts to a bona fide charitable trust are deductible as charitable contributions for income tax purposes. The income from such a trust is tax-free. To obtain the tax deductions the trust must be irrevocable and the funds contributed may be used only for bona fide charitable purposes.

The creation of charitable trusts by corporations and individuals is important from the community standpoint. It tends to stabilize giving and to keep the level of corporate and individual contributions from declining in the event that their ability to give declines at the very time when the need may be greatest. In a word, it is prudent, advance planning for possible "rainy days" to come.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Invitation to Thieves

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

While there is a current intensive campaign on by the St. Louis Police Department to rid our city of major criminals, such as robbers, burglars, gangland hoodlums, it appears that little is being done to apprehend the so-called minor criminal, namely, the joy-riding auto thief.

Recently my auto was stolen, stripped, abandoned and later recovered by alert policemen, and I am grateful that it was found.

But I was shocked to learn from policemen that virtually no effort was being made toward catching the particular punks in this case, not even to the point of dusting for possible prints.

I even supplied police officers with a pocket knife that was dropped on the floor of my car by the thieves. I was informed by several police officers that the only stolen autos that are fingerprinted are those used in such crimes as robbery and murder and that a pocket knife probably would not show complete prints.

Such disinterest in these cases amounts to an open invitation to professional or amateur auto thieves who may feel confident that nothing short of an ID card will be examined.

The Truman Memoirs

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The Truman Memoirs are greatly appreciated, and I wish to personally express thanks for your farsighted decision to print the 30 articles you will give the public.

In spite of the adverse criticism of people like Reader Henry P. Flynn, published the other day, we who have enjoyed the Post-Dispatch all of our lives, know your paper is among the best in the world. I would not miss an issue. JOHN BRAUN.

As to Cyprus

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Your recent editorial justifying the continuation of colonialism in Cyprus because any change would "endanger . . . the grand alliance of the West" shows that anti-Sovietism can carry a paper like the Post-Dispatch into the camp of the supporters of imperialism.

The logic of your reasoning on Cyprus would have you support the suppression of freedom movements in colonial countries wherever this might endanger the "grand alliance of the West."

And since England, France, Holland, etc., are part of this "grand alliance," the logic of your argument on Cyprus would commit your paper to support the status quo in the colonial world.

Take Cyprus for example. From 58 B.C. until 395 A.D. it was a Roman province. Then it passed into the hands of the Byzantine emperors. For a time it was under Venetian rule and in 1571 was conquered by the Turks and ruled by the Ottoman Empire for 300 years. It was during this time that the present island's 18 per cent minority Turkish population originated.

Great Britain seized Cyprus after the Russo-Turkish War of 1877-78 which seizure was made official by the Treaty of Lausanne on July 24, 1925.

Cypriots have always opposed foreign rule and have carried on their efforts to win their independence as citizens of Greece. They are now petitioning the U.N. to recognize their independence. It may be all right for Mr. Dulles, but it ill behooves the Post-Dispatch to oppose this just claim.

WILLIAM SENTNER.

'Leave the Clocks Alone!'

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I was very much delighted over what Reader H. Ludwig had to say concerning daylight saving time. I fully agree with him that setting the clocks ahead is not nearly so unanimous as you imply.

To me it's the most foolish idea that ever hit this country and I'm surprised that those who so delight in messing with the clocks aren't wise enough to go to work an hour earlier and thereby be home an hour earlier in the evening. Abide by our God-given time and for goodness sakes, leave the clocks alone.

Mississippi Justice

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The writer, Rebecca West, has put her finger on the most dangerous aspect, from the international point of view, of the Till murder and trial: The fact that Europeans are unaware that the principals involved are, to quote Miss West, "poor, white, ignorant people" and not typical Americans.

How can the outside world be expected to view the affair with anything but shock? Even Americans with a natural affection for the charm and warmth of the South, cannot fathom the perversions of the Southern mind or even feel pity that they are based on the fear and ignorance which is so appallingly concentrated in some sections of the rural South.

An ignorant minority has tried and branded, not only itself, but also, unfortunately, the many Southerners of intelligence, character and integrity. Can there be a corner of the world where Mississippi justice is not anathema?

Kansas Holds Up a Light

Dr. William C. Menninger, here for the meeting of the Mississippi Valley Medical Society, has a great deal to tell Missouri about the care and treatment of its mentally ill, if Missouri will but listen. He and his brother, Dr. Karl Menninger, have been among the guiding spirits behind a program of treatment for the mentally ill which lifted Kansas out of the mire in which Missouri still reposes and made it a shining light of hope and humane concern.

In 1948 Kansas was just about at the bottom of the list. Topeka State, one of its three state hospitals for mental patients, had not a single psychiatrist on its staff. Two thirds of the patients who entered stayed on permanently. As Missouri still does, Kansas was giving its mentally ill little more than custodial care.

A scandal at the state mental hospitals caused the Kansas Legislature to increase the appropriation 60 per cent. The Drs. Menninger, who operate the Menninger Foundation, were called in as consultants.

The first emphasis was put on obtaining trained staffs. State mental hospitals all over the country were looking for trained people and none were available. So the Menningers established a training program, sure that a teaching hospital would act as a magnet.

Within two years, Topeka State had nine psychiatrists at work where there had been none, 23 nurses where there had been only two, and nearly double the former total of 120 attendants. A few young doctors, the vanguard, were serving psychiatric internships. Long-deferred medical care was being given to patients. Seventy-five were fitted with glasses and recommenced reading. Occupational therapists were busy. Social workers were reconnecting patients with their families, looking to an eventual return.

Impressed with the results, the Legislature voted a still larger appropriation in 1951. The people of Kansas, impressed also, voted a personalty tax to support a permanent hospital building fund. The hospitals were then removed from political patronage by the Legislature.

Kansas is spending $5 a patient day on its mental treatment, five times as much as most states are spending, and it is proving true economy, as opposed to the false economy of mere custodial care. Though more patients are entering the Kansas mental hospitals than ever before, now that treatment there is a first hope instead of a last resort, patients are being improved or cured at such a rate that the population of these hospitals has been down 7½ per cent for the last five-year period while other states were showing a 15 per cent increase.

Nationally, 40 per cent of the patients taken into state mental hospitals are discharged within the first five years and few leave after that. The consequence is that 225,000 patients have been in state mental hospitals longer than eight years—half the total. In the first three years of the Kansas program 112 patients who had been in the hospital more than eight years and had been considered incurable went home.

Four out of every five persons who enter Kansas's mental hospitals today will get well enough to leave, the Menningers estimate.

Missouri could do it too. The neglect of the mentally ill in our own state should lie like lead on the conscience of every Missourian. If the weight becomes uncomfortable enough, perhaps the Legislature and the Governor will decide that what Kansas has done is not beyond Missouri's doing as well.

Where Are They?

Communist authorities in Poland say that Cardinal Wyszynski is about to be released. According to Warsaw sources the Roman Catholic primate of Poland has been confined in a secluded monastery for two years. It will be time enough to record the release of Cardinal Wyszynski when he is again generally seen and goes about his duties as archbishop. For it will be remembered that just before the Big Four summit conference in Geneva, word went out from Hungary that Cardinal Mindszenty was being released. Some reports even said he was then free. Yet no authoritative information about the Hungarian prelate has penetrated the Iron Curtain. If the Communists really intend to release these churchmen, why do they not release them and say where and when they may be seen and talked to?

Stoking the Middle East Fires

Although the cauldron of the unsettled Middle East is not yet bubbling, there is fuel enough to send the flames leaping as a result of the Egyptian Government's arrangement to buy arms from behind the Iron Curtain. Premier Nasser must have known this even as he proclaimed the agreement with Czechoslovakia as Egypt's guarantee against aggression.

As a result of the deal for heavy armament from Soviet Russia's satellite, the West is greatly worried. Britain must be questioning the wisdom of her decision two years ago when she began pulling troops out in an evacuation of the Suez Canal Zone. France, suspicious over indications that Egypt has been stirring up anti-French sentiment in Algeria, Tunisia and Morocco, will be more suspicious of a stronger Egypt. The United States, long fearful of Communist infiltration throughout the Middle East, now sees Moscow about to gain a strong foothold for unlimited trouble-making.

Israel, still nervously on the qui vive following the bloody Gaza skirmishes with Egypt a month ago, may be expected to take great alarm. Surrounded by enemies and strung out in a dumbbell shape, 350 miles long with a mere 10-mile-wide waist between the big knobs at each end, she lies in a highly vulnerable position.

The worst that could happen would be the flaring up of tempers leading to war. And as matters now stand they are bad enough with the arms deal giving the Communists an entree that they have not had in Egypt. The supplying of Iron Curtain weapons means that weapons technicians and military advisers from behind the Iron Curtain will swarm into Egypt.

As a way out, there is the chance that Secretary of State Dulles's proposal of a month ago could be successfully renewed now. He promised that if Israel and the Arab states would agree on firm boundaries, the Eisenhower Administration would guarantee them and help with the economic and refugee problems.

Since Premier Nasser asserts he is interested in big-scale rearmament only as a guarantee of safety from aggression, the Dulles proposal would give him even better safety than he professes to see in the deal with Czechoslovakia. He would do better to accept that proposal than to open his country to the flocks of Communist agents who will accompany the arms orders.

Israel, faced with hostile neighbors and an arms race, certainly should see the wisdom of Mr. Dulles's proposal. If Mr. Dulles will renew his proposal it may be that the world will have the satisfaction of seeing it accepted and a war averted. If the situation that now is developing is permitted to go on, the danger to the whole world of another war is magnified beyond present comprehension.

The County Bond Issue on View

St. Louis county has finally cut its proposed bond issue down to workable size and prepared it for the voters on Nov. 22.

The total of $39,711,839 is some $16,000,000 less than the bond issue recommended by the first screening committee, and $40,000,000 less than the sum of all the projects which that committee had under consideration. As approved by the County Council, this bond issue is down to the approximate scope of the proposal for which county voters failed to muster a two-thirds vote in 1954.

In suggesting the new total, the Bond Issue Executive Campaign Committee exercised restraint. The committee cut out a proposal for a new county police building when the police superintendent said his department had not decided that it wanted a grandiose central headquarters. It eliminated a civil courts building when a committee member suggested the building might be built with revenue bonds financed through rents.

In short, the committee tried to establish a bond issue based on a sound list of priorities, and every voter undoubtedly will have his own idea about these priorities.

There should be little question, in our opinion, about the $8,500,000 item for expressways. The county would get a 10-to-1 return on its investment in federal-state road aid, and would also get traffic arteries which were needed five years ago. Expressways have top priority.

Eighty-seven per cent of the bond issue would be spent for road improvements. A good case can be made for the $16,100,000 for a county inner-belt route, for it is as difficult to drive through the county as it is to drive downtown.

The largest single item proposes $9,836,839 for supplementary road projects. Some of these are needed more than others, and a number certainly might be financed by municipalities rather than by the county, but this proposal seems designed to offer something to everybody.

High priority, we think, should be given to the $800,000 children's welfare center and detention home, the $1,500,000 for hospital and health center expansion, and the $675,000 for more voting machines. If the county government does not provide sound health and welfare services, nobody will. And voters already have approved voting machines.

In addition, the bond issue contains a $100,000 item for civil defense. And the park proposal was reduced to $2,200,000 which would be spent, not for big parks for the use of all county residents, but for 100 local playgrounds and small parks. The question here is whether these might not also be built by the municipalities.

This bond issue offers St. Louis county its first real opportunity to tailor its civic progress to its fast population growth. All of the items in it are needed. The question of priorities should command discriminating attention from voters between now and Nov. 22.

Better By the Day

Bulletins from the Army hospital in Denver are increasingly reassuring. The gist of them is that the President is making good progress in the wake of his heart attack last Friday. He is spending less time under oxygen, he is eating and he is getting along without narcotics.

All this is the best of news. The country has a mighty warm spot in its heart for Dwight D. Eisenhower and its first thought for him on Saturday was that he might recover fully and as soon as possible. Apparently the prospects grow better by the day. The people may now reasonably look forward to a period of convalescence for Mr. Eisenhower in which danger will be no immediate threat if he follows—as he undoubtedly will—the best medical advice.

Among the countless messages that have gone to the President that from Marshal Zhukov, the President's wartime soldier friend, stands out. Said the Soviet Defense Minister:

> Having been on vacation from Moscow, I just now learned of your illness and received this news with deepest feelings of sorrow. With all our hearts, my family and I wish you a speedy recovery and a long life.

Here is one subject on which a high official of the Kremlin and the American people can agree without reservation of any kind. Indirectly this situation may turn out to be a contribution to peace and if it is, that should be a consoling thought to the convalescent in Denver.

From Our River Correspondent

Old prints of the St. Louis levee show the gingerbread steamboats packed along the wharf. Some of the accounts of the last century even speak of our riverfront as being lined with packets "three boats deep."

At one spot, boats were three deep Wednesday and everyone who noted the sight must have thought that the old days had come again to the levee at least momentarily. Reading from the wharf toward midstream the boats were:

First, "The Goldenrod," well-known to St. Louisans as the showboat home of Capt. Billy Menke and his troupe of mellerdrama players.

Second, "The Illinois" (tied up alongside "The Goldenrod"), former Federal Barge Line boat, built about 30 years ago at Stillwater, Minn., and recently acquired by Capt. Menke as an "investment."

Third, "The Mississippi" (docked alongside "The Illinois"), a 35-year-old sternwheeler, built at Jeffersonville, Ind., used for many years as a lighthouse boat and now a river commission craft carrying Army Engineers out of Memphis.

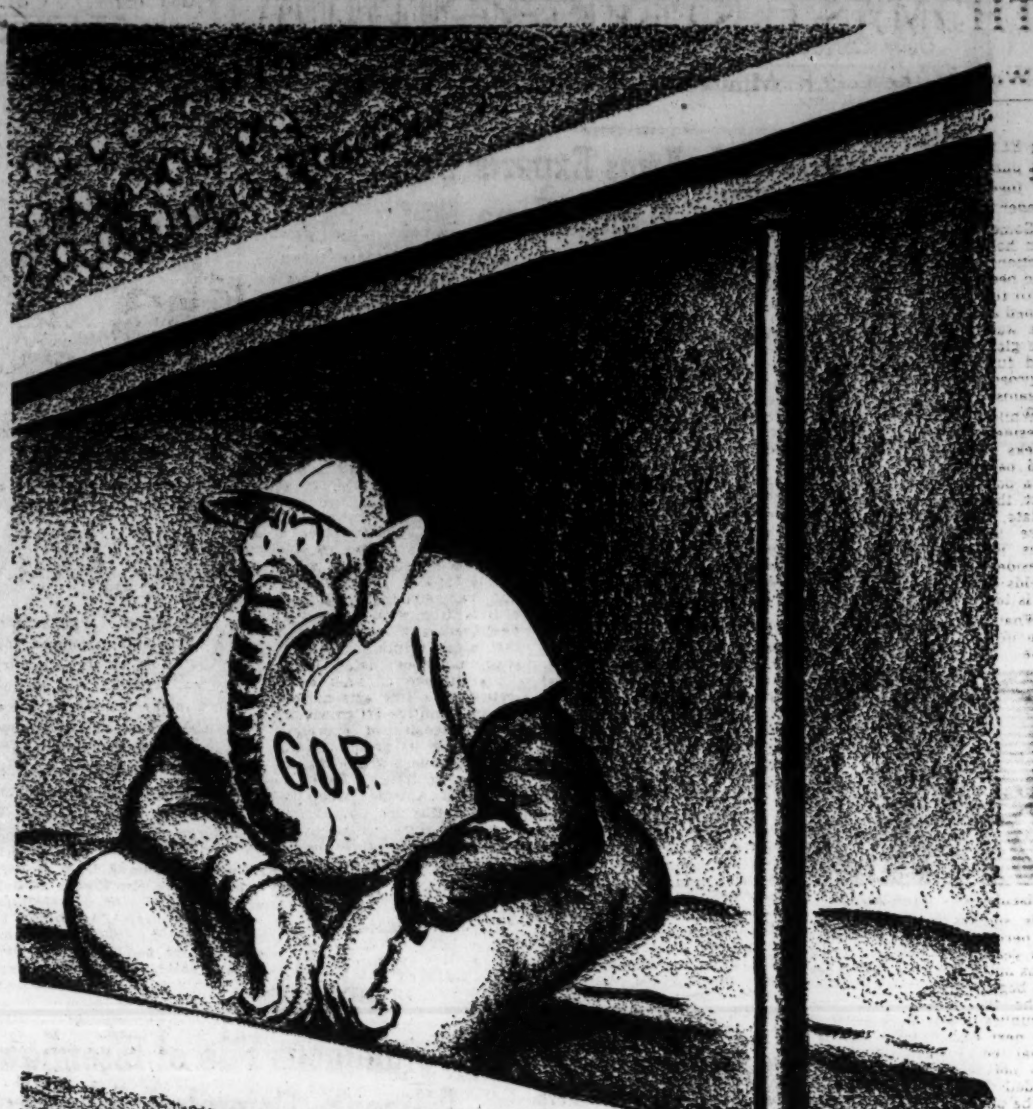

Steamboats three deep just south of Eads Bridge would not have been much of a thrill for young Sam Clemens, but on Sept. 28, 1955, it was a sight to delight an Irvin Cobb, Ben Lucien Burman or Richard Bissell—or anyone else who has ever done "a stretch on the river."

For the Children

Fluoridation of the municipal water supply is one of the most important public health advances achieved in St. Louis since enactment of the anti-smoke ordinance. As a consequence, needless dental decay will be prevented in all the city's children, not merely in those whose parents could afford the specialized costly treatment which otherwise would be necessary.

Congratulations are in order for Mayor Tucker and the medical and dental experts whose advice he followed in recommending the use of this twentieth century technique in St. Louis. Even more, congratulations are in order for those farsighted members of the Board of Aldermen who ignored the scare cries of the ill-informed or those with a vested interest and authorized this significant step forward.

As a result, St. Louis is a better place in which to live and raise children. The aldermen can take pride in their part in making it so.

What to Do About Hogs?

The Mirror of Public Opinion

They will soon be flooding to market in greater numbers, and U.S. probably cannot buy enough to keep prices up; Iowa paper urges direct payments to producers through meat packers, argues that drifting prices penalize farmer for productivity.

An Editorial in The Des Moines Register

Hog producers will be encouraged by Secretary of Agriculture Benson's statement that he has ordered action "to improve the hog price situation."

However, the action contemplated appears to be for the Government to buy pork for school lunch and welfare distribution, and it is doubtful that enough can be done in this way to materially help hog producers during the coming heavy marketing season.

Marketings of hogs during the rest of this year probably will be 10 to 12 per cent larger than in the same period a year ago, according to the Department of Agriculture. It would take government purchases of pork far above the amount which could be distributed through school lunch and welfare programs to appreciably raise hog prices.

Secretary Benson

This would require heavy storage of pork and the risk of considerable waste. It would be an administrative nightmare.

We think Secretary Benson is well advised to steer clear of such a pork-buying operation. He is now waiting for advice from a hog industry committee before deciding what to do.

The sensible alternative to pork buying by the Government is not now available to the Secretary of Agriculture. This would be a direct payment to hog producers. The Government could pay this subsidy to meat packing companies which could in turn pass it along to farmers.

Meat prices would be allowed to seek their own level in the market so that the meat would all be consumed and excessive storage would not be built up.

But it would take action by Congress to make such a program possible. Legislation permitting such payments was on the books in the Hope-Aiken act of 1948. It was later removed—at least the law was changed so that the authority for direct payments is now ambiguous.

Neither former Secretary Brannan nor Secretary Benson has been willing to undertake direct payments without further authorization from Congress.

Such authority has been granted and is being used in the case of wool. Is there any good reason why this method of support should not be available to hog producers? So long as the decision has been made to protect hog raisers against a severe decline in prices, why not use the most economical method?

Secretary Benson and his Democratic opponents are busy charging each other with blame for the drop in prices of farm products during the last several years. The real "villain" is not the Democratic party nor the Republican party but the tendency of farm production to grow faster than consumer demand and exports.

This brilliant production performance of American farmers is a "villain" only because ways have not been found to let farmers benefit fully from their own productivity. The American consuming public has received the lion's share of the benefit from agriculture's splendid production in recent years. Food is cheaper in relation to consumers' incomes than ever before.

But farmers are in trouble. Their prices continue to drift downward while costs remain high. Larger total food production means less net income for farmers.

The long run solution to this problem, of course, is for farm families to leave farming and move to the cities. They are doing this at a rapid rate—but not fast enough to offset the drop in net farm income. And this kind of adjustment is not an easy or a cheap adjustment for farm people to make.

Society as a whole has an obligation to shield farm families from bearing the whole burden of this necessary adjustment. Agriculture should not have to pay a penalty for doing a superb production job. Productivity should be a blessing not a curse.

Is British Baseball Cricket?

From The Christian Science Monitor

There's a new wrinkle—or should we say crease?—in Anglo-American relations. English boys can make better baseball players than American boys! Not only can, but in Britain's "Little League" they have.

This British edition of the Little League is mainly composed of sons of American G.I.s stationed in Britain. Among the league's teams is one made up of English boys. It is sponsored by an American squadron. And this team, say reports from England, dominates the league, finding baseball even more to its members' taste than cricket.

Probably the first reaction of Americans to this will be that it shouldn't happen to baseball. But, as every Briton knows, it is part of the price of world leadership to have one's national pastimes taken over and sometimes improved upon by other peoples. With a quarter of the world and several races playing cricket, Britons have got used to the idea that a prideful sense of national superiority often goeth before an "over" is over.

Just as cricket has proved a successful missionary for British ways of life, so it appears baseball is winning new friends for American ways. It may be disconcerting to Americans to see their national game so easily mastered by youngsters who seemed to have no more brilliant future than to grow up into white-flanneled batsmen and bowlers. But surely they will find some recompense in hearing these potential young cricketers declaring that baseball is the better game!

Atom and the Workaday World

From the Philadelphia Bulletin

The Franklin Institute laboratories, at the request of the city, the Philadelphia Electric Co. and the Philadelphia Gas Works division of the United Gas Improvement Co., have been experimenting with a method for tracking down weak spots in subsurface sewers and pipes by measuring the strength of impulses from radioactive material passed through them. If the weak spots can be thus discovered, it will be possible to make repairs to forestall cave-ins or gas explosions.

The new job is not as dramatic as a bomb, nor as revolutionary as an atomic power station. But even the atom, it seems, will have to accept the fact that life is not all fireworks and excitement. There are dull but important jobs to be done in the sewers, too, and the atom might as well begin shouldering its share of the dirty work.

Escape Into Life

Peter Greave was 37 years old when he came one day in September 1947, to St. Albans, England, out of India, where he had spent 25 years. It was a home for such as he, for his body was tarnished by an evil and secret disease. He was a leper. It was a place of hope for lepers who had not lost hope, but for him it was a place of despair because he had no hope, a hiding place into which he could drag his crippled body and wait for death, but he found there not death but life, peace and hope and content.

The doctors gave him a new treatment. They called it diosone. It was claimed to be a drug that would defeat the ancient foe. Not that Peter Greave had faith in it. He took it because there was nothing else that he could do. For eight years there had been no concealment for the disease that had fastened upon him and he had been a hunted and haunted creature not far removed from madness.

* * *

Now gradually he had at least begun to gain confidence and St. Albans was coming to be accepted as a haven of hope, not the prison house that it had seemed at first. He was released from the chain of fear that bound him. He was becoming more and more at home with another dimension, the strange unknown dimension of the spirit.

The day came when Sister Jane relaxed from her professional rigidity and smiled at him.

"This is important news for you," she said. She held in her hand the reports on his last two tests. "It's good news," she said, beaming, "very good news. They were both negative. If you go on at this rate, you won't be with us much longer." It was the first miracle.

Then, on a bright morning, Peter Greave walked in the orchard and was terrified because he was passing an open portal into a new world that he was not ready to face. Like a child in the dark he cried for comfort and clung to the shape of familiar things. He had been battered so much that he couldn't take it any more. Redemption was new. It wore a strange face. "O God," he prayed, "let me stay as I am."

* * *

From the Sisters' Chapel came the murmur of voices. The voices died away and left him with a sense of loss. Something drew him into the porch. He pushed open the iron-studded door. As he knelt in the quiet chapel, his head bent into his hands, there came to him a deep sense of peace. Past and future had merged into an eternal present. In a flash he saw that the most he could do was to follow with faith and courage the road chosen for him and be brought to the very haven that he had searched for in vain, for the mystery of man's destiny was more subtle and beautiful in its terror than he could hope to understand. That was the second miracle.

Fully recovered, Peter Greave now lives happily with his wife in an English country town. He has told the story of his redemption with simplicity and sincerity in a style that, in its clarity and beauty, might be called the third miracle.

Marvels of Behavior

THE STRANGE WORLD OF NATURE, by Bernard Gooch. (Crowell, $3.)

The life patterns of the small creatures we see every day are things of wonder if we but stopped to observe them. Mr. Gooch, an English naturalist, sees marvels of behavior merely by opening his door or looking out of his window. In this charming little book he notes, for example, the curious courtship of the common house sparrow or the surprising speed with which an earthworm is able to vanish underground at the first hint of danger. He discusses fear among animals and shows how briefly animals maintain a state of alarm. Mr. Gooch is a graceful interpreter of common but seldom understood vagaries of animal behavior. Joan Hassall provides attractive illustrations.

Woes of the G.O.P. Minus Eisenhower

WASHINGTON.

SELDOM has a political party faced such a discouraging puzzle as the Republican party seems to face to pull itself together and find someone to replace its President as party leader and candidate next year.

Someone, necessarily, who can hold together the dissident factions which, in truth, no one had been able to do for 20 years until the popular war hero happened along fortuitously to melt the warring elements down by the glow of his own personality and fuse them into something approaching a unified political organism.

While it is presumed that the President will be able in a few weeks to function as President and party leader, and thus be in a position to help, if not direct, the search for a 1956 candidate, nevertheless he will have lost one valuable asset. This is the power that any President and party leader wields so long as it is known he is to continue as boss.

What the party is short of also in meeting its dilemma is time. After a defeat at the polls, such as both parties suffer periodically, there is always four years ahead—more it often turns out—to pick up the pieces and begin over.

The time available for the Republican party between now and next August, when the national convention will meet, may not be enough to do the needed job of recovery, and yet be plenty of time for things to get badly fouled up in the melee of conflicting ambitions and divergent philosophies.

It has been recognized generally since the President's attack how much the party is the victim of its own one-track course—the absolute reliance upon the "indispensable man"—and how right the President, himself, was when he warned about such a course as long as a year ago.

Now the party has got to rely upon itself, with the frank confession to itself that, for one thing, it is still weaker as a party than the Democratic party, and that it did not win the 1952 election on its own but only because it had the luck to get such a man as President Eisenhower to carry its banner.

Gen. Eisenhower was a fresh new figure in politics introduced from the outside world, with no previous political or party connections. No other such as he, with his pulling power, can be seen by the Republicans as they now reluctantly scan the horizon. Nor, indeed, when they turn their glance inward, can they spot anyone who looks, just offhand, like the world-beater who might carry a minority party to victory on his back.

Yet the politicians have got the job to do, and within the party. It is quite a test—of the two-party system as well as of this party.

In three figures from California high in party prestige and in the Government we may see the Republican picture symbolized.

Upon Vice President Nixon falls the immediate task of organizing what might be called the interregnum and keeping the party factions from flying apart. He wasted no time in stepping into the breach. He may be able to build himself up as the heir, and that, naturally will be his aim.

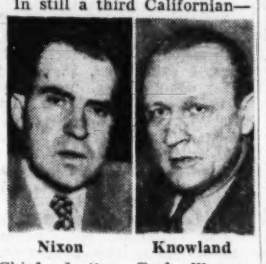

From his position as stand-in for the President, which he has long enjoyed, the Vice President has had the experience of trying to please all factions of the party, and so has become expert at compromise, including his own views.

His handicaps are jealousies in his own party, bitter feeling against him among Democratic leaders with whom he would have to work in Congress, and doubt about how he stands with the public at large.

In another Californian, Senator William F. Knowland who also is ambitious for the White House, we have the symbol of another element in the party situation—the large and influential faction, now quiescent but still extant, that once rallied about the late Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Senator Knowland is its representative highest in rank here and occupies Senator Taft's one-time position of Senate party leader. Will the old Taft faction revive and rally about Senator Knowland to muddle up the party situation generally and Vice President Nixon in particular?

In still a third Californian—

Nixon Knowland

Chief Justice Earl Warren, three-times Governor, a 1944 Vice Presidential candidate, a candidate for the 1952 nomination—the party has the man the Eisenhower wing of the party thinks would be the candidate with the best chance to beat the Democrats next year.

There are blocks here, however. The Chief Justice declared himself out formally in a rare public statement from the bench a few weeks ago when he placed first in a Gallup Poll in which voters were sampled as to their preference for a Republican candidate if President Eisenhower was not the candidate.

For another thing, Warren is persona non grata to many party regulars because of the liberalism of his views and his disinclination when Governor for "team-play" with the regular G.O.P. organization in California. And finally he is only six months younger than the President, being 64 last March.

CITY MUSEUM SHOWS NEW ABORIGINAL ART

100 Gifts, Numerous Purchases Announced, Displayed for First Time.

By HOWARD DERRICKSON

City Art Museum Director Charles Nagel and members of his staff today were completing installation of a new permanent exhibition of primitive and aboriginal art, 35 per cent larger than the old.

In the collection are numerous recent purchases totaling $6000 in cost and gifts worth several times this amount. The pieces range in origin from Africa to the South Pacific but share elemental force and directness.

Few of these acquisitions had been publicly displayed or announced by the museum. They have been added over a period of the last six years, and two strikingly decorated objects from New Ireland are described and reproduced in the latest edition of the museum handbook, dated 1953.

Significance of such a collection in a fine arts museum lies in primitive art's own dramatic intensity of expression and also in its profound influence on modern Western painting and sculpture. Pablo Picasso and Amedeo Modigliani derived ideas from native African sculpture. Emil Nolde and Max Pechstein, German expressionists, became so enamored of the art of the Pacific that they lived a year in the South Seas.

15 Built-in Cases Added

St. Louis's expanded collection of this indigenous art is being arranged in 15 lighted, built-in display cases in the lowe.-floor gallery that serves as entrance hall to the new museum restaurant. Objects have been installed in 12 of the cases so far.

Costs of remodeling the gallery have been met out of the 11-year-old $2,0,000 museum-improvement bond issue, which also provided funds for construction of the new restaurant and other recent museum additions.

J. Lionberger Davis, St. Louis philanthropist whose benefactions have built up numerous other permanent collections of the museum, is the donor of 63 primitive objects in virtually all mediums. His latest group of gifts, all in an apparently perfect state of preservation, is especially rich in representation of various Peruvian cultures and contains Mexican and Central American objects as well.

Two Davis Gifts Described.

Outstanding Davis gifts range from a delicately stylized gold llama, dating from the Inca period (1438-1532) and standing less than two and half inches high, to a large effigy jug of clay on which a powerful portrait is modeled with astonishing realism. This dates from the Mochica culture, about 400 to 1000 A. D.

From Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Shoenberg of St. Louis come two African statuettes of the Bakota culture, first of their kind to enter the public collection. Such work influenced the pioneers of modern art.

Maj. Gen. Leif J. Sverdrup of St. Louis has given 26 examples of Oceanic ceremonial art and decorated weapons. Among these are many vicious-looking axes, arrows and spears. A Samoan tapta cloth hanging, stamped and painted in sepia with geometric designs, is the gift of Mrs. Oscar Marx of St. Louis.

Among other donors are Miss Martha Love of St. Louis and Allan Gerdau of New York, who presented the museum with pottery and sculpture of different Meixican cultures.

RARE ORCHID TO BE IN BOUQUET OF V.P. QUEEN

A rare species of tiger orchid from Guatamala, produced for the first time by the Missouri Botanical Gardens, will be included in the bouquet of more than 400 blooms which the new Veiled Prophet Queen will carry during her coronation at the annual ball next Tuesday night at Kiel Auditorium.

George Pring, superintendent of the gardens, said the plant was brought to bloom through the use of new cooling equipment at the Cymbidium house at Gray's Summit. Known as the "Odont Oglossum Grande," the flower is of the spike rather than the spray type. It is gold in color, striped with dark orange.

The bouquet will be on display on Wednesday, the day after the ball, in the floral display house of the gardens, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The new Queen will again carry it that night when she appears in the Veiled Prophet parade.

Ill for Three Years.

Mr. Stix, 76 years old, died last night at Barnes Hospital. He underwent an operation 10 days ago, and had been ill since suffering a heart atack three years ago.

In 1916 he became president of the dry goods firm and held that position until last February. At that time the family sold its interests in Rice-Stix to the Reliance Manufacturing Co. of New York, because it became apparent that the New York firm had gained control through purchase of stock.

Shortly after Reliance acquired control of Rice-Stix, Reliance was acquired by Safie Bros. Co., Inc., also of New York and Rice-Stix became a subsidiary of Safie.

Active in Civic Affairs.

Until his illness, he was active in civic business affairs. He was one of the leaders here during National Recovery Administration days in the 1930s in advising the Administration on local business affairs. He was a member of the board of directors of the Mercantile Trust Co.

Mr. Stix, one of its original incorporators of the Municipal Opera Association, had served since 1929 as a director of the Washington University Corporation, governing body of the university. # STOCK TRADE CLOSES WITH MODEST LOSS

No Selling Pressure Present at Any Time—Start Is Higher.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP)—The stock market subsided to a lower close today after a promising start.

The decline was modest, and there was no selling pressure present at any time. If the tapering off in volume is any indication, brokers and their customers paid more attention to the World Series than to the business at hand.

Most price changes covered a range of 2 points lower to 1 higher, but there were a handful of exceptions.

The railroads were higher throughout the bulk of the session, but they finally closed lower when a few key stocks dropped back.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 90 cents at $174.10. In the two previous days of recovery the average gained $4.90. The big Monday break subtracted $11.40 from the average. The industrial component today was down $2.10, rails were off 30 cents, while utilities remained unchanged.

There were only 1170 individual issues traded — 67 less than yesterday — of which 421 advanced and 509 declined with 19 new highs and 7 new lows for the year scored.

Volume came to only 2,560,000 as compared with 3,780,000 shares traded in yesterday's strong market.

(Dow-Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was 468.68, off 3.93 points at the close, the 20 rails were down .06 at 155.45 and the 15 utilities 63.57, down .25.)

Business was at a good pace until the World Series got under way. Then there was a noticeable slackening.

The market started higher but changed direction frequently during the day while holding within a relatively narrow range.

The session gave promise of being the third straight day of recovery following the drastic break that came Monday on the heels of news that President Eisenhower had been stricken with a heart attack.

Railroads were a bright spot. In the swing ahead after the Monday break, the rails were laggard. Bullish brokers hoped they would make up for lost time with a sizable rally.

There were many lively individual issues throughout the day with good plus signs that included a couple of drug concerns, and some steels, motors and aircrafts. Most divisions were mixed to lower.

Among higher stocks at one time were Loew's, Pan American Airways, Northern Pacific, Southern Railway, New York Central, American Telephone, Merck, Pfizer, North American Aviation, Chrysler, and Youngstown Sheet & Tube.

INSTITUTIONAL INVESTOR IN WALL STREET

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP).

SHARP BREAKS and brisk rallies in stock prices since President Eisenhower's illness swing the spotlight again on the role of the institutional buyer and seller of stocks.

Does he steady the market? Or does he have a part in making price swings more violent?

Sam Dawson

The volume of shares the institutional investors buy or sell daily has spurted 60 per cent in the last three years, the New York Stock Exchange reports today. And 39 per cent of institutional trading volume is in blocks of 1000 or more shares.

Institutional investors include: Pension funds, life, fire and casualty insurance companies, mutual savings banks, mutual funds, personal trusts, estates, guardianships, investment clubs, educational institutions, religious foundations and profit sharing plans.

TRADERS WATCHING THIS WEEK'S nervous market have been asking: What are the institutions doing? These have many of the largest holdings of stocks. And when they enter the market it's news.

A Senate subcommittee is eyeing the general role of the institutional investor in the stock market. It is asking if the persistent and voracious demand for stocks by the growing investment funds has exerted an inflationary pressure on stock prices during the bull market. The Senators wonder if by buying so many stocks and putting them in bank boxes, the institutions have made the market thin—and therefore subject to wide price swings because fewer stocks are left for others to trade in. Some Senators have asked if, in time, institutional holdings will grow so large that control of corporations will pass out of individual hands. The institutions deny or minimize all of these contentions. They point out that because they neither rush in rashly to buy nor panic easily and sell, they are a stabilizing influence on the market.

"THE STOCK EXCHANGE IS USUALLY regarded as a market place primarily for individual members of the public" notes its president, Keith Funston. He adds that this is largely still true. But he says a study by the exchange spells out the growing importance of institutional investors in the market. This study is one of a series by the exchange at irregular intervals since 1952 showing amounts of purchases and sales by each type of investor. The total number of shares bought and sold on the two days chosen for the last survey—June 8 and 15 of this year—was 13,580,900. Detailed reports were received on 12,083,000 of these, and 1,054,000 were bought or sold by institutions, excluding trading by commercial banks and trust companies. In two days selected in September, 1952, institutional trading accounted for considerably less—730,600 shares.

THE TREND, HOWEVER, ISN'T GENERAL among the types of institutions. Life insurance companies, for example, traded in 17,600 shares in the two days, rising to 56,100 shares in the two days last June—a striking gain. Mutual funds, on the other hand, traded in 223,400 shares in the earlier period, dropping to 194,300 in the latest period.

Funston notes that despite the increased interest of the life insurance companies in corporate securities, two thirds of all institutional share volume is for the portfolios of personal trust funds, mutual funds, estates, pension funds, closed-end investment companies and investment clubs.

Trusts and estates are more important as sellers than as buyers. Pension funds account for a much larger percentage of total purchases than they do of sales.

GARAGE MEN OBJECT TO LIE TEST, WON'T VIEW SUSPECT

James Riley, manager, and Charles Hahne, an employe of England's Auto Service, 805 Exchange avenue, East St. Louis, refused to view a police suspect because they resented the police demand that they take a lie-detector test on the results, they said today.

Riley and Hahne were to look at Kenneth Berresheim, who is suspected of being one of five armed men who seized an automobile from the garage Sept. 17. Riley said they had seen pictures of Berresheim and failed to identify him as one of the men. Earlier they failed to identify Tony DiMartino, who also was a suspect. DiMartino is manager of Frank (Buster) Wortman's Terrace Lounge in East St. Louis.

"We would have been glad to look at Berresheim," Riley said, "but when the police wanted to give us a lie-detector test after ards, we refused. We're not liars and we don't like anyone to think we are."

FARMERS CLUB TO BACK MID-AMERICA EXPOSITION

The Farmers Club of St. Louis, an organization of 300 business men who have farms, pledged "all-out support" yesterday to the Mid-America Jubilee Exposition on which will be held next September under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of Metropolitan St. Louis.

At a meeting at Hotel DeSoto, the club received an outline of agricultural aspects of the riverfront exposition from Roscoe M. Hobbs, president and Stanley M. Richman, executive vice president of City-Country Cavalcade Inc., the organization sponsoring the event. One attraction will be a model farm, it was said.

Elmer N. Widen, president of the Farmers Club, made the pledge of support. The club is affiliated with the department of trade development and agriculture of the metropolitan Chamber of Commerce.

FINED $500 FOR LATE TAX PAYMENT ON LEWD SHOW

Lloyd G. Weston, promoter of a lewd "stag" show in Maxville, Mo., Nov. 14, 1952, was fined $500 today by United States District Judge Rubey M. Hulen after he was found guilty by the judge of failing to make a timely return and payment of the federal amusement tax on the show.

The evidence showed that Weston made his return about one year after its due date of Dec. 31, 1952, paying 20 per cent of the admission receipts or $159.

A similar charge against Meredith Weston, son of Lloyd Weston, was dismissed on motion by defense counsel. Meredith Weston was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $500 Feb. 25, 1933, at Union, Mo., on a charge of presenting lewd motion pictures. The Westons gave an address in the 3000 block of Minnesota avenue.

HURRICANE HITS MEXICAN COAST NEAR VERACRUZ

Janet Seems Likely to Miss Most Populous Areas, Break Up in Mountains.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 29 (AP)—The Weather Bureau announced that Hurricane Janet, which has already taken 350 to 400 lives, struck the Mexican gulf coast today, a little north of Veracruz.

It said winds of 119 miles an hour blew along the coast at daybreak, with the eye of the storm not due for several more hours. The bureau said 16 inches of rain had fallen in 12 hours, but that the apparent course of the year's tenth hurricane will miss major populated areas. The region north of Veracruz is sparsely populated.

The United States Weather Bureau at Miami reported Janet nearly at a standstill at midmorning, suggesting a possible change in direction.

The Weather Bureau at New Orleans said in its midmorning advisory that Janet was centered about 40 miles east of Nautla, a tropical seaport 100 miles north of Veracruz. The advisory said the indications were that Janet would break up over the mountains tonight, after moving inland. High tides and torrential rains were forecast, with rough seas as far away as Port O'Connor, Tex.

Unusual precautions were taken at cities and towns along a 400-mile strip of Mexico's eastern coast, particularly at Veracruz, a major port of 120,000 population.

The storm was so widespread the Mexican weather bureau said it would be felt from north of Tampico, in Mexico's northernmost state, to the Guatemalan border.

Tampico, struggling out of the disaster and debris of two previous hurricanes and a record flood, braced for new blows. The waterlogged oil port of 110,000 reported an outbreak of typhoid yesterday.

Janet already had taken an estimated 200 lives in the Caribbean area, and probably 150 or more in the Yucatan peninsula which it slashed with 115-mile winds yesterday, leveling three towns.

Amateur radio operators in New Orleans picked up reports from Corozal, British Honduras, that 18 persons had been killed. The Rev. Philip Pick, a priest, radioed that preliminary reports showed 11 persons had been killed in Corozal, a town of 2000, and seven others in nearby communities.

Meanwhile, the United States Navy kept a full search for a hurricane hunter plane that vanished Monday morning after flying into the storm. Eleven men were aboard the two-engined Lockheed Neptune.

At Miami, a Navy spokesman said, "We haven't found one thing to indicate what happened to the plane."

(The United Press said the Weather Bureau in Miami reported that it is watching an easterly wave near Puerto Rico to see if Hurricane Katy is in the making. Hurricanes are often born in the "easterly wave" disturbances but many times they wash out in rain and squally weather.)

Appeals for Aid to British Honduras Received Here.

Appeals for aid from Catholic missions in British Honduras, damaged by hurricane Janet, were received here yesterday by the Rev. Vincent Erbacher S.J., at the Catholic Educational Institute, 4511 West Pine boulevard.

The messages were picked up by amateur radio operators in Deer Park, O., and Omaha, Neb., and transmitted to Father Erbacher. The reports indicated missions in the northern part of the country suffered extensive flood damage following the storm.

Versatile Floridian.

BROOKSVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Monroe W. Treiman is a county judge and also—he's a graduate agricultural engineer, operates a big-time orchid-raising business and helps manage his family's 1500-acre ranch with its herd of 400 short-horn cattle.

has a way of making his views known back in his home state. These three have no reason to love Nixon.

Remembrance of 1952.

Knowland and Warren in particular remember all too vividly how, at the Chicago convention in 1952, Knowland was approached by Senator Taft with the proposal that Knowland be nominated for Vice President on the Taft ticket in return for switching California's bloc of delegates to Taft. If Knowland had accepted, he would be President today, for Taft would have been elected and Taft is now dead.

Knowland did not accept. He stood fast behind his old friend, Warren, the Governor of California.

Nixon, who had been vociferous in his public avowals of loyalty to Warren, was busy behind the scenes trying to scuttle him; and on the belief that he could deliver the California delegation, Nixon got the No. 2 spot on the Eisenhower ticket. Nixon, in the end, didn't deliver. He couldn't. But he got the No. 2 spot anyway, and is now Vice President of the United States.

The Californians whom he double-crossed will never forget or forgive; and Gov. Goodwin Knight, himself a contender for the presidential nomination, is in their camp today.

ticket to keep peace among the warring factions. A very much longer and more difficult convention than the one originally planned, that would leave scars to be patched up in a short time, would almost seem a certainty.

It is no wonder that as they look ahead, many Republicans are showing themselves loath to believe that the President cannot head the ticket.

National Chairman Leonard Hall is not in hiding; he is keeping his engagements and talking to reporters as they find him. All full-dress press conferences and official gatherings of prominent Republicans are being avoided, however. The lid has been put on conversation and speculation as much as possible. But many private conversations are taking place and the news will soon reflect the direction they are taking.

ALEXIS JOHNSON MAKING TRIP TO PRAGUE EMBASSY

GENEVA, Sept. 29 (AP)—U. Alexis Johnson, United States Ambassador to Czechoslovakia who has been negotiating here for the past two months with a Communist Chinese envoy, left with his wife by automobile for Prague today.

An American spokesman said Johnson was returning briefly to Prague to deal with "routine embassy business." He is expected back in Geneva for his next meeting with Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-nan, scheduled Oct. 5.

HIS FLEA CIRCUS STOLEN, BRITON IS ITCHING FOR THIEF

LONDON, Sept. 29 (AP) — Someone has stolen the flea circus of Maurice Cheepen, manager of the Troxy movie house at suburban Stepney.

Cheepen put his miniature performers on display in the lobby to advertise a coming circus film. Overnight they disappeared.

"You've no idea how hard it is to find a nice juicy flea in London these days," he said. "I've even offered a bob but had no takers.

U.S. MUST TRAIN MORE SCIENTISTS, STRAUSS ASSERTS

have commented on the difference in character between the Russian and American exhibits at Geneva. The Russian exhibits appeared to be designed for the instruction of advanced students and technicians while those of the United States were aimed more in the direction of furnishing explanations for laymen. The United States exhibits, consequently, were more popular.

Results of Exposition.

Strauss listed these six results of the Geneva exposition, which was the first of its kind:

1. The free world, perhaps even Soviet Russia, has a new understanding of the "absolute sincerity of our desire 'to strip the atom of its military casing and to adapt it to the arts of peace.'"

2. Communication was re-established between men of science who had been isolated for years.

3. There are no longer "have not" nations from the viewpoint of the possession of information on the peaceful uses of atomic energy. The smaller nations were impressed by the expense and complexity of the development of atomic power. If any nation had an illusion that it could go into the atomic power business by ordering a reactor out of a catalogue, that notion was dispelled.

4. The United States gained much information, and as a by-product experienced a rebirth of humility.

5. Delegates were disturbed by the fast rate at which Russia is training scientists.

6. "For millions of people all over the world, Geneva cast off the mesmerism of the bomb. No other event that has occurred has done so much toward taking the horror, the terror out of the atom."

SONIC BOOM BAFFLES MADISON COUNTY OFFICIALS

Madison county authorities today were still unable to determine what caused a sonic boom or explosion which shook houses and disturbed residents over an area extending from Venice to Collinsville about 9:40 o'clock last night.

The explosion, described as a "double boom," was heard by police at the Venice, Madison, Granite City and Collinsville stations. Many persons were aroused from sleep and some rushed out into the street to find out what had happened.

Scott Air Force Base reported having two F-86 Sabre Jet planes in the air at the time, but said neither was over Madison county nor did they break the sound barrier. It was suggested that a jet plane flying cross country may have broken the sound barrier. No such plane was detected on the Scott Base radarscope, however.

WOMAN FOUND UNCONSCIOUS IN GAS-FILLED APARTMENT

Mrs. Lucille Caselton, 4515 Lindell boulevard, was treated for the effects of gas poisoning at City Hospital last night after being found unconscious in her apartment, with the gas turned on in a kitchen stove, police reported.

Neighbors smelled the gas, and after a chain lock on Mrs. Caselton's door was broken she was found on a bed. She was revived by police, and told them she had been trying to light the oven when she became ill and made her way to the bed.

She is the widow of James A. Caselton, a vice president of National Lead Co., who died in 1939.

4 SEIZED IN COUNTY OIL STATION HOLDUP

Patrolman Who Had Heard Radio Account Arrests Men in City.

Four men suspected of obtaining about $160 in a holdup at a filling station in Pagedale shortly after 2 a.m. today were arrested about an hour later at Twenty-third and Cole streets by a beat patrolman who had happened to hear a description of them by radio. All are Negroes.

Patrolman Herschel Martin, of the Carr street station, was chatting with officers who had stopped in a patrol car and heard the broadcast description about 3 a.m. A few minutes later he saw four men walking, questioned them and found that one had a .38-caliber revolver. Altogether they had $148, much of it in change.

Police said Harris Parker Jr., of the 3900 block of Labadie avenue, who had the revolver, admitted the holdup. The others were booked as Edgar Brandon, 4600 block of North Market street; David Halliday, 600 block of North Leonard avenue, and Raymond Brown, 4200 block of St. Ferdinand avenue.

A stolen automobile used in the holdup was found two blocks from where the men were arrested.

A youth who identified himself as George D. Jones, 19 years old, living in the Kirkpatrick Homes, Granite City, was arrested by University City police yesterday as he fled from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Zelle, 7235 Creveling drive.

Police were summoned to the home by Mrs. Susie Hightower, a Negro domestic, who said she saw Jones prowling about the back yard. When oficers arived they found Jones in the house. He fled and was captured after a brief chase during which four shots were fired.

Jones signed a statement admitting he had entered the Zelle home, police said. He also was quoted as admitting three other recent house burglaries in St. Louis, Richmond Heights and Charlack Village.

Loaded Fish.

TUPPER LAKE, N.Y. (UP)—Angler Ivan Pelno caught more hauled in a walleye pike. The fish weighed five and one-half pounds and measured 25 inches. When he slit it open, Pelno found a six-inch Bullhead, a shiner and about one-quarter of a pound of pine needles.

500,000 WORDS WIRED BY PRESS ON EISENHOWER

DENVER, Sept. 29 (INS)—Western Union said today it transmitted more than 500,000 words filed since Saturday by reporters covering the story of President Eisenhower's illness.

The telegraph company also reported handling "thousands of telegrams" sent to the President by well-wishers in this and other countries.

To cope with the situation, Western Union said, it doubled its facilities at the Denver White House, bringing in 30 extra teletype operators from Kansas City, Dallas and Chicago.

It is now operating 18 circuits out of Lowry Air Force Base, where news headquarters are located, compared with 12 being maintained before Mr. Eisenhower fell ill.

Reporters covering the story have actually transmitted far more than the 500,000 words mentioned by Western Union. Many of them have sent copy by telephone as well.

BAR ON FIREWORKS EASED TO COVER FIGHTING CROWS

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—Connecticut's fireworks bar has been modified to help farmers fight crows. Farmers now are authorized to use strings of salutes, which go off at long intervals, jarring the birds' nerves so much that they finally let crops alone. Definitely an improvement on scarecrows the farmers report.

NARCOTICS HEARING WITNESS ARRESTED

Testimony on Heroin 'Pushing' Contradicted Before Senate Subcommittee.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—A young Washington Negro was arrested on a narcotics charge outside a Senate hearing room yesterday after two other witnesses challenged his testimony.

William D. Douglas was picked up after the other witnesses, also Negroes, testified they obtained heroin from him.

Douglas testifying first, repeatedly denied under oath that he ever had used heroin himself, or had sold it or given it away.

Then the subcommittee on narcotics called the two men who said flatly they had obtained the drug from Douglas recently.

A Washington police undercover operator, identified only as "Frank," said he had received heroin from Douglas twice in the last two months.

Parker said he spent four months early this year at the feedral narcotics hospital at Lexington, Ky. On his return to Washington, he testified, Douglas propositioned him to become a "pusher" of heroin.

Parker said he is now convinced that he can overcome his addiction. He said he hoped to go back to the federal hospital for a final cure.

Senator Price Daniel (Dem.), Texas, subcommittee chairman, ordered a transcript of the hearings turned over to the Department of Justice and the United States Attorney's office here to determine whether Douglas also is liable to prosecution for perjury.

WOMEN DEMOCRATS ASSAIL G.O.P. MOVES

Defense Cuts Hurt Nation, Leaders From 7 States, Are Told.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 29 (AP)—Women Democratic leaders of seven Midwestern states were told yesterday that the Republican Administration has allowed our national defense to become weak because of its "blind allegiance to economy."

The speaker was Representative Martha Griffiths of Michigan, whose audience incuded former President Harry S. Truman.

"Under the Republican notion of 'more bang for the buck,' this Administration has been gambling with our national security," she told the Democratic women's conference.

"That this has been an unwise and dangerous policy has been clearly recognized by responsible critics all over the country."

Corporation Profits Up.

She acknowledged the high level of employment, but pointed out that in the first three months of the year corporation take-home pay was up 16 per cent, stockholders' income up 8 per cent and that of the average worker only 1 per cent over the corresponding period in 1944.

"Too few are getting too much of the economic pie," she said.

The deficit of 300,000 classrooms in the nation, she said, shows "clearly there is need and urgency for a program of federal assistance.

"But the program presented to Congress by President Eisenhower and the now departed Welfare Secretary Hobby amounted to nothing more than another windfall of profits for the banking and investment industry, the Eisenhower bonding program for school building would mean at least a one-third increase in interest rates."

Prediction on Farm Vote.

Rep. Coya Knutson of Minnesota told the conference farm families would vote Democratic in 1956 because the party is the only one that has tried to give farmers "a program to insure their security," and the party is pledged to "save the small family farm."

"The Democratic party has provided the basis for all the successful farm programs the country has ever had," she said, "and the farmers must always look to the Democratic party for solutions to their problems."

Mrs. Margaret Butler, St. Louis, of the Missouri Federation of Democratic Women, told a panel group the basis of the Democratic party is the precinct worker and he cannot be replaced.

PICTURE OF ONE OF CONSTITUTION'S SIGNERS SOUGHT

WASHINGTON Sept. 29 (UP)—One of the signers of the Constitution is "missing," and a nation-wide search is on to find him.

The Daughters of the American Revolution is turning attics upside down to find a portrait of Thomas FitzSimons, an Irish-born immigrant, who played an important role in securing liberty for America.

Historians know what he did—but they don't know what he looked like.

One historian has described FitzSimons as "a man of commanding figure, agreeable manners, though somewhat stately and reserved."

He was a member of the Committee of Correspondence in 1774. And he was an officer in Washington's Army the night the ice-caked Delaware river was crossed.

FitzSimons became a delegate from Pennsylvania to the Constitutional Convention in 1786. He also helped to finance the revolution itself and later was active in civic affairs in Philadelphia.

Enraged Communist Party Overseer Revealed 'Insult' at Meeting on Recruiting.

By DAVID M. NICHOL
The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Radio. Copyright, 1955.

BONN, Sept. 29 — Now and again, even in the best-run dictatorships, some normal and ordinary person suddenly draws a line and says he has had enough.

The dictatorships are geared to cope with these minor eruptions and most of them go unnoticed except in their immediate vicinity. The weapons in the hands of the overriding state are extremely powerful.

Sometimes, however, the state feels itself so "insulted" that it blows off steam through its own channels against the offenders. It gives a dignity and a meaning to their resistance which they could not otherwise achieve.

Such a case occurred last June in Chemnitz, which now is called Karl-Marx-Stadt, in the Soviet zone of Germany. The account of it, by an enraged Communist party school overseer in a local newspaper, has been reproduced in Ost-Probleme, a publication of the United States embassy here.

Plain Words to Parents.

The article bore a threatening title. "Some Plain Words to the Parents of Klingenthal 2," it was called originally. Klingenthal 2 is a school.

It is not possible to recreate in precise detail what happened, but the outlines of the "crime" are readily apparent.

With the approach of the summer holidays a meeting of the school's teachers was called. Among them were two men who seem to have been admired alike by pupils and parents. One was named Michael and the other Erlbeck.

The meeting concerned a program for recruiting teachers and students for service in eastern Germany's "people's police," the thinly disguised army which shortly will lose the last of its camouflage.

Michael and Erlbeck, says the account, indicated "a lack of interest in the problems of the workers' and peasants' state."

They did this, apparently, by failing to applaud when a delegation of Young Pioneers, the Communist youth organization for children under 12, marched into the room, and by failing to applaud again when the names were read of teachers who had "volunteered" for army service.

Both Walk Out.

The two were criticized for their backwardness by some of the "progressive" teachers and at that point the two walked out. This was on a Saturday night.

Monday they were waited on by an impressive delegation of party and Communist trade union officials and asked to explain their conduct. They said they saw no point in talking about it and were aware fully of the possible consequences. With that they were dismissed on the spot.

A few days later was "Teachers' day," one of the endless succession of such celebrations that occur in Communist society. Young Pioneers, in their blue neckties, presented flowers and speeches to those of their teachers who met the party standards. But there was a group of parents and teachers who thought differently.

They sought out the two men who had been dismissed and presented them with bouquets. It was to this group that the "plain words" of the party paper were addressed.

"Our schools," said the account, "must have teachers who know no higher aim than the creation of socialism, and the strengthening and support of the workers' and peasants' state."

The careers since then of Michael and Erlbeck are not recorded in any available form. Unhappily it is not too difficult to guess.

CROCKETT CRAZE BOON TO NATION'S TRAPPERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29 (UP—Since the Davy Crockett craze has taken hold of our young, the men who catch and skin wild animals for a living have been reaping a neat profit from heretofore mostly useless pelts.

Rabbit, gray fox, coyote and raccoon skins, usually very slow-moving items on the fur market, are now being used in the manufacture of Crockett caps for the small fry.

FOOD ON SUBMARINES MOSTLY FROM TIN CANS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (INS)—The pantry in an atomic submarine is much like that in the average American home—it couldn't get along without cans. Approximately 65 per cent of all food on the two atomic submarines, the Nautilus and the Seawolf, will be canned, according to the Navy. The same holds true for all conventional submarines.

By DON COOK

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Radio.

ATHENS, Sept. 29—Although the bare facts of the fantastic destruction of property in the riots in Istanbul Sept. 6 have been reported abroad, it has been impossible for correspondents to dispatch from Turkey any reports conveying the true convulsive depth of the events and what has followed.

In the unanimous opinion of everyone to whom this correspondent talked to in Turkey in recent days—Turks, foreign diplomats, business men and newspaper correspondents stationed in the country—there was far more to the rioting than the mere anti-Greek demonstrations over Cyprus.

All were agreed that the demonstrations started with the tacit support of the Turkish government as a sort of political action over the Cyprus issue. But everybody also agrees that the situation got out of hand, that the Turkish government was stunned by the force it unleashed and that many elements boiled up in eight or 10 hours of primitive emotional destruction.

Economic Troubles.

The desperate economic and inflationary situation in Turkey, which has reduced so many of the residents of Istanbul and Izmir (Smyrna) to poverty while luxury hotels and buildings rise around them, was certainly a contributing cause.

Others saw in the riots a sort of primitive revulsion against the speed with which Turkey has been "westernized." Refrigerators and modern living appliances, for example, were special targets of destruction in shop windows when the riots got out of hand.

There was a strong element of the "haves against the have-nots" — for the rioters came swarming across the Golden Horn (an inlet of the Bosporus) from the old section of the city and into the newer parts. The fury of their destruction even days after is all but unbelievable.

Then there is the question of the Communists — there is a Red underground of some 2000 in Turkey—and the extent to which they might in fact have grabbed leadership of the rioting when they saw their chance.

Finally, there appears to have been a strong element of straight anti-government demonstration in this deep-rooted affair. One Turk remarked that "This is the only course the people have open to them in making their feelings felt." Certainly those who have lived there for the last three or four years have noted a steady tightening by the present Democratic party government over civil liberties, press freedom, political opposition and criticism.

On the other hand, the peasant farmers of Turkey, who are currently benefitting from the critical inflation, are firmly behind the Government politically. It is mainly in the big urban centers where poverty and anti-Government feeling exists.

That the Government had a hand in the events of Sept. 6 was admitted by implication by Premier Adnan Menderes in his statement on the affair to a special session of the National Assembly.

"Many organizations were active," Menderes said. "Everyone thought that in repressing the movement one would have perhaps have repressed a justified action. But the incidents in an instant took on such amplitude and the existing psychosis of the police forces at the beginning had resulted in such inaction that I must admit that we were exposed to a national catastrophe, the object of a real attack by surprise."

This correspondent counted 76 shop fronts smashed in three short blocks along Istiqlal (Independence) street, the main shopping center of the city. The "young toughs" who first descended on the shopping area were all equipped with crowbars for forcing open the iron shutters with which many shops are protected at night. Churches were broken into, holy objects smashed and strewn about and set fire to.

Prime Target.

Unquestionably the Greeks were the prime target. Many shops had been tipped as to what was coming and had signs "Owner is Turkish" in their windows. But then the destruction carried on against Armenian and Jewish shops and then anything modern. Millions and millions of dollars in damage have been inflicted.

Martial law is now in effect for six months. Istanbul is virtually an armed camp. It must have been a particular black eye and an embarrassment to the Turkish government to have to station 30 American-supplied tanks outside the university buildings where the international monetary fund and the world bank meetings were held recently.

Arguments in Istanbul and Ankara as to the causes and the balance of forces which produced such savage destruction are still going on. But everyone agrees that the rioting has been a serious shock to the Turkish government and that some deep and convulsive causes, far more basic and more important than mere anti-Greek demonstrations over the British-held island of Cyprus, which is only 40 miles from Turkey, were unmasked.

New wonders of X rays

Do you know there are now X-ray machines that can photograph your heart as it beats? . . . others that can peer deep into your brain? . . . even machines that can "measure" an unborn baby's head to warn if the mother will need a Caesarean delivery?

October Reader's Digest reveals new uses of the X ray—without which, in many ways, medical science would find itself back in the 19th century.

Get October Reader's Digest: 44 articles of lasting interest, including the best from leading magazines and current books, condensed to save your time.

Now—for the first time

Prominent physicians have been using this formulation for many years as a prescription, but today Warsene Capsules are available without a prescription.

Warsene Capsules are the first and only formula of their kind on the market. Your doctor knows the value of the analgesics contained in Warsene Capsules, and will no doubt recommend their continued use at his direction while treating the cause of the disease.

Not merely an acetylsalicylic acid (aspirin) or caffeine-phenacetin combination dressed up with a fancy name and a fancy price, Warsene Capsules were developed to give immediate relief to the aches and pains commonly associated with arthritis, rheumatism, neuralgia (neuritis), bursitis, sciatica, lumbago, muscle soreness and allied disorders. Not habit-forming and not a narcotic, Warsene Capsules are safe to use. See the package for recommended dosage.

Research and Teamwork

Warsene Capsules are the result of research and teamwork among leading doctors to find a prescription which would bring relief to sufferers from the aches and pains commonly associated with arthritis, rheumatism, neuralgia (neuritis), bursitis, sciatica, lumbago, muscle soreness and allied disorders.

Strict Requirements

Strict requirements were laid down—it could not contain acetylsalicylic acid (aspirin), phenacetin or caffeine, for these in many cases cause stomach upset. It could not contain narcotics of any kind so that the sufferers could renew the prescription as they needed it. It could not be habit-forming, nor could it build up dangerous sodium deposits in the body. And it could not be a formula against which the body would develop a tolerance, thus lessening its effectiveness over a period of time. One by one combinations were tried and rejected until finally the present Warsene Capsules were developed and tested. Patients using Warsene Capsules reported continued success using them.

Quality, Price Good on Chickens

Broiler - Fryers Now Wise Choice for Menus or Freezers; Apples Abundant.

By Dorothy Brainered
Post-Dispatch Food Editor.

HERE is our candidate for the top item on the market list this week—those delicious little broiler-fryers that can be prepared in so many interesting ways. They are of especially good quality now, and prices are such that they warrant consideration for the freezer as well as for immediate use.

We have suggested on this page two ways in which they might appear on your dinner table; there are literally hundreds of others.

Running a close second as "value of the week" is the baby beef we have been telling you about for some time now. But you may notice a slight advance on the price of some other beef cuts, including roasts.

Pork prices are working downward; look for buys in pork roasts and in the lighter weight hams.

* * *

NEWS in the fruit stands: the arrival of the first pink and ruby red Florida grapefruit. And what prettier way to start the day?

It's harvest time for apples in some of the northern states, with the result that we have a great variety from which to choose. Apples of all kinds and sizes; apples from 12 or 13 different states, totaling 32,000 bushels unloaded in St. Louis last week. And that's a lot of apples—enough for an apple pie or cobbler on just about every table.

Tokay grapes are more plentiful and are priced right. In fact, we are well supplied with seedless, Ribiers and Muscats in addition to Tokays.

The delicious Italian prunes continue. Major supplies are now coming from Idaho, perhaps a little smaller than the Oregon prunes which have been in the markets, but of very fine quality.

Despite the dim outlook for peaches early in the summer, they are winding up the season with a bang. They are still here, including some real beauties from Idaho, high colored and of fine flavor.

This week may be the last call for the good Michigan Concord grapes, so tarry not if you want some sparkling grape jelly on your shelves.

It is near the end of the line, too, for cantaloupes and honeydews. But those that are still with us are of excellent eating quality. You may pay a high price for good looks in the cantaloupes. Some of those now in market have a little darker background color and may not look quite as glamorous, but you know the old cliche about beauty being only skin deep.

But as the peaches, Concord grapes and melons round out their cycle, along come the early cranberries (and quite nice they are) and the pie pumpkins to remind us that another season, and one rich with harvest's blessings, is at hand. The old order changeth; making way for new.

* * *

AND what will you have for the vegetable course? Brussels sprouts might be a wise choice. You won't go wrong on the good old potato, be it red, white or sweet.

Look for better buys, both pricewise and quality wise, in Iceberg lettuce; homegrown leaf lettuce is abundant, very nice, and low in cost.

There is some celery cabbage available, but it is a bit high in price. And celery hearts are here for those who want them.

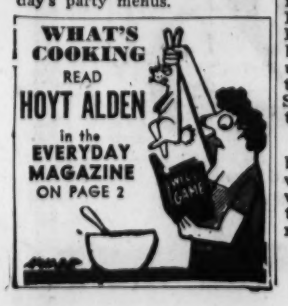

Cauliflower is moderately priced, but we can't say as much for corn, which is rather scarce. Eggplant also is a little high, but spinach and the various members of the squash family are at a moderate level.

It is interesting to note the return to local markets of the cello bags containing spinach, salad mixes, soup mixes and so on. This method of packaging was discontinued during the very warm weather.

THIS is "National Green Olive Week," and a good time to remember how much green olives, either plain or stuffed with pimiento, tiny onions or almonds, can add to your meals in flavor, color and texture. Now that the autumn party season is getting under way you will be using them in sauces, appetizers, salads, sandwiches, casseroles and dips, so it might be an opportune time to check on your supplies.

And speaking of the party season, in this servantless age paper napkins have become "socially acceptable" for informal service. And they have come a long, long way in appearance. A new paper napkin duplicates the fleur de lis pattern so often seen in fine damask, and closely resembles linen in appearance. On the practical side, these white napkins have such wet strength and absorbency that they are ideal for the "finger foods" which are so prominent in today's party menus.

Shrimp Pepperoni With Rice

Fluffy rice is the perfect accompaniment for this Shrimp Pepperoni, with its flavoring of garlic and wine and garnishment of green pepper rings. Rice is one of the most versatile foods, equally delicious in a main dish or a delicate dessert.

THAT little package of rice on your pantry shelf is far more important than it looks—important to you in planning your meals, and important to the nation's economy, since rice production in the United States has increased so sharply since World War II that it has become a crop valued at some $270,000,000 annually.

One of the world's oldest foods (its history can be traced back more than five thousand years), it is still a favorite the world over for many reasons, including versatility and economy. It can be used in literally every course of the meal, and combined with almost every kind of food.

One pound uncooked shrimp, fresh or frozen.
One-third cup flour.
One teaspoon salt.
Six medium green peppers.
One clove garlic.
One-half cup oil.
One-fourth cup white wine.
Three cups hot cooked rice.
Salt and pepper to taste.

Shell, devein and wash shrimp. Drain. Mix flour and salt in paper bag. Add shrimp and shake until well-coated. Wash peppers and remove stems and seeds. Cut into thick slices. Mash garlic in large skillet. Add oil and heat. Add floured shrimp and cook, turning once, until color has deepened on both sides (three to five minutes). Remove.

Add peppers to same skillet and cook over medium heat, turning frequently, until well-coated with oil, about five minutes. Reduce heat, cover and cook, turning occasionally, 20 minutes or until peppers are soft. Add shrimp and wine, season to taste and bring to boil.

Frontier Stew with Rice.

Flour.
One-half cup water.
One No. 303 can tomatoes.
One cup onion slices.
One cup carrot slices.
Two bay leaves.
Two teaspoons salt.
One-fourth teaspoon black pepper.
One teaspoon worcestershire sauce.
One cup uncooked white rice.
Two teaspoons salt.
Two cups water.
Two eggs.
One and one-half cups grated American cheese.
One-eighth teaspoon black pepper.
Dash of tabasco sauce.

Melt fat in a skillet; thoroughly cover the beef with flour; brown beef in fat. Blend one tablespoon of flour into fat. Slowly stir in the water. Add the tomatoes, onions, carrots, bay leaves, salt, pepper and worcestershire sauce. Mix well. Cover and cook over low heat for one hour, or until the meat is tender. Add more water if a thinner mixture is desired.

About 20 minutes before the beef is done put the rice, salt and water in a two-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover and leave over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on 10 minutes. Stir in eggs, cheese, pepper and tabasco sauce.

Pour the beef-vegetable mixture into a greased shallow baking dish about 12 by seven by two inches. Arrange the hot rice mixture over the stew, leaving the center uncovered. Place the baking dish under the broiler and broil 15 minutes, or until the rice mixture is heated through and slightly browned. Serve immediately. Yield: six to eight servings.

This rice and cheese dish can be served in two ways, from a vegetable dish while still hot, with paprika sprinkled over the top, or as a broiler-browned rice timbale.

Two-Purpose Side Dish.

Two cups water.
One and one-half teaspoons salt.
One-eighth teaspoon black pepper.
One cup uncooked white rice.
One-fourth cup chopped green pepper.
One cup grated American cheese.
Paprika.

Put water, salt, black pepper, rice and green pepper in a two-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid and leave over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on 10 minutes.

Stir in the grated American cheese. Serve while still hot in a vegetable dish with paprika sprinkled over the top.

Or make into timbales as follows: Press some of the rice mixture into a custard cup which has been dipped in water. Immediately unmold the timbale on a baking pan or on a baking-serving platter.

Form four large or six small timbales in this way. Wet the custard cup before molding each timbale. The timbales are most attractive when served on a cooked green pepper ring. These green pepper rings may be cooked in water in a saucepan while the timbales are being molded.

When ready to serve, sprinkle each timbale with paprika. Place the timbales under the broiler about six inches from the heat and broil for about five minutes.

Rice also may be the main ingredient in many a delectable dessert.

Coconut Cream Meringue Pudding.

Three cups milk.
Two-thirds cup uncooked white rice.
Three-fourths cup sugar.
Two eggs, separated.
One teaspoon vanilla.
One cup moist shredded coconut.

Put the milk and rice in a two-quart saucepan. Stir well. Put over medium heat. When bubbles appear around the edges of the saucepan stir well. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover with a lid and leave over this low heat 45 to 50 minutes, or until most of the milk cooks into the rice. Stir several times during the cooking.

Remove saucepan from heat. Stir in the sugar. Beat the egg yolks well. Stir some of the hot mixture into the yolks. Pour back into the saucepan. Stir in the vanilla and coconut. Beat the egg whites until stiff. Pour the hot pudding into he egg whites and mix together.

Serve at once, or cover in the refrigerator until time to serve. If pudding becomes thicker than desired, stir in a small amount of cream. Yield: 12 servings.

Plenty of Eggs.

Americans are eating about 412 eggs per person per year with about two-thirds of them purchased for table use, mostly for breakfast. The rest are used for baking, cooking and other purposes.

TWO UNUSUAL WAYS TO SERVE CHICKEN

WHAT hostess ever had too many chicken recipes in her file? Ways to serve this delicious food are endless, and it is fun to try new ones as they come along.

The delicate flavor of chicken combines happily with either wine or fruit, so here are examples of both methods of cooking.

White wine adds savory goodness to this chicken which is "done-up" in individual servings in aluminum foil. Wine used correctly will uncover unsuspected goodness in foods, and contrary to the opinion of many, wine cookery is not expensive because inexpensive wines may be used quite satisfactorily.

Chicken in a Tasket

Sauce:
One cup mushrooms.
One cup chopped celery.
One crushed clove garlic.
One crushed bay leaf.
One-half teaspoon rosemary or thyme.
One teaspoon salt.
One-fourth teaspoon pepper.

Chicken:
One frying chicken.
One-half cup flour.
One teaspoon salt.
One-fourth teaspoon pepper.
One teaspoon paprika.
One-half cup shortening.
Aluminum foil.

Sauce: Combine mushrooms (whole or sliced), celery, garlic, bay leaf, rosemary, salt, pepper and wine, and set aside.

Cut chicken in serving pieces. Combine flour, salt, pepper and paprika in paper bag and shake chicken, a few pieces at a time, in bag to coat with flour mixture. Brown chicken in heated shortening.

Cut foil in large squares. Arrange individual servings of chicken on center of foil pieces, add about one-third cup sauce, and fold corners of foil up over chicken. Place on flat baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about one hour. Serve in foil "taskets." Yield: three or four servings.

Here fresh-frozen orange concentrate is used to baste the bird. With this sauce, you will get better results if you broil a little further away from the heat than usual — about six inches should be right.

Broiled Chicken with Fresh-Frozen Orange Sauce.

Two broiling chickens, split in half (or equivalent chicken parts).

Four tablespoons butter or margarine, melted.

Two tablespoons water.

Brush chicken with melted butter or margarine. Place skin side down in broiling pan and sprinkle with one-fourth teaspoon powdered ginger and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Broil under moderate heat until golden brown, then turn and sprinkle with remaining ginger and salt. Pour fresh-frozen orange juice into small pitcher. Rinse can with two tablespoons water and stir into concentrate.

Pour concentrate over chicken and continue to broil. Baste frequently with orange juice concentrate and broil, skin side up, until flesh is tender. Small broilers or parts require about 30 minutes to cook, larger chickens 40 to 50 minutes.

Idea for Autumn Party

SEASONING TIP

Use a light touch when you season your ground meat dishes. A good rule to follow is to use one-eighth teaspoon of the stronger seasonings and one-fourth teaspoon of the milder ones per pound of ground meat.

VARIETY IMPORTANT IN PACKED LUNCHES

Many Americans, grownups as well as children, eat a packed lunch five days a week. These lunches can be appetizing and interesting, or dull and monotonous, depending upon the imagination of the lunch packer. Because of their nature, packed lunches are limited, of course, but pleasing change is not too hard to achieve. Little paper cups with tight-fitting covers and a vacuum bottle for carrying milk drinks or soup help not only with variety but with nutrition, too.

A frequent change of bread is one of the easiest ways to get sandwich variation—use hard and soft rolls and buns, rye bread, pumpernickel, banana, raisin and nut breads. Instead of the usual ham sandwich, make fillings of corned beef and pickle, tuna, salmon and chicken salads. Don't forget that the roast for dinner provides nice slices for tomorrow's lunch box, as does a meat loaf.

Here's an example of a lunch menu which shows how wider variation in packed lunches may be obtained by using a vacuum bottle for beverage and paper containers for salad and dessert.

Packed Lunch Menu.

Chopped Corned Beef and Pickle Sandwich on Rye Bread
Cottage Cheese and Prune Salad (in covered cup)
Lemon Tapioca Pudding (in covered cup).
Cookies
Milk (in vacuum bottle)

* * *

Lemon Tapioca Pudding.

Two egg whites.
Four tablespoons sugar.
Two egg yolks.
One and three-quarter cups water.
Four tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
Two-thirds cup sugar.
Two tablespoons butter.
One teaspoon grated lemon rind.
One-third cup lemon juice.

Beat egg whites until foamy throughout; add four tablespoons sugar, two tablespoons at a time, and continue beating with rotary egg beater until mixture will stand in soft peaks. Set aside.

Mix egg yolks with about one-fourth cup of the water in saucepan. Add tapioca, salt, two-thirds cup sugar, and remaining water. Place over medium heat. Cook until mixture comes to a boil, stirring constantly—this takes five to eight minutes. Add butter, lemon rind and juice before removing from heat. Blend well.

Pour small amount of hot tapioca mixture gradually on beaten egg whites, blending well. Then quickly add the remaining mixture, stirring constantly. (The hotter the tapioca and the faster it is blended in, the thicker and fluffier the pudding will be.) Cool, stirring once after 15 to 20 minutes. Chill. Serve plain or with whipped cream. Yield: five to six servings.

SARDINE-CHEESE STICKS

Cut thinly-sliced bread into strips; brown on one side in butter or margarine. Place a canned sardine on the untoasted side of each breadstick. Squeeze a few drops of lemon juice over the sardines, salt lightly, and sprinkle generously with grated Parmesan cheese.

Quick Curry.

Hard-cooked eggs, quartered, a can of undiluted condensed cream of mushroom or chicken soup and a teaspoon of curry powder combine into a simple and delicious luncheon dish. Heat to the boiling point and serve over fluffy rice.

VEGETABLES AND FISH COMBINED IN CASSEROLE

With vegetables coming thick and fast from gardens and piling high in green grocers' bins, the more uses for these colorful, nutritious foods, the better—both for economy's sake and in the interest of good eating.

Most vegetables are rich in vitamins and minerals, which means you need only the addition of a protein food to make a complete meal-in-a-dish. Fish, well known for high-quality protein, is easily digested and combines well with most vegetables.

Fish-Vegetable Bak

Two pounds frozen fish fillets (cod, haddock or ocean perch).
One medium onion, sliced.
Three tablespoons salad oil.
Two tablespoons flour.
Two cups tomatoes, fresh or canned.
One-half cup chopped celery.
One-half cup chopped parsley.
One-half green pepper, diced.
One bay leaf.
One teaspoon salt.
One whole clove.
One-half teaspoon sugar.
Dash pepper.

Let fillets thaw. Cook onions in oil until tender. Add flour and blend. Add vegetables and seasonings and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove bay leaf and clove.

Arrange fillets in a shallow buttered baking dish and cover with sauce. Bake uncovered in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 20 to 25 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork.

Garnish with lemon wedges and parsley and serve hot. Yield: six servings.

Two-Tone Coffee Pie

Black coffee gelatine as the bottom layer and whipped coffee-with-cream gelatine on top—that's the secret of this unusual Two-Tone Coffee Pie. The coffee in the cups is its usual straight, hearty self.

We can't offer you four and 20 blackbirds, but if it's a surprise you want, here's a cup or two of coffee baked into a pie. And it's complete with cream and sugar, too. Serve it with hot coffee, and you have true pie-and-coffee harmony.

This particular recipe has many virtues. For one thing, it's no small feat to find a pie that's light and not too sweet, yet full of flavor. For another, as long as you have on hand a package of gelatine and the makings of a cup of coffee, you always have the makings of a two-tone coffee pie. No special trips to the store to see what fruit is in season; no pondering what filling will meet with approval.

Two-Tone Coffee Pie.

Two envelopes (two tablespoons) unflavored gelatine.
One-half cup cold water.
Two and one-half cups strong hot coffee.
One cup sugar.
One-half teaspoon cinnamon.
One cup whipping cream.
One baked 9-inch pie shell.

Soften gelatine in cold water, dissolve in hot coffee. Mix sugar and cinnamon. Add to coffee mixture and stir until dissolved. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Spoon into pie shell, filling about half full. Set in refrigerator.

Whip remaining coffee gelatine until light and fluffy. Whip half cup cream and fold in. Spoon mixture on top of clear gelatine, mounding in center. Chill until firm.

Whip remaining cream to use as garnish on top of pie.

Quick Glaze.

Melted semi-sweet chocolate morsels make a quick glaze for angel food cake. Melt one six-ounce package (one cup) of the chocolate and one tablespoon shortening over hot, not boiling water. Spread over top of cake.

A SIMPLE CORAL SAUCE FOR SHRIMP COCKTAIL

To prepare shrimp: Use one pound fresh or frozen shrimp. Clean and boil in salted water three to five minutes. Chill until ready to serve. Garnish and arrange four to six shrimp per plate.

Coral Sauce

One cup mayonnaise.
One-third cup chili sauce.
Two tablespoons vinegar.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One-fourth teaspoon sugar.
Pepper to taste.
One-eighth teaspoon onion salt.
Two tablespoons sour cream (optional).

ADD VIENNAS

A new touch for macaroni and cheese. Top with little Vienna sausages.

PROSECUTION DUE FOR BABY KIDNAPER

Indictment to Be Sought for Woman Who Took Infant From Hospital.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29 (AP) — Vigorous prosecution was promised today for Mrs. Betty Jean Benedicto, wife of a Filipino lodging house keeper, who kidnaped 2-day-old Robert Marcus from Mt. Zion hospital 10 days ago.

The infant was returned to his happy parents, Dr. and Mrs. Sanford Marcus, in Stockton early yesterday. That was shortly after the 27-year-old kidnaper had been spotted with the baby by a deputy sheriff at the prize fights in Stockton Tuesday night. Benedicto telephoned Dr. Marcus in San Francisco that she would deliver Robert to him in Stockton.

Their heartaches past, Dr. and Mrs. Marcus planned to take their baby home today to suburban Daly City. There, their two older children — Susan, 2 and Richard 3½— have been waiting to see the new brother they never knew had been kidnaped.

In Psychiatric Ward.

Mrs. Benedicto was held under guard in a psychiatric ward in San Francisco Hospital after collapsing at San Francisco police headquarters.

Her story of motherly love and an irrestable maternal instinct was denounced yesterday by her own mother, who said Barbara Jean had abandoned her only natural child — a daughter—10 years ago.

District Attorney Thomas C. Lynch scorned Mrs. Benedicto's story.

She said remorse and sympathy for Robert's mother, Mrs. Hanna Marcus, 29, who was desperately ill, prompted the return of the child.

Lynch and his chief deputy, Norman Elkington, said they would seek an indictment for kidnaping when the county grand jury meets Monday night and would prosecute vigorously.

The only reason Mrs. Benedicto returned the child, they declared, was because she was convinced that her capture was imminent.

After her arrest, Mrs. Benedicto said the kidnaping developed from a series of lies she had told her husband, Marcus Benedicto, leading him to believe she had borne a child in a southern California hospital late in August.

She told him the child was ill and she had had to leave it in the south, but he insisted so strongly she had to bring home a baby or confess her hoax, she said.

"I had to have a baby. I had to have a baby," she said over and over.

Benedicto, who formerly published a Filipino newspaper in Stockton, said the hoax about the coming motherhood had started last October and that he had told his friends of the expected child.

The child she finally brought home and called Marcus Merrill Benedicto, was Robert Marcus, stolen from his hospital crib.

Dr. Marcus said he had no antagonistic feeling toward Mrs. Benedicto.

"She is purely an abstraction to me," he said. "I do feel grateful that she took such wonderful care of the baby."

FLUORIDATION EXTENDED TO HOWARD BEND PLANT

Fluoridation of the city's entire water supply was under way today with start of operation of a new mixing pump at the Howard Bend plant on the Missouri river. The process began yesterday when equipment at Chain of Rocks station on the Mississippi was put to work.

It will be late today or early tomorrow before the fluoridated water, intended to help prevent tooth decay in children, reaches St. Louis hydrants. Nevertheless, about 50 persons complaining about fluoridation called city offices yesterday, some declaring the water already had changed in taste.

Water Commissioner Thomas J. Skinker said the chemical, hydrofluosilicic acid, added to the water in the proportion of between 0.8 of a part and one part per million parts, will be tasteless, odorless and colorless.

POLIO CASES DOWN 18 PCT. IN WEEK ENDED SEPT. 24

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP) —Polio cases dropped by 18 per cent last week, the Public Health Service reported today. "Continuous weekly decreases are expected" until the disease reaches a low level later this year, the report added.

The 1606 cases reported by the states for the week ended Sept. 24 compared with a corrected figure of 1949 for the preceding week and 2343 in the corresponding 1954 week. For the year there have been 21,760 cases through last Saturday, 7403 of them paralytic, compared with 26,341 for the 1954 period, with 9432 of those paralytic.

Since the polio "disease year" began about April 1, there have been 20,697 cases, compered with 24,788 in a corresponding period of 1954.

87 WALLA WALLA CONVICTS GO ON HUNGER STRIKE

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Sept. 29 (AP)—Thirty-seven inmates at the state penitentiary passed up their fifth successive meal last night in protest against outmoded quarters and the possibility of punishment for rioting in July and August.

The men are drinking large quantities of water, and a prison physician is checking them regularly.

Warden Lawrence Delmore Jr. said when "they come to their senses, I'll talk with them again and they can eat whenever they are ready."

UTILITY MAN DEFENDS DIXON-YATES PROJECT

Middle South Firm Views It as Battle for Free Enterprise, Officer Says.

Middle South Utilities regards the fight for the Dixon-Yates project as a battle for free enterprise and "would do it all over again if called upon," Paul Hallingby Jr., a vice president of the private power company, told the Downtown Lions Club yesterday. He spoke at a luncheon at Hotel Statler.

Middle South and the Southern Co. formed a partnership to bring private power into the Tennessee Valley Authority system. The controversial Dixon-Yates contract, which authorized them to build a steam plant for this purpose at West Memphis, Ark., was ordered canceled by President Eisenhower last July after the city of Memphis announced that it was determined to build its own generating plant rather than buy Dixon-Yates power.

Naturally, Middle South is disappointed at the outcome, Hallingby declared, but when all things are considered it is glad that it made the Dixon-Yates proposal.

"We so thoroughly dislike government in business—especially when it competes under a different set of rules which are heavily in its favor—and we support so strongly the principles of free enterprise that were behind the Dixon-Yates contract, that I have no doubt our company would do it all over again if called upon," he asserted.

Hallingby contended that the discarded project produced some gains from the standpoint of the private power industry and the American business system in general.

For one thing, proponents of government ownership were unable to get Congress to appropriate money for construction of a TVA plant at Fulton, Tenn., he said; for another, the controversy enlightened many people as to the tax-free advantages enjoyed by TVA.

"A by-product of Dixon-Yates," he continued, "must surely be a clearer realization on the part of those who believe in the American incentive system that government power advocates in the United States are well organized and will go to almost any extremes to further their aims."

Reviewing the history of Dixon-Yates, Hallingby said the proposal advanced by Middle South and the Southern Co. came "out of some preliminary discussions with the AEC and the Bureau of the Budget, in which Mr. (J. Wesley) McAfee, president of Union Electric Co. here in St. Louis, was most helpful."

He did not elaborate on the part played by the St. Louisan.

Asked who would pay for site grading and all the other preliminary work done by the private utility combine before the project was abandoned, Hallingby said the Dixon-Yates contract provides for reimbursement by the Government.

"We have a right to colleet the money we spent," he said. "We are to be made whole. But we'll be out a lot of sleepless nights and gray hairs."

$7694 IN POCKETS OF MAN FOUND DEAD

A total of $7694, including $6900 in $100 bills, was found in the pockets of Ernest Brechtel, a plumber, of 4129 Blaine avenue, who collapsed and died yesterday when working alone on a house under construction in St. Louis county.

His body was found on the garage floor of a house on Grantview lane in Grantwood by his employer, Milton Kopff, plumbing contractor of 3500 Watson road. Coroner Arnold J. Willmann said death was from netural causes.

All but $193 of the money was wrapped in a newspaper and tied with a string. The bundle was in a trousers pocket. In addition to the $100 bills there were six $50, 18 $20 and 13 $10 bills. The $193 was in a wallet.

Brechtel, 55 years old, was unmarried and lived alone, Kopff said. The contractor said he knew Brechtel habitually carried large sums, but had never explained why, except to say he had "lost a lot of money in a dank during the depression."

New Method.

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP)—Experiments in pear orchards here hint that the oily smudge filling the air on cold nights can be eliminated. Experimenters from Oregon State College tried burning sawdust briquettes and lengths of waste wood from sawmills to heat the air. They said the method holds promise, gives clean smoke and the cost is comparable with that of oil.

TWO SENTENCED IN FATAL SHOOTINGS IN EAST ST. LOUIS

Ben Terry, of the 1200 block of Colas avenue, East St. Louis, was sentenced to 20 years in prison when he pleaded guilty yesterday before Circuit Judge William G. Juergens at Belleville of the fatal shooting of Mrs. Minnie Williams, also of East St. Louis, following a quarrel in a tavern last March 7.

John Williams, of the 400 block of Exchange avenue, East St. Louis, was found guilty by a jury in the same court of the fatal shooting of Harvey Harrington, 718 Brady avenue, East St. Louis, when the men became involved in a violent dispute after their automobiles collided in East St. Louis May 1. Williams received a 14-year prison sentence.

Defendants in both cases are Negroes, as were the victims.

OLD COURTHOUSE FLAG RAISING NOW A JOINT OPERATION

The patriotic task of keeping the United States flag flying over the Old Courthouse at Broadway and Market street is now a joint military operation, with the Army pitching in to support the Marines, a spokesman for the Army said today.

Ten days ago the Marines established a beachhead with the announcement that they would raise the flag Monday through Friday, each week. The flag had not flown for a year because the 162-foot climb was too much for elderly employes.

It was not too much for the Marine Corps, and the news of their gallantry reached the ears of Maj. Gen. P. D. Ginder, commanding general of Fifth Army at Chicago. The general said the Army would raise the courthouse flag on Saturdays and Sundays.

The Army's part of the courthouse flag detail, Col. Robert Conk of Missouri Military District said, will be carried out by the Military Police.

U.S. CONGRESSIONAL GROUP CONFERS WITH ADENAUER

BONN, Sept. 29 (UP)—Chancellor Adenauer conferred for more than an hour today with six members of the United States House Foreign Affairs Committee.

CONVICTED, LIFE TERM SET FOR STATUTORY RAPE

John Hillary Durham, of the 4100 block of Enright avenue, was convicted of statutory rape today and the jury, in the court of Circuit Judge Franklin E. Reagan, fixed his punishment at life in prison. He is a Negro; his victim was a 13-year-old Negro girl, in May 1953.

Last spring Durham was a state witness in a case in which another Negro was given a life term for rape. Durham had seen the crime, and pursued and caught the man later convicted.

The first time Durham was tried, in March 1954, the jury could not agree. While free on bond, last November, he became involved in a fatal fight over a dice game and the result was a manslaughter charge against him. It is pending.

BELGIAN PRINCE RANKS HIGH IN WASHINGTON DRIVER TEST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—Prince Albert of Belgium proved yesterday that he knows Washington traffic rules better than many of the native commoners.

The Belgian prince took a driver's license test at the city traffic bureau and passed with highest scores. He needed a license because he plans to rent cars and drive himself during his informal tour of the United States.

Although foreign visitors may take the tests at the United States embassy, Prince Albert insisted on going through the same routine as Washington citizens. He said he studied the city's traffic rules while traveling to the United States.

POLICE ACADEMY STILL HAS VACANCIES FOR NEW CLASS

Applications for a few remaining openings in the next class at the St. Louis Police Academy will be received through tomorrow, Chief Jeremiah O'Connell announced today.

About 125 applications have been received since the Board of Police Commissioners announced plans for the new class a month ago, O'Connell said. Mailed applications must be postmarked no later than tomorrow.

Recruits receive 12 weeks of training at the academy, then are assigned as probationary patrolmen under the guidance of an older officer for at least six months. Men must be between 22 and 31 years old, must have a tenth grade education or its equivalent and must live in St. Louis. Women must be 25 to 40.

BLOOD DONOR GIVES 116TH PINT, NEVER FELT BETTER

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29 (AP—Ira J. Russell, 41-year-old advertising man from Pennsburg, Montgomery county, said he donated his 116th pint of blood yesterday and never felt better.

"I feel great," he said. "I've been giving a pint of blood every eight weeks for 20 years, except when I couldn't find a hospital that wanted it. Today, I gave it to the Red Cross blood bank. "I want to say that it doesn't hurt; there are no aftereffects; and it's wonderful to donate your blood to someone who needs it."

Russell said he has type B negative, second rarest type in the United States.

BELLEVILLE COUNCIL VOTES TO BUILD NEW CITY HALL

Plans to build a new city hall and abandon the present one were approved yesterday by the Belleville City Council. Some parts of the present structure are 100 years old, and the building is in such condition that repairs and modernization are not considerable practicable.

Cost of the new building including land will be about $500,000, Joseph W. Drovetta, chairman of the council's building committee, estimated. The committee was directed to find a new site and to have preliminary building plans prepared.

The present city hall is at Illinois and Washington streets in the downtown area. Plans call for keeping the new structure in the business district. Facilities for the fire department, to replace the outmoded Engine House No. 1, also in the downtown section, probably will be included in the new building.

PET MILK CO. PURCHASES MICHIGAN CANNING CONCERN

Pet Milk Co., which has its general offices in the Arcade Building, announced today that it has pruchased the Crystal Canning Co. of Frankfort, Mich., and that company's Pet-Ritz foods division at Beaulah, Mich. The price was not announced.

Crystal Canning Co., organized in 1927, is a large producer of red sour cherry and apple juices. Pet-Ritz, in business since 1947, makes frozen fruit and berry pies.

R. L. Latzer, president of Pet Milk, said that in entering this new field his company hopes it can be expanded.

Kroger
TENDERAY
BEEF

M-m-m-m... Yes, this is a Kroger Tenderay Sirloin Steak . . . one of the delicious mouth watering cuts of Tenderay Beef that has helped make Kroger food stores the No. 1 preference of thousands of discriminating housewives in this area.

Kroger's Tenderay process was developed in 1939 by the Kroger Food Foundation in cooperation with a nationally known research laboratory in Pittsburgh and a nationally known Electric Company. This Tenderization process merely streamlines nature's own slow ageing method.

Beef of higher grades is held in sealed rooms in which humidity, temperature, air velocity and air sterilization are carefully controlled. At relatively high temperature and humidity, the natural enzymes in meat act to tenderize the tough connective tissues, while ultra ray lamps keep the air free from bacteria and mold spores.

The temperature and the humidity are automatically controlled to hasten the tenderizing process, while the sterilamps prevent spoilage. Nothing is added to make the meat tender, and the lamps serve only to keep the air sterile. The meat is hung in these processing rooms for two to three days, and in this short period attains a degree of tenderness equal to that obtained in 20 to 30 days under the old process of aging in cold storage.

Kroger Tenderay is temporarily not available in the St. Louis area . . . but we hope to have all stores open in the not too distant future.

100 ARRESTED, BRITISH QUELL RIOTS ON CYPRUS

One Youth Killed, Several English Soldiers Hurt in General Strike.

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Sept. 29 (UP)—One youth was killed, several British soldiers were injured and more than 100 Cypriots were arrested today in riots stemming from a general strike and demands for union with Greece.

British commandos and police quelled the rioters with tear gas and achieved an uneasy calm by nightfall. Police and soldiers strung barbed wire barriers and posted "disperse or we fire" signs at strategic locations in Nicosia and elsewhere throughout the island.

The general strike against British rule halted most activity, but colonial authorities said security forces "kept the situation under control."

Trucker Injured.

A British truck driver was injrued when a convoy of two trucks and two ambulances was stalled by a boulder blockade at Lysia on the Nicosia-Famagusta road.

Several priests were detained for illegally ringing church bells. Commandos arrested 45 demonstrators at Lapithos and at the nearby village of Karavas.

British forces cordoned off Nicosia's Metaxas square shortly after dawn when groups of shouting youths began converging by bicycle and afoot.

Small groups infiltrated the square and defied securities forces with shouts of "enosis" (union with Greece.)

Police used tear gas to scatter the demonstrators. No shots were fired. Commandos then ringed the square with barbed wire and took up positions with fixed bayonets.

The Cypriots called the strike in protest against United Nations refusal to debate Greek demands for independence. Cyprus is now a British crown colony and one of the major Mediterranean bases in the Nato command.

Bungling Charged.

In London, Britain's labor party charged the Conservative government of Prime Minister Eden with "bungling" the dispute over Cyprus.

Meanwhile the Colonial Office said it has "definite evidence" that the Cypriot church leader, Archbishop Makarios, is "enlisting Communist support" in his campaign to unify Cyprus with Greece.

A spokesman said Makarios "is arranging to receive the Communist mayors of the two important ports of Famagusta and Larnaca."

5 U.S. COLLEGES WILL HELP INDIA IN FARM METHODS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (UP)—The International Co-operation Administration announced today that it is negotiating with five American colleges to help India develop its agricultural education, research, and extension programs.

The first contract, with Ohio State University, was scheduled to be signed today. The other contracts with the Universities of Illinois, Missouri and Tennessee and Kansas State College are being drafted now.

Under the Ohio State contract, seven technicians will go to India next month under the leadership of Thomas S. Sutton, assistant dean of the university's college of agriculture. ICA has authorized expenditures of $499,110 during the three-year contract with Ohio State.

TURK PREMIER PROMISES ATONEMENT TO GREEKS

SUSURLUK, Turkey, Sept. 29 (AP) — Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes called Greece "our friend and ally" and pledged atonement yesterday for "the most regrettable incidents of Sept. 6"—the day on which a rioting Istanbul mob defaced scores of Greek Orthodox churches and wrecked hundreds of Greek-owned stores.

Opening a new sugar refinery here, he said Turkey is sparing no effort to restore its relations with Greece to the friendly basis that existed before the rioting. He promised that Turkey would take all measures to assure continuance of the Balkan pact with Greece and Yugoslavia.

Menderes said he would be sorry if his country's efforts to atone for the riots failed to satisfy "our friend and ally," Greece.

3 FINED, LOSE LICENSES FOR DRUNKEN DRIVING

Three men were found guilty of driving when intoxicated and were fined a total of $400 yesterday by Police Judge Robert G. Dowd, who also suspended the driver's license for 90 days in each case.

They are John Gaare, of the 5500 block of Pershing avenue, who appealed; Joseph Schroeder, 6700 block of Idaho street, and Julius C. Barber, 4000 block of Fairfax avenue, a Negro. Gaare was fined $150, and also $50 on a careless driving charge, and Schroeder and Barber $100 each.

Gaare was arrested July 23 near Watson road and Columbia avenue; Schroeder Sept. 1 near Cherokee street and Ohio avenue, and Barber Aug. 13 on the Express Highway. All denied that they were intoxicated.

NATION'S TRAFFIC DEATH TOTAL UP 1000 OVER 1954

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 (AP) — Heavy summer vacation travel has increased the nation's traffic death total to 1000 more than it was at the same time last year.

The National Safety Council said today deaths for eight months of 1955 were 23,470. Up to Sept. 1 last year the count was 22,430 or 5 per cent fewer.

August deaths alone jumped 10 per cent, nearly equaling the 11 per cent increase recorded for July. The August total was 3600, making it the sixth month in a row to show an increase over the corresponding month of last year.

Viewed from a mileage standpoint, figures for only seven months show travel was up 7 per cent and deaths for the same period 4. This produced a figure of 5.8 deaths for each 100,000,000 miles, the lowest seven-month rate on record.

Leading cities in safety for eight months, ranked by the number of deaths for each 10,000 registered vehicles, included: St. Louis, 2.4; first in cities of 750,000 to 1,000,000 population.

$1000 GIFT BY RESIDENTS TO CHIEF DEPUTY MARSHAL

Howard J. Wilkinson, chief deputy marshal in Pasadena Park and Pasadena Hills, has been given a check for $1000 by the residents of the communities to express their gratitude for his 27 years of service, it was reported today.

The money was collected this summer while he was recovering from an operation for ulcers. The campaign was on a house-to-house basis with about 40 housewives participating. The donation list contained more 400 names.

Two years ago, Wilkinson, who lives at 2348 South Milton avenue, Overland, was honored at a ceremony for his police work and community service and presented with a check for $325.

MAKES PERFECT SCORE ON ARMED FORCES TEST

William R. Hoffman, 21-year-old son of William Hoffman, a traffic policeman, made a perfect score here yesterday when he took the Armed Forces Qualification Tests at the Navy recruiting office.

Lt. Comdr. Leonard R. Wright said that, according to records kept here, it is the first time anyone has answered each of the 100 questions correctly.

Hoffman is a graduate of Cleveland High School. He attended Missouri School of Mines at Rolla, and for the last two years attended classes at night at Washington University. He lives with his parents at 5017 Tholozan avenue.

PREDICTS SEWER CHARGE DECLINE IN LATER YEARS

Metropolitan District Director Cites Expense of Machinery, Deferred Upkeep.

A proposed residential sewer service charge of $6 to provide the Metropolitan St. Louis Sewer District with operating revenue for its first year of full operation would probably decrease in future years, William Q. Kehr, executive director of the district, said yesterday.

He said initial expenses of the sewer district would be high because trucks and other equipment must be purchased and maintenance work which has been deferred by St. Louis and St. Louis county sewer authorities must be done.

A report proposing the $6 serivce charge for city and county residents, submitted to the sewer district by an engineering firm, noted that the city of St. Louis has deferred maintenance work amounting to about $1,500,000. The report indicated deferred maintenance in the county would be about one-fourth of that, or nearly $400,000.

First-Year Budget.

A first-year operating budget, suggested by the engineers, listed $200,000 for work on deferred maintenance in the city and $50,000 in the county.

Kehr said it would be misleading to compare the proposed first-year expenses of $2,139,000 for the sewer district with the sewer costs presently listed by St. Louis and county municipalities.

The engineers' report said the district should spend $625,000 for regular sewer maintenance in the city and $220,000 in the county, for a total of $845,000.

Available figures show that $664,467 was spent for regular sewer maintenance in 1954, including $548,905 for St. Louis. However, the total does not include a substantial portion of the county, and also excludes such items as administrative costs and engineering and legal fees, Kehr said.

Cost $972 a Mile.

The engineering study, prepared by the Chicago firm of Alvord, Burdick & Howson, said the sewer district's cost per mile of sewer would be $972. In Chicago, the report said, the cost is $700 per mile.

However, it said that many costs properly chargeable to sewers are borne by the city of Chicago, If such costs were removed from the St. Louis sewer district budget, the cost per mile here would be $665, the report said.

The study recommended that the $6 charge be reduced to $5.10 through a 15 per cent discount for prompt payment. Collection of the charges would be made through the customer billing facilities of water departments of St. Louis, Kirkwood, Webster Groves, Florissant and the St. Louis County Water Co.

The sewer district must negotiate long-term contracts with these water authorities for the use of their billing facilities, before a service charge system can be put in effect.

Take-Over to Be Gradual.

Revenue from the charges would permit the district to take over, on a gradual basis, the operation of city and county sewers, and also provide it with the financial stability necessary before it can issue bonds for new sewer construction. Its present funds will be exhausted next June 30.

Of the proposed first-year revenue of $2,137,000, householders would pay slightly more than half. Businesses and industries would pay the remainder.

Major items for which the revenue would be expanded, in addition to the deferred and regular maintenance work, include engineering, $174,000; acquisition of equipment, $260,000; billing expenses, $75,000, and operation of treatment plants and pumping stations, $110,000.

Sewer charges are not now listed separately on taxpayers' bills in the city and in most communities in the county. Substantially, sewer costs are paid from general revenue funds.

Flashes of Life

Proving the Point.

RAHWAY, N.J. (INS)—Motorist Donald D. McLaren of Scotch Plains took his eyes off the road for a better look at a wrecked automobile and crashed into the car in front of him. The eye-catching wreck was part of a roadside exhibit to warn motorists to be cautious.

Bursting With Pride.

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UP)—The Arlington Chamber of Commerce is proud of its victory in naming a new city park. City councilmen voted 4-3 for the name of Russell Park in honor of actress Jane Russell, whose family once owned the land in the Arlington section where the park is.

Surprise.

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP)—Patrolman D. B. Thomas pursued a fleeing motorist for six miles at speeds more than 90 miles an hour. Thomas had the patrol car's red lights blazing and the siren screeching and fired two shots.

The fleeing car finally stopped at a turn. The driver, a 14-year-old boy, leaped from the car.

"Why didn't you stop," Thomas asked.

"Were you chasing me?" the boy answered.

Course in Politeness.

TOKYO, Sept. 29 (AP)—The Tokyo Y.W.C.A. is sponsoring a course on Japanese culture, including a lecture on "how to bow."

Eighth Break from Jail.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Sept. 29 (AP)—South Africa's champion jail breaker, 25-year-old John Albert Patterson, yesterday made his eighth escape from custody. Known "as the man no prison can hold," Patterson and a fellow prisoner overpowered a warden at a jail in Pretoria and fled on bicycles.

NEHRU'S 5-YEAR PROGRAM LINKED TO LONG-RANGE PLAN

NEW DELHI, India, Sept. 29 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru announced yesterday the Indian government is linking its next five-year plan for economic development to long-range "perspective planning" over a period of up to 20 years.

Nehru told a press conference the government is supplementing the development of a 56 billion rupee ($11,760,000,000) second five-year plan starting next April with schemes for the more distant future.

A special statistical unit is being created, he said, "to look into planning 10, 15 and even 20 years hence." The new five-year plan will be made broad and flexible with a precise detailed plan for the first year and an annual revision in subsequent years to fit into the long range outlook, he said.

WILSON TO MAKE 2 TRIPS TO EUROPE IN OCTOBER

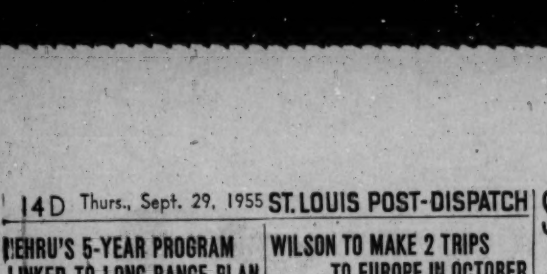

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP) —Secretary of Defense Wilson plans to make two quick trips to Europe next month. First, he will attend the NATO defense ministers meeting in Paris, and later the foreign ministers meeting in Geneva.

He expects to leave the capital on Oct. 8 and join the three-day defense meeting at Paris beginning on Oct. 10. He will head back to Washington on Oct. 13.

He will make his second trip in time to be in Geneva for the start of the foreign ministers conferences about Oct. 24.

Originally, Wilson had planned to be away until about Nov. 1, making visits to Turkey, Pakistan and Spain in between the defense and foreign ministers meeting. He now has changed that schedule.

SCHOOL ROLLS UP 10 PCT. IN COUNTY

84,477 Pupils in Classes Compared With 76,735 Last Year.

Public school enrollment in St. Louis county for the current school year is 84,477, or slightly more than 10 per cent above a year ago, when the enrollment was 76,735, George W. Vossbrink, county superintendent of schools, announced today.

The figure fell short of the 14 per cent rise estimated by Vossbrink five weeks ago. He said, however, that additional enrollments during the year probably would boost the figure about 2000. Enrollments have shown an increase of about 10 per cent each year for the past five years, Vossbrink said.

Largest percentage increase among the 29 districts was Berkeley, which rose 23.4 per cent, from 2057 to 2538. Other substantial increases were in R-8 (Sappington) district, 21.5 per cent, from 1942 to 2360; Ladue, 20.9 per cent, from 2268 to 2743, and Bayless, 20.8 per cent, from 869 to 1050.

There were decreases in school population in three districts—Kinloch, from 1388 to 1272; Hancock Place, from 1805 to 1780, and Valley Park, from 821 to 813. Wellston enrollment was the same this year as last —1376.

Ritenour continued to rank first in school population, with 8847 pupils, an increase of 9 per cent over last year's 8113.

County enrollment, expected to overtake that in St. Louis within a year or two, compared with 91,514 registered in the city. Percentage increase in the city was 1.84 over last year.

VERDICT OF HOMICIDE IN SHOOTING OF WOMAN

A coroner's verdict of homicide was returned today at an inquest into the death of Mrs. Jean L. Hayes, a divorcee, who was shot and killed Tuesday night by Kenneth D. Riley in a quarrel over a long-distance telephone call she received from a man she met on a vacation trip.

Miss Jean Hayes, 21-year-old daughter of Mrs. Hayes, testified that, following the quarrel over the telephone call, Riley returned to the Hayes apartment, 5887 Cabanne avenue, with a paper bag in his hand. Riley said, "I'm going to Dallas and you are going with me," Miss Hayes related.

Mrs. Hayes replied, "I'm not going. The only way you will get me to go is to shoot me," Miss Hayes testified. Riley then "pulled a revolver from the paper bag and shot my mother in the chest." Miss Hayes continued. Mrs. Hayes was 40 years old.

LANZA AGREES TO SETTLE $17,000 HOME DAMAGE SUIT

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Sept. 29 (AP) — Singer Mario Lanza agreed yesterday to settle with the former owners of a Bel Air mansion who said the Lanzas did $17,000 worth of damage to the property in a year's rental.

Amount of the settlement was no disclosed but an attorney for the plaintiffs said the suit, due for trial yesterday, will not be dismissed until the settlement is paid. The suit was put off calendar in superior court. Noah and Hayes V. Andrews said they have since sold the $200,000 house and moved back to Chicago.

Meanwhile, another suit against the Lanzas which charged that his family did $40,000 damage to another house they occupied is still pending in superior court here. The Lanzas lived in that one 28 months.

U.S. T-33 JET THAT LANDED IN EAST GERMANY RETURNED

WIESBADEN, Germany, Sept. 29 (AP)—An American T-33 jet trainer whose pilot made an emergency landing in Communist East Germany has been returned to its base here, the Air Force announced today.

The plane, which landed Sept. 23 after running out of fuel, arrived here by truck. It could not be flown back because of minor damage to its landing gear.

The two airmen aboard, Maj. Louis W. Cunningham of El Paso, Tex., and Sgt. Warren P. Gebler of Jersey City, N.J., were returned by Soviet authorities Sept. 25 to the West German border. Neither was injured in the forced landing.

RUSSIA S PRIMA BALLERINA, COMPOSER TO COME TO U.S.

MOSCOW, Sept. 29 (UP)—Galina Ulanova, Russia's prima ballerina, and Soviet composer Aram Khachaturian will perform in the United States.

Carleton Smith, director of the National Arts Foundation of New York, announced today the two Soviet artists had accepted his invitation to go to America. He said he interviewed Miss Ulanova, 46 years old, during intermission of her performance last night at the Bolshoi theater.

CONGRESSMAN SAYS EUROPE ARMS AID IS AT CRISIS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP) — Chairman Mahon (Dem.), Texas, of the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee, came home from Europe yesterday with a declaration that this nation's military aid program there is "at a crisis stage."

"The governments to whom we have given aircraft, tanks and other fighting equipment have consistently failed to take steps to provide funds for the maintenance of this equipment," Mahon said in a statement. He added:

"Nothing on the horizon indicates to me that these governments will provide the necessary funds or spare parts and adequate maintenance. This is not a new discovery, but there should be no further delay in resolving this matter."

Mahon said he had discussed this problem with Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther at NATO headquarters and that Gruenther "is concerned about it and will have to have Congressional guidance."

Barter Pact Extended.

MANILA, Sept. 29 (AP)—The Phillippines today extended the $200,000,000 barter trade agreement with Japan until Jan. 31. It was to have expired tomorrow. The plan, negotiated May 18, 1950, provides for exchange of $100,000,000 in goods each way.

SECURITY SETUP 'WRONG,' SAYS YALE SCIENTIST

He Asserts Program Makes 'Junior Einsteins' Reluctant to Serve U.S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—John B. Phelps of Yale University, a spokesman for an organization of scientists, said yesterday there is something "radically wrong" with President Eisenhower's security program.

He said this in calling on a Senate Civil Service subcommittee to set up a revamped system that would place primary emphasis on checking the security of scientists, whom he described as the "logical targets" for Soviet espionage attempts.

Phelps, a physicist, is secretary of the Scientists' Committee on Loyalty and Security, a division of the 2200-member Federatio nof American Scientists.

Phelps said Mr. Eisenhower's program has "to some extent made junior Einsteins reluctant to join Government service."

Another witness, Frederick W. Baumann Jr., acting security officer of the Government Printing Office, said that "in most cases," the 51 G.P.O. workers listed as terminated from Government service for security reasons would have been fired anyway for "unsuitability" reasons.

Testimony by VA Head.

His testimony was similar to that yesterday of H. V. Higley, head of the Veterans Administration, who said that "the great majority" of the 449 VA workers listed as weeded out as security risks actually were not discharged under the Administration's security program.

Subcommittee chairman Olin D. Johnston (Dem.), South Carolina, told reporters he thought the testimony of Higley and Baumann supported the Democrats' charges that the Republicans have been playing "a numbers racket for political purposes" in reporting the totals on security firings.

Johnston and two other members of the subcommitee, Senators Matthew Neely (Dem.), West Virginia and Frank Carlson (Rep.), Kansas, praised Phelps for his program which he said was offered 'in order better to safeguard both the security of the United States and the rights of its citizens."

Phelps said something should be done to insure "our traditional safeguards" in dealing with security cases. The present program, he said, is "an uncertain mixture of fair play and arbitrary power."

Phelps's principal suggestion was that the government quit paying so much attention to security checks of persons whose jobs do not involve the handling of secret material.

"Cases are known," he said, in which individuals were summarily suspended from nonsecret work on the basis of derogatory information long known to security officers."

Suggests 3 Conditions.

He argued against "summary suspensions" from work unless these three conditions are met:

1. "Derogatory information sufficient to warrant a serious presumption of risk is suddenly uncovered."
2. "The individual is in a position where he might at any time compromise vital information."
3. "There is no less sensitive task in the laboratory or department to which he might usefully be transferred pending clarification of his security task."

Paul Hadlick, subcommittee counsel, asked Phelps if it were not true that physicists and scientists are the "logical targets for Soviet espionage efforts? Mustn't they be like Caesar's wife, above suspicion?"

"Definitely yes," Phelps replied. "Let's concentrate our program on those who are really handling secret material."

"We need more security," he said. "The question is: Is this the way to get it?"

Carlson praised Phelps for his suggestion that "much of the drastic formality" be removed from security procedures.

"When derogatory material is turned up, the implicated individual could first be quietly and informally approached" and asked for an explanation, Phelps said, adding that if the information could not be explained satisfactorily, "action could still be taken."

Carlson said he has long supported such a plan. "There has been far too much publicity," Carlson said.

Backs Commission Figures.

Carlson said today he has complete confidence in Civil Service Commission figures on the number of federal employes fired as security risks.

He struck back in an interview against the charge of Johnston that CSC Chairman Philip Young's figures embraced many employes who would have been fired on suitability grounds anyhow without any security program. Johnston said testimony showed that.

Johnston took issue among other things with a report Monday from Young that up until last June 30, a total of 3614 employes had been fired under the security program.

But Carlson, only Republican member of the subcommittee, later told reporters that "I stand on the figures released by the Civil Service Commission."

He said that Young would return as a witness later and that he had not doubt Young would "justify" the figures he had given the subcommittee.

RED CHINA SAYS 6 ARMY DIVISIONS WILL LEAVE KOREA

TOKYO, Sept. 29 (AP)—Communist China said today it will pull six army divisions out of North Korea next month. Chinese divisions usually have about 10,000 men each, which would bring the possible total to about 60,000.

The announcement came in a broadcast over Peiping radio. It did not say how many troops would remain in North Korea.

Earlier withdrawals announced by the Communists included some 13 divisions totaling possibly some 130,000 troops. The last major withdrawal reported was in April, when six divisions left. Seven divisions were moved out in the fall of 1954.

At one time in the Korean war the number of Chinese in North Korea was estimated at more than 500,000.

Two United States divisions remain in South Korea. Four have been pulled out. United States divisions at full strength vary from about 18,500 men to 20,000.

HOOVER ADVOCATES MORE LOCAL POLICE

FBI Chief Asserts Inadequate Departments Are 'Dangerous Economy.'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover today called anew for more manpower on local police forces. He said "inadequate provision for successful local police operation is certainly dangerous economy."

Also, Hoover said, citizens should help in the fight against crime, by co-operating in law enforcement.

In a signed editorial in the October issue of the FBI's Law Enforcement Bulletin, Hoover praised what local law officers have done with modernized and progressive methods in attacking "the spiraling crime of the postwar years."

"While the crime total increased 63 per cent in the past 10 years, police organizations with a nominal gain of only 17 per cent in personnel accounted for 49 per cent more cases cleared by arrest," Hoover said.

Noting that an expected decline in crime after "the turbulence" of the war years had failed to materialize, he said:

"Major offenses passed the unprecedented 2,000,000 mark in 1952 and have continued to mount in the past two years. How are we to meet this problem?

"Today the greatest handicaps to strong local policing are inadequate manpower for proper functioning and insufficient funds for suitable salaries, facilities and training.

"Statistics for the past decade indicate the urgent need and the value of increased manpower."

He added, however, that "the crime cancer gnawing at the very vitality of the nation cannot be and should not be the sole responsibility of the police officer." He said it is "both logical and necessary" for the general public to co-operate with law enforcement officers to preserve the well-being of society.

POLICEMAN AND 2 BELLHOPS CLAIM $1,000,000 ESTATE

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29 (AP)—A policeman and two bellhops who were kind to an elderly widow will share equally in her million dollar estate if her last will and testament proves valid.

Mrs. Anna M. Haerer, widow of Dr. F. J. Haerer, died July 29 after spending her last years at the downtown Bellevue Stratford Hotel.

A will drawn up in April, 1944, and probated last month, left the bulk of her $1,000,000 estate to charity. Yesterday, however, an attorney for the three men filed an appeal from the probate stating that there was in their possession a will dated July 19, 1946, in which the physician's widow left the estate equally to her three friends.

They are former Patrolman William T. Miller; Anthony D'Elia, bell captain at the Bellevue, and William B. Dexter, veteran Bellevue bellhop now retired. Miller, who also is retired, was for many years stationed at the intersection outside the hotel.

PARTY WORKERS UNDECIDED ON G.O.P. CANDIDATE

Some Name as Many as 6 Possible Standard Bearers if Eisenhower Steps Out.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—Great indecision exists among professional Republican party workers over who would be the G.O.P.'s strongest candidate next year if President Eisenhower elects to return to private life.

Nearly two-thirds of 116 state Republican chairmen, national committeemen and national committeewomen replying to an Associated Press questionnaire yesterday either declined to name a "strongest candidate" other than Mr. Eisenhower or mentioned from two to half a dozen men whom they termed equally good.

This uncertainty was not considered unusual, since it was only five days ago that Mr. Eisenhower's heart attack set many party leaders to thinking for the first time about an alternative.

Most of the leaders questioned were reluctant to concede that the President might retire to private life at the end of his term. But at least 12 were resigned to a belief he will do so. Only a handful were willing to express a firm opinion whether the President should or should not run for a second term.

Report on Second Term.

Meanwhile there was a report—repeated within hours in a number of top level Administration and Republican quarters—that a Cabinet officer had told a group of important fund-raisers for the party that there was no definite reason at this time to think Mr. Eisenhower cannot run for a second term. They were told, said one who attended, that Mr. Eisenhower alone can and will decide whether he will run in 1956.

Many of the party leaders queried by the Associated Press declined to speculate on a presidential nominee next year, if Mr. Eisenhower does not run, even though it was understood they would not be quoted by name if they did not wish to be.

Twenty-three named Vice President Nixon as being currently the strongest possible standard bearer next to the President. Some said he had gained this stature by his own efforts; others indicated they regarded him as a logical successor now because of his position as Vice President.

But 74 party leaders declined to voice any opinion, and 10 others mentioned up to six possible candidates they considered as strong, without ranking them in any order. Most of those in the latter category included Nixon; several did not.

Others Mentioned.

Others designated as the "strongest candidate" by two or more party officials were Chief Justice Earl Warren, Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey and Milton S. Eisenhower. One each mentioned Thomas E. Dewey and Senator William F. Knowland of California.

Warren said last April he had made an irrevocable decision to leave politics permanently for service on the Supreme Court. Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, heads Pennsylvania State University. Dewey, now in private law practice after 12 years as New York's Governor, was the G.O.P. presidential nominee in 1944 and 1948.

Similarly inconclusive were the party officials' replies to the question: "Do you believe Mr. Eisenhower should run again?"

More or less firmly, five said he should and 12 said he should not. The vast majority said he should if physicians tell him he is sound and would not be endangering his health.

Dirksen Mentioned.

Asked to name second and third choices if Mr. Eisenhower does not seek re-election, the Republicans named more than a score of men in addition to those who got some mention for top spot on the ticket.

Among them were Senator Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts, Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California and Harold E. Stassen, special assistant to the President for disarmament.

It is pointed out that several factors may have contributed to the reluctance on the part of many of those reached to express firm opinions. Those polled are working politicians, who might not want to name possible successors to the head of their party at this stage even if they were confident that he would not seek re-election.

A participant in the fund-raisers meeting, involving chiefly big New York money names, said a cabinet member—whose name he withheld—told the meeting:

"The President has not per se been knocked out of the 1956 presidential race by his heart attack. The President has had the lightest kind of this sort of attack that a man can have.

"There is no reason why, with a few changes in his manner of living, he should not go on. There is no reason in the attack why he should not be a candidate next year. He must stop thinking of himself as an iron man, and get more rest.

"Whether he will be a candidate or not will be entirely up to him. He and he alone will decide, and there is plenty of time for that. But there is nothing in what has happened to eliminate him as the 1956 G.O.P. candidate."

Medical Reports Cited.

The statement that the President's heart attack was "the lightest kind that a man can have," does not agree with the medical bulletins from Denver, which described the attack as "moderate—neither mild nor severe."

Some political experts pointed out that optimistic reports could head off any major quarrel over continuing policies, or keep up the level of campaign contributions, or calm any major business worries, or dampen any party-weakening scramble for the 1956 presidential nomination.

MALAYA OFFICIAL AGREES TO MEET COMMUNIST CHIEF

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya, Sept. 29 (AP)—Chief Minister Prince Abdul Rahman accepted a Communist proposal today for a meeting to discuss the amnesty offered Malaya's Red jungle guerrillas.

In a statement Rahman said he is ready to meet Chin Peng, secretary general of the Malayan Communist party, to clarify terms of the recently offered amnesty.

Such a meeting would be the first between a high government official and a member of the Communist command since the Reds began their guerrilla war seven years ago.

The prince said the president of the Malayan Chinese Association, Sir Chen Lock Tan, would attend the meetings. Sir Chen Lock, whose association is one of the three groups forming Rahman's Alliance party, received letters from the Communist party central committee proposing the meeting.

The chief minister's statement added that the meeting would take place somewhere in north Malaya, in a village bordering the jungle. He added that a local cease-fire would accompany the conference. Rahman made the amnesty offer to the guerrillas Sept. 8.

USE OF PSYCHIATRY BY DOCTORS URGED

Dr. William C. Menniger Calls for Treating the Patient as a Whole.

The practice of medicine would achieve vastly better results if the principles of psychiatry were applied as universally as are the principles of chemistry and physiology, Dr. William C. Menninger of Topeka, Kan., said here today.

Dr. Menninger addressed the twentieth annual meeting of the Mississippi Valley Medical Society. The organization's three-day conference at Hotel Jefferson ends tomorrow.

"I dare to suggest," Dr. Menninger said, "that if we were able to impart the increasing knowledge and experience we have gained in the field of psychiatry to all practioners of medicine, they might recapture some of the qualities . . . of the old time 'family physician'."

Knowledge of Background.

The family doctor seemed to have more time for his patients, the speaker said, and through visits to the home was able to see the family as a unit and obtain a knowledge of the ailing person's background.

Dr. Menninger said the modern trend toward specialization in medicine had brought magnificent gains in medical knowledge, but the influence of the psychiatry, with its insistence on viewing the patient as a whole, had thus far been slight.

"The result is," he said, "that in general physicians have interested themselves in the behavior of the stomach and the pancreas but not in the misbehavior of the total organism in relation to its environment."

Dr. Menninger said there had been great improvement in the application of psychiatry to medical practice in the last 10 years, even though many doctors still are baffled by the number of patients—estimated at more than 50 per cent of all patients — who seek medical help but have nothing wrong physically.

Aid to the Elderly.

Dr. William B. Kountz, assistant professor of clinical medicine at Washington University, said earlier today that medicine is beginning to realize that elderly persons can live many years and remain healthy, provided some of the basic physiological problems of body munctions are understood.

He was a participant in a panel discussion in which five physicians discussed medical problems related to the aging process. Dr. Edward Henderson, Montclair, N.J., editor in chief of the Journal of the American Geriatrics Society, was moderator of the panel.

"Man's best years are not over at 60," Dr. Henderson said. "Sixty-six per cent of all great achievements were made by persons past that age."

DEPARTURE OF MOROCCAN SULTAN CALLED IMMINENT

RABAT, Morocco, Sept. 29 (UP)—The departure of Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa is "imminent" and this may be his last day on the throne of Morocco, well-informed sources said today.

Moulay Arafa's departure finally would mark the beginning of the application of France's peace plan for this troubled protectorate.

His removal was believed clinched when his strongest supporter, Hadj Thami el Glaoui, the 84-year-old Pasha of Marrakesh, reportedly told French Resident General Pierre Boyer de Latour yesterday that he would not oppose the Sultan's ouster.

NATO NOT READY TO ROUT ATTACK, GRUENTHER SAYS

Tells Bankers German Rearming May Tip Balance of Power in Favor of West.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 (AP)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, Supreme Allied Commander in Europe, said yesterday NATO is not yet prepared to repel an all-out enemy attack but in a few years it could make any aggression against free Europe "unprofitable."

Outlining European defenses before the final session of the American Bankers Association convention, Gruenther said that although NATO has progressed to become a functioning organization since 1951, "the hardest period is coming ahead."

He indicated that the key to the duration of peace may lie in German rearmament, and added: "Is NATO strong enough to resist an all-out act of Communist aggression? No. We have not progressed enough yet but with the advent of German forces we shall be able to defeat any all-out act of aggression. They (Soviets) are trying to prevent the German army from coming into being."

Two-Fisted Enemy.

The general described a potent, fearful, two-fisted enemy—the world's largest armed force and masterful psychological campaign.

"Our planning is based on the military capabilities of an enemy such as size and effectiveness.

He estimated Russian army strength at 175 divisions. Russia has 20,000 planes, mostly jets, he said, and their naval strategy is being concentrated on submarines.

"They now have 350 submarines and the Germans started World War II with 75. That doesn't mean that they are five times better because they don't have the know how yet."

He said also that Russian satellite nations have more than 1,000,000 troops and 2500 airplanes.

"I personally think there will be no war," he said, adding:

"The hardest period is coming ahead now because the free world in the past has been united by the cement of a common fear and the (Soviet) smile campaign is loosening that cement."

Gruenther said the job of NATO is to get a balance of power to prevent future warfare.

Clarence B. Randall, chairman of the board of Inland Steel Co., described as unique characteristics of the American free enterprise system "unlimited production and productivity . . . our method of distribution . . . and its regenerative quality in terms of the creation of capital."

Lists Shortcomings.

He then turned to business practices which he said are diseases to the system.

"The first is the failure on the part of business men honestly to live up to the code of vigorous competition. Free enterprise and free markets must go hand in hand. . . .

"The second failure of the business man who doesn't measure up to the responsibility side of free enterprise, which requires standing on your own feet, is the man who in one way or another seeks Government subsidy. . . .

"Most of the business world wanted President Eisenhower elected. Few have supported his policies. Reflect on that."

BRITAIN TO DEPORT POLE URGING EXILES TO RETURN

LONDON, Sept. 29 (AP)—Britain today ordered the deportation of a Pole who has been campaigning among Polish refugees, urging them to return to their Communist homeland.

A Home Office spokesman said the man is Joseph Malicki, secrteary of the Polish Cultural and Social Society, which has its headquarters on fashionable Regent's Park road.

The spokesman declined to say on what grounds Malicki is being departed. Malicki, known to have been in Britain for several years, has traveled throughout the British Isles. His society has been engaged in persuading Poles to return to Poland.

FRENCHMEN FREED IN RUSSIA ASK GERMANY FOR ASYLUM

KEHL, Germany, Sept. 29 (AP)—Three Frenchmen freed last week from more than 10 years of Soviet captivity asked West German authorities here yesterday for political asylum, Kehl police said.

The Frenchmen told police they would face immediate arrest in France for serving with the German army.

A police spokesman said the three were temporarily accommodated at a hostel here pending a federal goverment decision on their request.

MRS. CHADEAYNE ELECTED

Mrs. Henry F. Chadeayne, 4459 Lindell boulevard, today was named president of the Missouri division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy at its fifty-eighth annual meeting at Mexico.

Other officers elected for two-year terms include: Mrs. L. E. Young, University City, first vice president; Mrs. R. F. Wallace, Kirkwood, recording secretary, and Mrs. L. H. Herring, University City, treasurer.

6 SOVIET WRITERS TO TOUR U.S.—NO FINGERPRINTING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (UP)—The United States and Russia are working out final arrangements for six Soviet journalists to tour this country. An announcement is expected in about a week.

The Soviet journalists are "officials" who are not required to be fingerprinted in order to obtain United States entry permits.

The names of the journalists and their itinerary were not disclosed in advance of the official announcement. Officials said, however, that the tour would be extensive. It follows the recent tour of the United States of Soviet agriculture officials and the forthcoming tour by Soviet housing officials.

An earlier trip for 11 editors of Soviet student and youth newspapers was called off in April. The Russians refused to comply with regulations requiring "non-official visitors" to be fingerprinted.

CONTEMPT RULING IN HOUSING INVESTIGATION IS OVERRULED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (UP)—The United States Court of Appeals today cleared Abraham Traub, a New York attorney, of a contempt conviction for failing to produce financial records at a grand jury investigation of federal housing scandals.

Traub, who represented large real estate firms, refused last March to hand over records of fees he received from 1947 to 1953. He told a federal grand jury here that they were not in his possession when he was served with a subpena and therefore he was not required to produce them.

Traub refused to answer further questions on the grounds that his answers might tend to incriminate him.

Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts sentenced Traub to one year in jail on a charge of criminal contempt for disobeying the court's order to produce the records. However, the three-judge appeals court unanimously ordered Traub acquitted. It held that a subpena can require only that a witness produce documents in his possession and control when it is served.

'Copter Flight to North Pole.

LONDON, Sept. 29 (AP)—Moscow radio reported yesterday that a new Soviet helicopter labeled the M14 has made a 5000-mile test flight from Moscow to the North Pole. The broadcast gave no details.

SKIN BANK SUCCESS REPORTED BY PANEL

Grafts From Postmortem Donors Often Save Lives, St. Louis Doctors Say.

A skin bank with stored postmortem homografts skin can meet most demands at any time for severely burned persons, eliminating the need for live donors, three members of the plastic surgery service of the department of surgery of the Washington University School of Medicine said today at Atlantic City, N. J.

The statement was made by Dr. James Barrett Brown, Dr. Minot P. Fryer and Dr. Thomas J. Zaydon at a meeting of the American Society of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery.

Reporting on the establishment of a skin bank at Barnes Hospital, the first such bank in a civilian hospital in the nation, the doctors said "unlimited amounts of banked skin could be decisive in saving many lives in the event of disaster, national emergency or large military requirements."

The St. Louis group reported that stored skin taken from a recently deceased person and preserved provided a temporary biological covering which was often life-saving to persons with extensive burns. Although skin grafts from donors do not take permanently, they last from 10 to 30 days until the patient is well enough to have raw areas of his body covered with his own skin, they declared.

"The grafts available from one postmortem donor equal those from a large group of live donors without the personnel and expense of multiple operative procedures or the discomfort, wound car and time loss for those live donors," the doctors asserted.

When stored at ordinary refrigerator temperatures, postmortem skin can be used as long as three weeks after removal, they said. Skin can be stored for periods ranging up to six months, if other methods, some still in an experimental stage, are used, the Washington University doctors said.

Studies to discovered a means by which homografts will survive permanently are also under way, but permanent "takes" have succeeded only between identical twins, they said.

The St. Louis doctors urged that "the use of postmortem homografts be accepted as a standard surgical procedure," and said the simple direct method of fresh or short-term storage can be carried out without delay in any hospital.

EGYPT'S MILITARY RULERS ABOLISH RELIGIOUS COURTS

CAIRO, Sept. 29 (AP)—For the first time in centuries, Christians and Moslems soon will be getting divorces in the same Egyptian courts.

Egypt's military government is the first Arab government to abolish religious law courts which exercised jurisdiction over matters of personal status—marriage, divorce, inheritance.

Under the old system, dating from the rule of the Ottoman Turks, Moslems, Jews, and Christians had their own recognized courts.

This meant that a Christian living in Cairo could marry only one wife, while his Moslem neighbor could marry four. The Christian could get a divorce only with the greatest difficulty. A Sunni (orthodox) Moslem could divorce simply by saying "I divorce you," three times to his wife. A Shi-ite (Schismatic) Moslem could legally contract to marry for a day or a week, after which the marriage would be automatically dissolved.

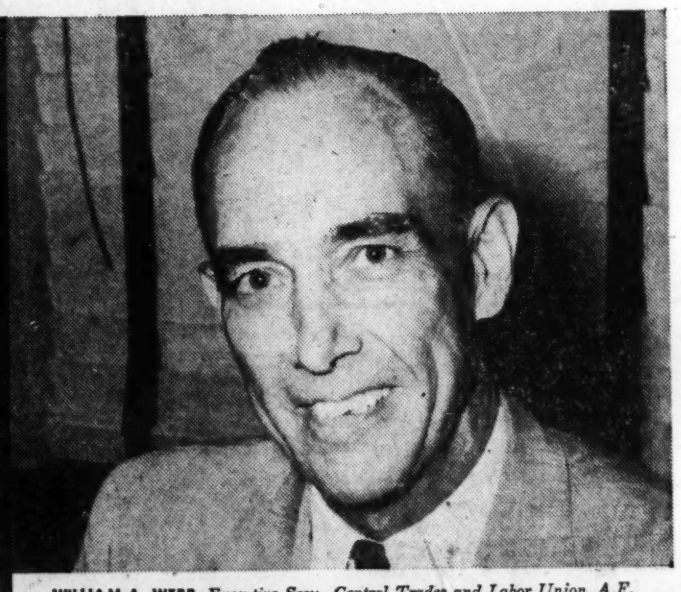

The system encouraged conversion of Christians to Islam. Sociologists here have estimated that more than 1000 Christians become Moslems annually in Egypt, primarily to take advantage of the easy divorce.

3 MORE RANSOM BILLS FOUND IN RESERVE BANKS

Two Turn Up in Chicago, One in Baltimore—Total of 70 Now Recovered.

Three more $20 bills from the Greenlease ransom turned up in Federal Reserve banks yesterday, two in Chicago and the third in Baltimore.

J. Earl Milnes, agent in charge of the St. Louis office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said the Baltimore bill was traced to the Farmers & Mechanics National Bank at Frederick, Md. It was the second ransom note to be found in Maryland within a week. The earlier bill was traced to a Baltimore bank, from the Baltimore branch of the Federal Reserve Bank.

The two Chicago bills brought to 48 the number recovered through the Federal Reserve Bank there. Seventy bills, all 20s, have been recovered of the missing ransom, which originally totaled $303,720.

Bills have appeared in cities throughout the nation, including St. Louis and East St. Louis, in limited numbers. Federal agents have concluded that Chicago is the central distribution point.

INDIANS DECORATE 3 BREWERS; SOME IN TRIBE SAY 'UGH'

Three St. Louis brewery executives were inducted as honorary Indians at Lawton, Okla., last night despite protests by some aroused members of the Kiowa tribe that "those beer people never did anything good for the Indian."

In extending the honors to the palefaces, Robert Goombi, a Kiowa himself, showed no signs of having been struck by any of the verbal tomahawks thrown by his fellow tribesmen in their uprising over the friendship extended to the firewater makers.

Twelve other executives attending the annual pow wow of the Oklahoma division of the United States Brewers Foundation also became "Indians." The honor, which includes headdress decorations, generally is reserved for candidates for public office.

ITALIAN HOLDING OFF POLICE TRYING TO GIVE HIM HIS SON

POTENZA, Italy, Sept. 29 (AP)—A father stood off 50 policemen today in a battle of bullets and tear gas because he did not want his son. One policeman was wounded seriously in the fight near the village of Montemilone in southern Italy.

The siege began yesterday when a court agent approached the house of Antonio Laccisaglia, a retired army sergeant, to hand him his 7-year-old son. A court order had restored the boy to the father, who is separated from the youngster's mother.

Laccisaglia refused to take the boy and chased the agent away. Police were called and the father barricaded himself in the home and opened fire. Police said they would not try to capture him until his ammunition was gone.

16 PERSONS FLEE ROOMING HOUSE FIRE

Sixteen persons, including several children, were forced to flee from a three-story rooming house at 2310-12 Chestnut street last midnight when a fire was started by a 15-year-old boy who lived there.

Two policemen, passing in a scout car, saw smoke and awakened the occupants, all Negroes. One man carrying his small daughter downstairs fell, but neither was injured.

Sgt. Arthur Boylan and Cpl. Paul London, Central District, discovered the fire and aroused the occupants. Firemen responding to two alarms fought the fire on the second and third floors. Damage was estimated at $7000.

Police booked the boy, who they said admitted he set fire to his bed in a second floor rear room. After starting the fire, he ran out, he said. He is held at the Children's Building suspected of arson.

Authorities at the convent of the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament said Marie, now 21 years old, had been permitted to return Sept. 12 as a novice instead of starting again as a postulant. She also resumed her religious name, Sister Marie-Rachel.

She first entered the convent in November 1953, but left in May 1954 because of poor health and extreme homesickness. She cannot become a permanent member of the order until she has served as a novice for two years.

Only four of the quintuplets are living. Emilie died at 20 on Aug. 6, 1954.

ASSERTS FLOOD FORECASTS SAVE $30,000,000 A YEAR

Flood forecasts bring average savings of $30,000,000 a year in the United States, Phillip Light, hydrologist in charge of the River Forecast Center of the United States Weather Bureau, said yesterday in a talk on Station KWK-TV.

The telecast was part of the "Meet Your Federal Agencies" series sponsored by the Federal Business Association of Greater St. Louis.

Light said statistics show the United States as a whole suffers average annual flood damage of about $275,000,000. He explained that the Weather Bureau predicts the maximum flood height expected following heavy rain or melting snow and then distributes the forecasts to the threatened area by various means of communication.

Life of Fear for Soviet Spies Who Defected in Australia

Vladimir Petrov and Wife Probably Will Be Protected by Security Agents Rest of Lives.

By FRED B. HULBARD

The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Radio. Copyright, 1955.

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 29—A new life filled with uncertainty and fears has begun for two famous residents of a swanky suburb along Sydney's north shore.

The world knows them as Vladimir and Evdokia Petrov, the two Russian MVD agents who defected dramatically in Australia last year.

For the 17 months they've been protected by Australian security agents, the days and nights have been busy ones for the Petrovs.

Western intelligence agents interrogated them for weeks. Then came the Royal Commission probe into Soviet espionage here.

Petrov, an ex-colonel in the MVD, appeared as a witness for 37 days and spent 74 wearying hours in the witness box.

His wife Evdokia testified on 21 days and was in the witness box 30 hours.

Both ex-spies in addition spent long hours going over points of their testimony with security agents and lawyers for the Royal Commission.

It can now be told that the commission almost bogged down in its early hearings because the Petrovs were reluctant to testify.

Having seen relatives, friends and colleagues in Russia carted off to be liquidated as "enemies of the state," they understandably feared governments.

Hadn't they spied on Australia? Didn't that make them "enemies" who would be liquidated after the Australian Government had finished its interrogations?

Australian authorities were able to reassure the worried Petrovs on that score, but it reportedly took some persuasion.

Today, having written their memoirs, the Petrovs are planning a new life, the details of which have not been revealed for good reasons.

Whatever they do, they will be haunted by fears of Soviet retribution, for in Russian eyes they are traitors.

As long as the need exists—and that probably means a lifetime—the Petrovs will be protected by security agents.

For the time being they are being maintained at government expense. How long this will last is uncertain.

The Petrovs are not broke, however. Apart from what they earn from their memoirs, they have an $11,150 grant given them by the government.

LOES BATTED OUT IN FOUR-RUN FOURTH; BYRNE HELPS AT PLATE

By Bob Broeg
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—Tommy Byrne, 36-year-old baseball traveler who went back to the minor leagues to find deception and direction to his pitching, became a man of distinction this afternoon as he hurled and batted the New York Yankees into a commanding position in the 1955 World Series.

Byrne's 4-2 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers at Yankee Stadium before a crowd of 64,707 gave the veteran son of the South the honor—'suh'—of becoming the first lefthander to start, finish and win against the National League champions this year.

In addition, on the strength of a timely and determined attack in a four-run fourth inning climaxed by his single that drove in the last two tallies, Byrne shoved the Dodgers firmly behind an eight-ball from which no team has escaped in World Series competition since 1922. Since then no club defeated in its first two Series games has rallied to take the blue chips.

Traded to Browns in '51.

A Yankee as far back as 1943, a 15-game winner each in 1949 and '50, but only a fireball pitcher of no control, Byrne saw only three-plus insignificant innings of World Series pitching six years ago. Traded to the Browns with $25,000 for Stubby Overmire on the June 15 deadline in 1951, he began the downgrade, bouncing from St. Louis to Chicago to Washington and then to Charleston, W. Va., and Seattle in the minor leagues.

It was on the Pacific Coast, acquiring breaking speeds and control, that the Wake Forest alumnus became a pitcher so impressive that the Yankees repurchased his contract late in the 1954 season. He won 16 and lost only five this year of his comeback in the white uniform with the navy blue pinstripes of the Bronx Bombers, and he rarely was better than while allowing only five hits this afternoon.

The Yankees, meanwhile, bunched five of their eight blows with a walk and hit batsman yielded by righthander Billy Loes, permitted to linger through eight batters in the decisive fourth frame. And the American Leaguers won the game without two-thirds of their regular outfield. With Mickey Mantle already sidelined because of an injury, Hank Bauer was forced out with a pulled thigh muscle in the third inning.

11 Yanks Strike Out.

For Casey Stengel's Yankees, 11 of whom struck out, Yogi singled twice. For Walt Alston's defeated Dodgers, who coundn't take advantage of five walks off Byrne, Pee Wee Reese was the only player with more than one hit, singling twice.

The defeat, Brooklyn's fifth straight at the Stadium, counting the 1953 series won by the Yankees in six games, put the Dodgers in a perilous position. Manager Alston had announced beforehand that when the scene shifted to Ebbets Field tomorrow, he'd start Southpaw Johnny Podres and Stengel, previously indecisive, also had said before today's game that Righthander Bob Turley of East St. Louis would open tomorrow for the American League champions.

Byrne's first pitch of the game was a called strike and then the Yankee lefthander got Gilliam swinging helplessly on a "2-2" hook. Reese, swinging on the first pitch, flied to Bauer, who shaded his eyes to make the catch in shallow right-center. Snider, after taking a called strike, brought Bauer hurrying behind the infield to grab his looping fly.

Bauer's Third Series Hit.

Bauer, who beat out a bunt to open the home half yesterday, faked laying one down on Loes' first pitch to the Yankees this afternoon. It was low, a ball. So was the slender right hander's second pitch. The count went to "3-1" and Bauer socked a sharp grounder past the diving Robinson's left into left field for a single, Hank's third series hit.

There was excitement then and even more when the count on McDougald went to the limit, at which point Loes took something off his fast ball, fooling the Yankee third baseman, who struck out with Bauer in motion. Campanella's perfect peg to Zimmer doubled the runner sliding into second base. And after Loes floated across a slow ball for a called second strike, Noren flied softly to Snider.

Byrne, throwing breaking stuff of variable speeds with a broken-armed, lefthanded delivery, retired the hitless Campanella on a high foul to McDougald to open the Brooklyn second. Cautiously, Tommy walked Furillo. Hodges lifted a short fly to Bauer as Martin, trying to decoy Furillo into running, went through the motion of fielding a phantom ground ball at second base. Then, with Furillo breaking on a hit-and-run, Robinson lifted a high fly to short left-center. It had all the earmarks of a run-scoring Texas Leaguer, the way the Yankee defense reacted, until Rizzuto ranged out at the last second to make an over-the-shoulder grab.

With one strike on Berra, leading off the home second, Loes fired a high inside pitch that struck Yogi on the right shoulder, apparently. He went down, but was unhurt, picked up his cap and trotted to first as Loes came down off the mound to inquire about the damage.

Home-Run Collins, greeted lustily, took one healthy cut before striking out on a sharp overhanded curve that was so low it almost bounced at the plate. Howard, brushed back by one pitch, finally fanned on a "3-2" curve and Berra, running, would have been out at second if Zimmer hadn't dropped Campanella's bull's-eye throw. Zimmer drew an error. With Martin batting, Loes missed a pitchout sign, prompting a huddle with Campanella and Reese, before recording his third strikeout of the inning, getting Martin swinging on a full-count fast ball.

The Yankees made their outfield shift in the third, a result of Bauer's thigh injury suffered running the bases in the first. Howard moved to right, Noren to left and Cerv took over in center, making his debut as a World Series player. Byrne had a easy inning, striking out Zimmer, called; Loes grounding to Rizzuto and Gilliam flying to Noren.

Opening the Yankee third, Rizzuto lined a drive down the left field foul line and exceptional fielding by Gilliam held the drive to a single. The Scooter, belly-flooping, had second base stolen with Byrne at bat, but Tommy fouled off the pitch. Byrne then grounded into a double play, Zimmer to Reese to Hodges, and big Cerv took a honey of a hook for strike three.

Two-Bagger for Pee Wee.

Reese, first up in the fourth, supplied the first Brooklyn hit a ndreason for the Dodger followers to cheer, gently stroking a let-up pitch to the opposite field and over the leaping Collins's head into the right field corner for a double. Snider, faking a bunt, then reached out and pulled a slow curve into right for a run-scoring hit just inside the line. It appeared a fan might have interfered with the play, which would have been a ground-rule double, but the umpires said it wasn't so. And, as a result, Snider was out trying for second when Howard strong-armed a perfect throw to Rizzuto.

Campanella drew a walk, continuing the Dodger fourth, but Byrne settled down. Furillo brought Noren in for his short fly and Hodges sent the left fielder back for his long drive, which would have been a homer in Brooklyn. Here, it was only an easy out.

A clever double play started by Hodges only served to delay Yankee scoring in their fourth, an inning in which they took the lead with four runs after two were out. McDougald, first up, singled on a line to right before Noren's hot grounder over first base was gloved by Hodgesl who stepped on the bag, wheeled and fired to Reese at second ahead of the runner sliding in.

Even with that bracer, Loes suddenly went to pieces and the Yankee fans had a field day. Berra began it with a bloop single he one-handed to short left-center. Collins walked. Howard, key man of the inning, shot a single to left, tying the score when Gilliam, though handling the hard-hit ball quickly, followed with a weak throw to the plate. When Martin grounded briskly past the diving Reese into left for another single, scoring Collins, Alston came out to talk to Loes.

Stays In Too Long.

The Brooklyn manager decided to stay with his starter and it was a most unwise decision. Stengel, having the initiative, forced the offensive by sending slugging lefthanded Eddie Robinson to pinch-bat for Rizzuto. Loes's first pitch hit the big guy in the back, filling the bases. Gerry Coleman ran for the Yankee Robinson.

Loes, still on duty, missed with one pitch to Byrne, then served a fast ball. Tommy slammed into center field, scoring Howard and Martin with the third and fourth runs of the inning.

Now, Alston beckoned for Don Bessent, who worked a scoreless inning and a third yesterday. Bessent induced Cerv to ground to Zimmer, ending the inning, but not before nine Yankees had batted to produce four runs on five hits, a walk and a hit batsman.

The press box public address system passed along the intelligence that two World Series records had been set during the big Yankee inning. Hodges having become the first to start two first-short-to-first double plays in one Series—he had one yesterday, too—and Loes having achieved the dubious distinction of becoming the first Series hurler to hit two batters in one game.

Trailing, 4-1, the Dodgers

YOGI BERRA appears to be a dead pigeon on his way to second base in the second inning of the World Series game at Yankee Stadium as DON ZIMMER, Brooklyn second baseman, seems to have the ball in plenty of time to tag out Berra. Zimmer, however, dropped the ball and Yogi was safe. He ran as Elston Howard struck out.

Dodgers Say Fan Touched Snider's Single

They blamed him for killing a possible big inning that might have made them winners instead of disconsolate losers to the Yankees for the second straight day.

The incident, which provoked no dispute at the time, occurred in the fourth inning when Pee Wee Reese led off with a double and Duke Snider followed with a line shot that bounced into the right field corner near the foul line.

The Dodgers declared that a fan touched the ball which would have made it an automatic ground rule double. They also insisted that Donatelli blew the call because he was elaborately gesturing that the hit was fair, waving his arms toward center field with his back to the grandstand.

Ball Dropped Dead, Walt Says.

"I thought that a fan touched the ball because it dropped dead on the ground and Elston Howard was able to grab it right up and make the throw that got Duke at second," said Manager Walter Alston.

"Of course, I guess the umpire ought to know," he added sarcastically.

Snider said he made turn at first and went a little off stride in the soft turf and the delay wrecked his chances to make second safely.

"But I swear that fan touched that ball and I was in a position to see it as I was running," he said. "But I didn't slow down on that account. I just went off stride."

"Look at what we might have had at that time," Snider said. "Reese in with one run and me on second with nobody out. Those are the things that hurt, when you feel you have a big rally... cooking and somebody puts out the fire."

Alston said he didn't want the Donatelli incident to take anything away from the fine game that lefty Tommy Byrne pitched.

Hitter Byrne Proud of His Pitching, Too

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (UP)—It was another World Series victory for thee Yankees today but it cost them plenty because hustling Hank Bauer went out of the game with the same type of injury that is keeping Mickey Mantle on the bench.

"They won't know for 24 hours how serious it is," said Bauer, who pulled a muscle in his right thigh sliding into second in the very first inning.

With Mantle and Bauer both on the bench, Manager Casey Stengel admitted the Yankees were lucky to beat the Dodgers "But we got the pitchin' from that feller out there and that's all you need sometimes."

"That feller" was lefty Tommy Byrne, the 35-year-old retread, who learned after it was all over he had tossed 123 pitches in becoming the first southpaw all year to go the distance and whip the powerful Dodgers.

Byrne, who said he felt strong all the way, was jubilant at his fuorth inning single—off a fast ball by Billy Loes—that drove in the deciding pair of runs. But pitching is his business and that was his main source of joy.

"I felt strong all along," he said. "It was that half-speed stuff that made me a pitcher two years ago and that's what helped today."

"Half of them musta been fast balls," said the veteran who came back from baseball's "boneyards" in the minors to help bring the Yankees a pennant and a World Series triumph today.

"Yeah," said Catcher Yogi Berra, "but he pitched nothing except sliders in the ninth inning. We didn't want any of those guys puttin' a fast ball into the seats at that stage."

"Byrne threw five fast balls to Snider in the eighth, then struck him out with a slider," said Stengel. "That took a lot of nerve with a feller on base and Snider up.

"Now if we got two fellers out tomorrow (Bauer and Mantle) that's trouble but we'll play it like today if that happens with (Bob) Cerv in center, Noren in left and Howard in right. Cerv will lead off."

U.S. and Hawaii Nines To Meet in Playoff For Non-Pro Title

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 29 (UP)—The United States will take on Hawaii in a sudden-death playoff tonight for the non-professional baseball championship of the world.

Hawaii came from six runs behind to defeat Wichita's Boeing Bombers, 8-6, in 12 innings last night to send the first global world series into the overtime match. The U.S., which suffered its first loss, had previously defeated the Honolulu team, 5-3, for Hawaii's only setback.

Canada scored four runs in the seventh inning of the first game to edge Colombia, 4-3, for third place honors.

Marciano to Parade.

BOSTON, Sept. 29 (UP)—Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano will participate in a Columbus day parade in Boston Oct. 12.

Turley and Podres for Third Game

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (UP)—Johnny Podres, a lefthander, is scheduled to pitch the third game of the World Series for the Brooklyn Dodgers against righthander Bob Turley of the Yankees, it was announced here today by Manager Walt Alston of Brooklyn and Manager Casey Stengel, of the Yankees.

Podres won 10 and lost 10 during the regular season while Turley, a member of the St. Louis Browns at one time, won 16 and lost 13. Turley lives at Troy, Ill.

Manager Walt Alston of the Dodgers announced that he would change his lineup tomorrow, sending Sandy Amoros to left field and Junior Gilliam to second base. That will put Don Zimmer, who made two errors today at second base, on the bench.

Series Sidelights

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—(UP) Babe Ruth once called his shot in the 1932 world series but Southpaw Tommy Byrne makes 101cent prophet by "calling his shots" four and five times per game.

"The guy is fantastic," explained Shortstop Jerry Coleman, after Byrne beat Brooklyn, 4-1, in the second game of the World Series today.

"When (Frank) Kellert came up for the Dodgers in the fifth inning, Byrne called me over and said, 'If I make him hit the ball to you, will you convert it into a double play?'

"I told him sure, so he made Kelelrt hit to me and we got a double play.

"Again in the eighth, with (Junior) Gilliam up, Byrne says, 'heads up, men, here comes another D-P. Sure enough, it was.'"

Mickey Mantle, the Yankees' side-lined star, disclosed that he was feeling "a lot better" but he seriously doubted that he would be able to play tomorrow.

The Pittsburgh Pirates have offered Branch Rickey a deal, it is reported.

Rickey's contract calls for him to serve the Pirates in an advisory capacity for the next five years, but the Pittsburgh brass will give him free rein as general manager for 1956 if he resigns at the end of that season.

The Yankees, who think of everything, have come up with homework assignments for their pitchers.

The night before a Yankee pitcher is slated to work against Brooklyn, he is given a notebook containing all the Dodgers' batting weaknesses and instructed to study it well.

Snider was so surprised the ball didn't go into the seats for a ground-rule double that he was thrown out trying to make second. Poor Duke, still winding up with bogeys even though he keeps shooting for par.

Loes Fails to Last Four Innings; Byrne Helps at the Plate

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.

BIG Don Newcombe made it plain to his manager, Walter Alston, early in the season that he heartily disliked pitching batting practice, so it can be assumed that Don didn't enjoy the first game of the world series. Elston Howard, Joe Collins and Billy Martin made it seem very much like batting practice pitching that Newcombe was doing.

Opening game strategy was highlighted by two solo dashes for home plate by Billy Martin of the Yankees and Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers . . . and both were criticized as not strictly orthodox or easily defended.

Ed Robinson, one of Casey Stengel's three first basemen, was pinch-batting for Phil Rizzuto with two down in the sixth and Martin on third when Billy dashed for the plate. He was out on a close play.

Somebody in the press box wondered if Martin was running on his own and then a man with more complex ideas about strategy offered the idea that Stengel had used Robinson as a plant, with the thought that the Dodgers wouldn't expect an attempt to steal home with the No. 1 pinch-hitter up there.

"If it wasn't a plant," an intimate of Stengel suggested, "and Martin had made it, I'll bet Stengel would have just winked when he was asked if he had pulled that kind of a trick play."

Stengel cleared it all up in the clubhouse after the game.

"Sure he ran on his own," Casey said. "Nobody was more surprised than I was. What do you think I had that guy up there for (meaning Robinson), to stand there and watch Martin run a 30-yard dash?"

Robinson and the Dodgers found it easier to defend or justify Jackie's strategy, because it netted a run and reduced the Yankee lead to a single tally. And that single run looked small as the ninth inning opened, with PeeWee Reese, Duke Snider, Roy Campanella and Carl Furillo in line to bat.

The play on Jackie also was close, close enough to get a big beef from Yogi Berra, who beefs easily, and an equally vociferous complaint from Stengel, who is equally good righthanded or lefthanded at vociferously gesticulating protests.

The Martin steal and the way Campanella tagged Billy made the feud a little hotter between the Yankee infielder and the Dodger catcher. Martin popped off before the series to the effect that "that guy Campanella never tags you." Then, after his futile effort to steal a run in the series opener, he complained that Campanella had tagged him on the throat.

"My mistake," Campanella admitted in the Dodger clubhouse after the battle. "I meant to tag him four inches higher, in the teeth."

Stengel was accepting congratulations as usual, after the game. And he made no mistakes. After two unearned runs made the score close in the eighth, Casey labored to the mound and gave Whitey Ford a word, or two of advice. Ford then disposed of Gilliam.

Casey's Big Guess.

CASEY'S big guess that was right was in calling Bob Grim to pitch the ninth. Grim throw a blazing fast ball and is a fine pitching competitor, which is a way of saying that he is not adverse to throwing a fast one near a batter's chin, to prevent him from digging in too securely at the plate.

Grim did a masterful job. He got rid of Reese, leading off in the ninth, on a called third strike, a fast spinning curve.

That brought Snider to the plate and Casey made another trip to the mound.

"I don't have to tell you nothing about this guy at the plate," he said. "You know all about him. He can hit a ball out to that big building you see beyond that fence over there. He's not a bad fellow if he hits singles, so you know where to keep the ball for him. I'm sure, as I say, that I don't have to tell you nothing about him."

Grim held Snider to a single, which was all Casey had requested, and then Campanella flied to the nimble Hank Bauer for the second out. And then the contest ended on a familiar note of Dodger contrast and frustration.

Carl Furillo had hit a home run, drawn a walk and hit two singles on trips to the plate prior to the ninth. And the Dodger fans, numerous even in the homeland of the enemy, gave with a great cheer when Carl stepped up there with the tying run on base and his own warclub a potential producer of a leading tally. But it was the old story of Dodgers' hope versus the Yankees. Grim struck him out.

Jerry Schoonmaker Returns to Mizzou

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 29—Jerry Schoonmaker has returned to the University of Missouri to work toward a degree after a season as a bonus player on the Washington Senators.

Bauer Is Injured, Removed

Gilliam Drives in Run.

Almost as quickly, there was a deep groan, however, as Kellert grounded weakly to Coleman and because he is a slow runner, Coleman was able to make it a double play, Martin pivoting. However, the Dodgers did score one run in the inning, for Gilliam grounded a single to left between third and short, scoring Robinson. Reese, fouling off pitches, finally was fooled and took an inning-ending curved strike.

The Brooklyn pitcher in the home fifth was Karl Spooner, young lefthander who had an 8-6 record during a season marred by arm trouble. He kept the Yankees scoreless, but only because of a brilliant throw by Gilliam. After McDougald was called out on strikes, Noren walked and Berra singled to left-center, where Gilliam, working fast, came up throwing with a strike to Robinson at third, where Noren slid into the ball. Collins fanned.

Byrne breezed through the Brooklyn sixth. Snider, after missing two pitches by a mile, grounded to Martin. Campanella, still off-stride against change-ups, finally couldn't get around on a fast ball and flied to Howard. Furillo popped to Collins.

Spooner, too, had an easy sixth. The Yankees for the first time went down in order. Howard grounded to Robinson. Martin fanned on a "3-2" pitch and Coleman also struck out.

Brooklyn hopes went up as Hodges, opening the seventh, walked on four pitches, but it was a false hope, for Robinson flied to Howard. And when Byrne pulled the string on a "3-2" pitch to Zimmer with Hodges breaking for second, the batter struck out and Berra's strong throw to Martin easily doubled the runner.

Fifth Double Play Ties Record.

As a result, it was announced that the fifth double play had tied the two-club record for one series game, a mark set by the Braves and Athletics in 1914 and matched by Cincinnati and the White Sox in 1919 and the Indians and Braves in 1948.

Once again Spooner worked smoothly in the New York seventh. He worked fast to throw out the hustling Byrne on Tommy's tap in front of the plate. Reese ranged to his right, dug Cerv's grounder out of the dirt and got his man on a good play. McDougald became the Dodger pitchers' tenth strikeout victim.

Don Hoak, batting for Spooner, revived Dodger anticipation by wheedling the fifth walk off Byrne as the eighth inning began. Gilliam dashed it for the moment by rapping a grounder to Martin, who started a record-breaking sixth double play, but hope was rekindled as Reese singled to left. Tension mounted as the count on Snider reached the limit — and then there was a roar as the mighty Duke struck out on a breaking ball.

Zimmer, over-running and dropping Noren's line drive, gave the Yankees an opportunity in the last of the eighth as Labine pitched for the Dodgers. However, Labine flashed a wicked curve, Berra taking a third strike. Collins flied to Snider—only the second putout for the Brooklyn outfield—and Howard forced Noren, Reese to Zimmer.

Brooklyn came up for its last chance with only a flutter of excitement. Campanella, still hitless, popped to Coleman. Furillo, getting a good cut, drove Noren back for his long liner. Then Hodges swung out on a bad game-ending pitch.

Widmar Named Tulsa Manager

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 29 (AP)—Al Widmar, 30-year-old right-handed pitcher who won 18 games for the Tulsa Oilers the past season, yesterday was named manager of the Texas League club for 1956.

He succeeds Hank Schenz, who President Grayle Howlett said was given his release so he might negotiate for another managerial connection.

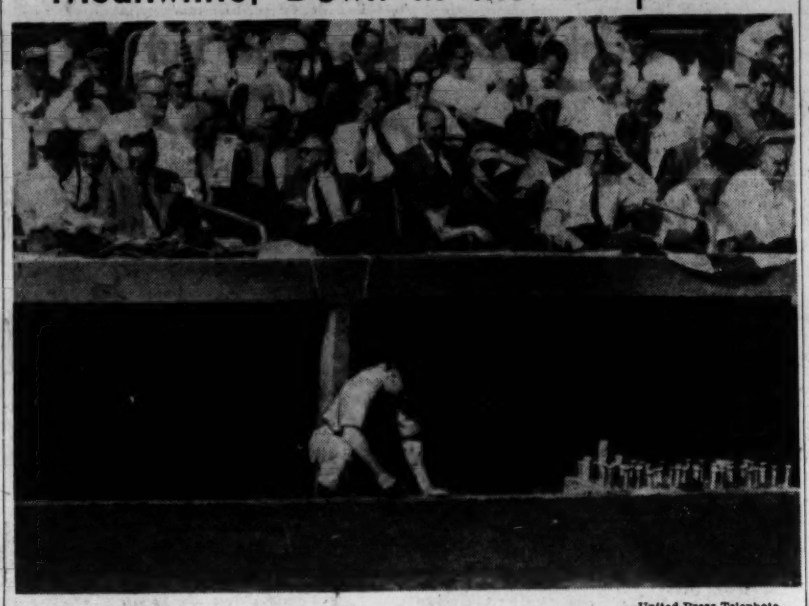

Widmar joined Tulsa May 11 on option from Seattle of the Pacific Coast League and was a key member of the pitching staff as Tulsa ended the season in a fourth-place tie with Houston. He played with the Browns and Red Sox in the majors.

Schenz, 36, a Tulsa infield star in 1946, returned to the club from Sacramento to take over the managership from Dutch Meyer after a month of the 1955 season in which Tulsa dropped 17 of its first 21 games. He played various infield positions and turned in several relief pitching performances.

Yearling Sale.

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 29 (AP)—The annual yearlings sale at Garden State park concluded last night with a total of 219 head sold for $484,600 during the three-day auction.

Meanwhile, Down in the Dumps . . .

—United Press Telephoto.

Finding that nothing in the Bronx cheers him is this visitor from Brooklyn, Dodger Manager WALTER ALSTON. The cause of the gloom, the probing of the dirt in front of the dugout and finding nothing but dust to bite, was the sight of two Yankee runs scoring in the sixth inning of the world series opener at Yankee Stadium.

Marion 'Happy' In Chicago Job

Marty Marion said here today that the possibility of being offered the job of Cardinal field manager doesn't interest him. Speaking job-wise, he's happy where he is, said Chicago White Sox manager Marion.

At his St. Louis County home, Marion was advised of a United Press report which stated flatly, "If their new general manager has his way, the St. Louis Cardinals' field manager for 1956 will be either Leo Durocher or Marty Marion."

The "new general manager" is Frank Lane, or will be "officially . . . within the next 72 hours" the wire service maintained. All those strong assumptions didn't mean anything to Marion professionally. Personally, it meant only "I'm flattered Frank would think so highly of me, but I'm very happy with the White Sox and have a two-year contract and will stay with it," said Marion.

Moore Allowed to Referee in California

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29 (AP)—Archie Moore is sound enough to referee at least one fight in California, the state athletic commission has ruled.

The commission lifted its heart condition ban yesterday to let the light heavyweight champion referee in a charity show at San Diego tonight.

But, the board ruled, venerable Archie will have to undergo another physical examination before he can referee or box further in this state.

Moore was denied a license to fight in California last winter when commission physicians reported a heart murmer. Since then he defeated Nino Valdes and Bobo Olson and gave heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano a good run.

Four Home Runs in Final Help Millers Win Play-Off

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 29 (UP)—Minneapolis, boasting home run power and iron-man hurling, reigned today as the Little World Series champion.

Blasting four home runs, the American Association entry whipped Rochester of the International League, 9-4, last night in the final game of the best-of-seven series.

The title was a nice sendoff for the Miller manager, Bill Rigney, who moves up to guide the parent New York Giants in 1956.

Home runs were the key to the Minneapolis triumph as the Millers blasted seven circuit clouts while winning the last two games. Big Bob Lennon, who drove in five runs, slammed out two four-baggers last night and Don Bollweg and Carl Sawatski added one each as the Millers tore into three Rochester hurlers for 13 hits.

Outfielder George Wilson hit two and Sawatski one Tuesday night when the Millers evened the series at three games each with a 4-3 10-inning win.

On the mound, big Al Worthington was the standout. He was credited with the first three Minneapolis victories and completed a sensational series by blanking Rochester on three hits and the final two and a half innigs last night. Floyd Melliere, who went six innings in relief of starter Bud Byerly, was credited with the win. Cotton Deal took the loss.

First 'Miss' by Griffith.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (UP)—Clark Griffith, 87-year-old Washington Senator owner who has attended every World Series ever played, was forced to miss this year's because of an attack of neuritis in his back.

These Predictions Are Based on Normal Water and Weather Conditions.

General rains over most of the state have lowered water temperatures. The Meramec and Niangua are very muddy due to heavy rains. Some portions of the Gasconade are slightly murky. All other streams are clear and low. Trotliners on the Gasconade report the best channel cat fishing in years. Live minnows are taking Mr. Whiskers. Jack salmon fishing has improved on all the streams that are in fishing condition. Bass are becoming interested in surface lures. Jacks Fork extremely low. The Eleven Points still too low above Riverton for float fishing.

The Lake of the Ozarks is slightly murky except at the lower portion of the damsite area. Wappapello is clearing on the upper portion but is dingy at the dam. All other lakes are clear. Bluegill are taking small popping bugs on upper Wappapello. Surface lures best on Bull Shoals during early morning and late evening hours. Channel cat fish are biting at the Theodosia area of Bull Shoals.

Weekend prediction: Outlook much more favorable than last week on streams that are in fishing shape. Crawfish best natural baits on lakes. Live minnows are best trotline baits and surface lures are recommended for both streams and lakes.

Gene Fullmer Upset by Boyd

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 (UP)—Gene Fullmer, a West Jordan (Utah) battler who last week was ranked as the world's fourth middleweight, was taken down a peg by Bobby Boyd last night. Fullmer had been favored at 3-1 to win.

Boyd, 22-year-old Chicago Negro, who has been knocked out four times and lost six of 43 matches, gained a close 10-round decision over the hard-swinging Utah star, who won 31 straight fights before he lost to Gil Turner and who since then has won two more bouts.

Duford Predicts Victories for Missouri and Illinois

Powell, Curley Rejoin Mizzou Practice Squad

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 29—With a minimum of contact work this week, the Missouri Tiger football team was to complete preparations today for its intersectional game with Utah here Saturday.

Coach Don Faurot is encouraged by the injury picture as he expects to get some service out of three or four of the seven ailing players.

Clubhouse Quotes

By International News Service.

JOE COLLINS—"I used Mickey Mantle's brand-new bat for those two homers, and I intend to keep on using it. This certainly was my greatest kick in baseball."

WHITEY FORD—"The toughest guy for me was that Carl Furillo. I just couldn't get him out. I was getting pretty tired. That's why Casey Stengel took me out."

Wabash Selected Over W.U.

By Dukes Duford

Michigan, Maryland, Notre Dame, Army and Texas Christian all won key victories last Saturday while Minnesota, Mississippi, Stanford and our Washington Bears suffered unexpected defeats. Who will it be this weekend?

Don Faurot's Missouri Tigers, battered and bruised from their tussles with Maryland and Michigan the past two weekends, will be host to a good Utah team Saturday at Columbia. Up-and-coming Illinois takes on Iowa State at Champaign. Here in St. Louis Washington will be trying for a victory over Wabash. Here we go:

Missouri 14, Utah 7—The Tigers will have to be on the beam if they want to beat Utah, a favorite to win the Skyline title this year. Coach Jack Curtice has three able quarterbacks to guide the team's offense. The Missouri line should spell the difference.

Illinois 27, Iowa State 7—The Illini have too much speed with halfbacks Jefferson, Woodson and Bates, for the Cyclones. Now that Coach Ray Eliot has found a dependable quarterback in Em Lindberg, Illinois will surprise its followers.

Wabash 21, Washington 14—The Bears will have to play better than they did last week, when they lost unexpectedly to Missouri Miners, if they hope to win, because the little Giants from Wabash have a veteran team undefeated in two starts this year, and with a 1954 decord of seven victories and only one loss.

Michigan 27, Michigan State 7—This is an intra-state game known as a "dog-eat-dog" affair. The Spartans showed big improvement in their victory over the Hoosiers last Saturday but that isn't enough. The Wolverines this year pack too much power offensively and defensively, and All-America Ron Kramer, a one-man football gang, happens to be a Wolverine.

Wisconsin 20, Iowa 14—Take your pick on this one. The teams seem evenly matched; both have hopes of winning the Big Ten title. I give the Badgers a slight edge because they have two top-flight quarterbacks in Jim Miller and Jim Haluska and will be playing at home. However, the Hawkeyes have All-America guard Calvin Jones, Quarterback Jerry Reichow and a couple of fleet backs in Eddie Vincent and Earl Smith.

Notre Dame 27, Indiana 13—The Hoosiers will go all out to win this one for Bernie Crimmins, a former Notre Dame star, but the Irish need not worry. Quarterback Paul Hornung showed in his debut against S.M.U. that he could ably fill All-America Ralph Guglielmi's shoes when he scored a touchdown and kicked a 38-yard field goal in Notre Dame's 17-to-0 victory.

Ohio State 21, Stanford 0—If Hopalong Cassady is traveling in high gear, as he was when he scored three touchdowns against Nebraska last Saturday, the Indians haven't a chance.

Purdue 20, Minnesota 7—The Boilermakers, without the services of their great passer, Len Dawson, may have a tough time beating the Gophers, even though this year's Minnesota team lacks experience. Remember, the Gophers will be playing in Minneapolis before the home crowd.

Maryland 27, Baylor 21—The Terps had better not be celebrating their victory over U.C.L.A. because the tough Baylor Bears have been preparing for this one by tuning up with victories the past two Saturdays.

T.C.U. 21, Arkansas 14—It's Dads' Day at Fayetteville but that won't stop the Horned Frogs. The Razorbacks, coming fast under their new coach, aren't quite ready for this one.

Duke 28, Tennessee 14—This is a traditional game of long standing and in the past the favorite team hasn't always won. This year I don't believe the inexperienced Vols are ready to upset the powerful Blue Devils.

Army 14, Penn State 13—This could be and might be the upset of the day. The injured Cadets will be forced to the limit, for Coach Rip Engle has a powerful squad and with Lenny Moore, All-America choice for quarterback, on hand to pass and run, Army could be in trouble.

Rice 21, L.S.U. 0—The Bengal Tigers were up the first week when they beat Kentucky, down last week when they lost to Texas A. & M., but whether they are up or down this weekend, it will make no difference. The Owls have too much experience, polish and scoring power.

Colorado 21, Kansas 7—The Jayhawks are improving and are definitely better than last year's squad, but so is Colorado, and that's the difference.

Others:

Nebraska over Kansas State, California over Pennsylvania, U.C.L.A. over Washington State, Washington over Oregon, Wyoming over Utah State, Georgia over Clemson, North Carolina over North Carolina State, Virginia over George Washington, West Virginia over Wake Forest, Auburn over Florida, Alabama over Vanderbilt, Kentucky over Villanova, Mississippi over North Texas State, Mississippi State over Memphis State, Wichita over Detroit, Texas A. & M. over Houston, Texas Tech over Oklahoma A. & M., Yale over Brown, Princeton over Columbia, Tulsa over Marquette, Colgate over Cornell, Holy Cross over Dartmouth, Arizona over Idaho, Tulane over Northwestern and Southern California over Texas.

Aussies in Japan.

Lefty Fires Back

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (UP).

SOUTHPAW BOB WIESLER of the Yankess, who made appearances on the mound only rarely during the entire month of September, is taking plenty of ribbing from teammates because he works so seldom.

Wiesler and his fellow Yankees will play in Japan after the world series. He will return to St. Louis by way of Rome, the Riviera, etc., by air.

Pacific Team Wins In Softball Final

Walter Arnett's home run and Ralph Baker's one-hit pitching gave Pacific a 1-0 victory over Manchester and the championship in the Meramec Valley softball tournament last night at Manchester. The blast off Charley Dependahl came in the sixth inning.

Pacific, held to three hits, had beaten Manchester, 2-1, then lost, 2-0, in their first two meetings.

Gallaride Wins Cahokia Feature

32-1 Shot Helps Make $216 Double

Gallaride, with W. Chambers up, showed his heels to six other horses to finish five lengths in front in last night's sixth and feature race at Cahokia Downs. Farcuerette was second and Glenn K third in the seven-furlong event. Gallaride paid his backers $8.40, $5.40 and $3.00.

Mad Answer, winning for the first time in her career, gave longshot players a thrill in the opening race when she beat Carolina Moon and Wise Balla. A 32-1 shot, the four-year-old bay filly, returned $67.40, $30 and $12.60. Mad Answer lost her only previous race two years ago.

Managing Director George Edward Day announced that starting time for the final two programs, tomorrow and Saturday, would be 8 p.m. instead of the usual 8:30 p.m.

Jockey James Cassity was suspended for the rest of the meeting for what the stewards said was careless riding in the fifth race Monday night. Trainer Claude McKee was fined $25 for failing to have his horse Moving Wyn in the paddock for the ninth race last Thursday night.

Walter Alston of Dodgers quietly scouts Thom McAn for 30 days

©1955 Melville Shoe Corporation

THE REASON I was willing to make the Thom McAn Shoe Jury test was because it enabled me to send an extra contribution to the Brooklyn Sandlot Fund. In my job I happen to think that this is a very worthwhile activity.

The last time I had worn Thom McAn shoes was during my college days, and I had no idea what they'd be like today. I'd changed. The shoes had probably changed—so I was a bit curious about how the whole deal was going to work out.

All I knew was—Thom McAns cost less

Ordinarily, I pay as high as twenty dollars for a pair of shoes. Though I hadn't given much thought to price, I knew that Thom McAns' cost was a lot less than what I'd got used to paying in recent years.

But I know one thing for sure — as a baseball manager I'm on my feet a good part of the day. And, in uniform or out, I'm always interested in finding out where I can get a pair of comfortable shoes.

So I went over to the Thom McAn store to be fitted.

The new pitch at Thom McAns

I was surprised at the line-up of styles I found. Some even had that foreign flavor that is so popular nowadays. Neither the store nor the styles looked like how I'd remembered Thom McAn.

My wife was happy with my choice of styles. She particularly commented on how well made they are. It was impossible for even as smart a buyer as she is to guess the price.

I tip off Mrs. Alston

As I said to the Mrs., "I expect to go on wearing Thom McAn shoes because they're comfortable—and, even more than that, they make me feel like a college man all over again."

Walter Alston

AMAZING OFFER

PROPOSED COUNTY BOND ISSUE PROJECTS

Map shows principal road projects in a $39,711,839 bond issue proposed by the County Bond Issue Executive Campaign Committee and presented to County Council last night. Main features, which were recommended earlier by a screening committee, include the three expressways—Ozark, Daniel Boone and Mark Twain—a city limits belt highway and extensions to Midland boulevard. To these recommendations the executive committee added a Middleway Route, to connect Berkeley and Florissant; purchase of right-of-way for eventual extension of Highway 140 to Strodtman road and acquisition of right-of-way for a Forsyth Bypass that would use the Rock Island Railway right-of-way.

LOYAL OPPOSITION

The West German lower house unanimously approved the establishment of diplomatic relations with Russia, and passed a resolution that German reunification should be the keynote of the foreign ministers' conference at Geneva next month.

Vice President Nixon, busier than ever since the illness of President Eisenhower, hands his "homework" to chauffeur John Wardlaw as he leaves his home in Washington today. Nixon presided at a meeting of the National Security Council this morning in the absence of the President, under the Administration's plan to carry on as usual while Mr. Eisenhower is recovering from his heart attack.

The Woman's Place

Men Are Losing Grip On the Labor Market

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.

WHO SAID women's place was in the home?

That old saying is less true every year. And there is no better time to point it out than now—during National Business Women's week.

HAL BOYLE

The ladies are no longer content to rule the world by rocking a cradle. Their hands are reaching for the cash register.

The influx of the petticoat crowd into industry is truly startling. Nearly one out of three of America's 65,000,000 employed now powder their noses on the job.

Women first began punching time clocks in large numbers during World War I. The trend mushroomed during World War II and then, after a brief abatement, picked up again.

★ ★ ★

THE MOST SIGNIFICANT DEVELOPMENT: More married as well as single women now seek steady work outside the home.

Why? Some hold that the invention of labor-saving devices has made housekeeping so simple wives are no longer content to spend their extra leisure loafing at home.

A more likely answer: Papa's paycheck no longer will pay the installments on all the bright new gadgets that modern couples now feel are necessary for a rich full life—a new car, television set, automatic dishwasher, and the like. The only practical solution—Mama has to go out and get on a payroll, too.

★ ★ ★

CERTAINLY THE OLD-FASHIONED HUSBAND who once melodramatically proclaimed, "I'd starve before I'd let my wife go to work," is getting scarcer. Some wives even complain, "I'd like to stay home, but that husband of mine—he keeps pushing me out into the labor market." More and more wives are finding that the best way to keep a husband is, first, to keep a job, so the poor tense fellow won't have the entire burden of bringing home the bacon.

Each year women go into new fields once ruled only by men. There are lady steeplejacks, lady stockbrokers, lady riveters, lady building contractors, lady channel swimmers, lady wrestlers. So far there have been no Major League lady baseball players—although this possibility is mulled over from time to time—or a really promising lady heavyweight fighter. Women still prefer to do their fighting at home.

A LOOK AT THE 1950 CENSUS figures—the latest I have at hand—shows, however, the significant inroads women have made in America's working world.

In that year there were 18,604,000 women in an employed population of 60,598,000.

The statistics show that women prefer indoor jobs to those that offer them the benefits of fresh air and exercise. There were 5,122,000 women clerks and office workers compared to 2,772,000 men, but women common laborers were outnumbered by men 107,000 to 3,319,000. This does seem a pity, considering science's discovery that women are actually stronger than men.

IN THE ART OF SELLING (where the big money lies), the girls are steadily creeping up on the weaker sex. The figures: 1,475,000 women salespeople, 2,482,000 men.

Aside from the irksome chores of common labor, what other field offers the greatest possibilities for a career-minded young woman? It would seem to be a life down on the farm. There were only 105,000 lady farmers and farm managers compared to 3,800,000 men.

★ ★ ★

BUT WHAT ABOUT A YOUNG MAN just getting started in life? Is there no vocation where he can feel safe from the increasing feminine competition?

Yes. In the area of private household employment. There are still 1,770,000 women in this line of work compared to only 58,000 men. But women are abandoning it by the tens of thousands every year. They'd rather work in an office or factory than clean other people's houses.

The best bet for an ambitious young man who wants a quiet indoor existence is to—get a job as a maid. In addition to good pay, good meals and short hours it has another advantage: It is a wonderful training for a lad who later wants to get married and have a home.

Venison Is Only as Good as the Cook

Special Attention Is Necessary to Make It Tasty; Here's How

By Hoyt Alden

BACK in the days when a deer was as scarce in this country as a Republican in the deep south, a haunch of venison was looked upon as something of a gastronomic prize.

But things have changed since then. I didn't realize how much they had changed until I heard a friend of mine, who is also a deer hunter, bewailing the fact that his deep-freeze was all cluttered up with frozen venison, and offering to give the stuff to anyone who would take it away.

Haunches of venison, not to mention steaks, chops and roasts, I have since learned, have become almost a glut on the market. In the case of venison, it appears to be the old story of a thing being precious just because it was rare. For many years, after the pioneer era faded into history, the deer threatened to fade along with it, and a venison steak was as hard to come by as a bowl of bird-nest soup.

But the deer have been restored in many states, and while not every hunter gets his deer, enough of them do to make deer meat fairly common. Venison used to conjure up images in people's minds of something not only rare but delicious beyond words. Then they got some deer meat.

The Little Woman, confronted with some venison chops, tossed them in the skillet and served them up with high hopes. In many cases the hopes were quickly dashed to earth, for several reasons. One of them is that deer meat is neither better nor worse than a lot of other meats, and the other is that it does require some special knowledge and treatment. Even then some people don't like deer meat, but then, some people have been known to pass up a thick steak for a can of sardines.

★ ★ ★

SO before you give that venison away, Mac, let's cut a roast and cook it this away:

Take it out of the freezer and let it sit at room temperature until it thaws. Then cover it generously with salt and let it sit for 10 or 15 minutes. It gives flavor and draws out the blood.

DEER MEAT, WE ARE TOLD, IS A GLUT ON TODAY'S MARKET.

Wash off the salt then grease it well with lard and braise it well all over in a 400-degree oven. When it's browned, turn the heat down to 350 and toss in a half dozen stalks of celery and a bunch of peeled carrots. Let it all cook until the celery is well browned.

At this point pull it out of the oven and with the flour sifter cover the whole roast, lightly, with flour. Put it back in, and when it browns, pour in two cups of claret and salt and pepper it. Turn the oven down and let it cook some more. During this cooking add a couple of cups of beef or chicken stock. You can tell if it's done by sticking a fork in it. If the meat grabs the fork, it isn't done. If the fork slides out easily, it is.

DOWN in Texas where they barbecue everything except black-eyed peas, they barbecue their venison chops like this:

Make a sauce by mixing first a half cup of butter, a cup of catsup, a half cup of spiced vinegar and a cup of chili sauce. Then blend a teaspoon of seasoning salt, a teaspoon of salt and a half teaspoon of cayenne pepper. Mix this dry mixture with the other mixture and you have your sauce.

Put the chops on a broiler and brush them with sauce. Let them cook slowly and thoroughly, brushing them with sauce every 10 or 15 minutes. Turn them and brush the other side. Cooking time will depend on how thick they are, but don't be in a hurry.

THERE are a lot of ways to cook venison steaks. This is one of them, and it comes highly recommended. For two steaks, put a tablespoon of olive oil in a skillet and chop a clove of garlic in it. When the oil is sizzling hot, remove the garlic and put in the steaks. Saute them until both sides are brown, and then season them with salt and paprika.

Then add gradually, stirring all the time, a fourth of a cup of dry sherry, a third of a cup of thick cream, one and a half tablespoons of currant jelly, and two tablespoons of butter. Let it cook until it is heated through and well blended.

What about marination? It depends on the age of your animal. Meat of a young deer doesn't require it. But if your animal was getting along in years, the meat should be marinated, particularly the haunch. For a roast saddle of venison, make a marinade of two cups of red wine, a half cup of salad oil, two cups of water, two thinly sliced onions, a thinly sliced carrot, six sprigs of parsley, two celery tops, a half teaspoon of cracked peppercorn, two teaspoons of salt, two crushed bay leaves, a half teaspoon of thyme and three crushed juniper berries. Bring it to a boil, let it simmer five minutes and then cool it before using it. The saddle should stay in the marinade 24 hours, turning every six hours or so.

For a venison pot roast, make a marinade of three tablespoons of olive oil, a minced clove of garlic, a sliced onion, two chopped stalks of celery, two sliced carrots, two lemons, four springs of parsley, two bay leaves, eight whole peppercorns and a quart of water. Heat the oil, saute the vegetables for 10 minutes slowly, squeeze the lemons and cut the peel in strips, and then put everything in a pan and simmer it for 30 minutes.

This marinade is also good for venison steaks and chops.

Learn How to Relax

A FEW QUICK TRICKS TO RELIEVE FATIGUE.

FATIGUE dulls the most sparkling personality and is the sworn enemy of beauty and the wish to stay young. Fight to prevent it in every way you can.

This is done more effectively, of course, by following a disciplined plan of activites which allows enough time for resting and sleeping. For hard workers at home as well as in offices and factories, the plan should include the short coffee-break type of resting that's recommended by doctors and personnel directors. And every woman should know well the recuperative delights of a luxurious beauty bath. But when occasional fatigue catches up with you despite good routines, combat it with one or more of these quick tricks:

Betake yourself from the scene of tiring labors if possible, and if you've been sitting, change to a completely different kind of chair. Read for 10 minutes from a diverting magazine.

Breathe deeply in front of an open window.

Refresh your face by pressing a large handkerchief or soft washcloth dampened with cold water to it. Makeup won't be disturbed.

Run cold water on your wrists, inside up. Or splash cologne on them and on your throat.

Relax taut neck muscles by massaging the nape of your neck and your shoulder tendons. Use your thumb and forefinger and pull upward.

Words, Wit And Wisdom

By William Morris

Word Game.

TODAY'S word game is designed to test your ability to recognize words similar in meaning to one another. Below you will find two groups of 10 words each. The first group is lettered A, B, C, etc. The second group is numbered 1, 2, 3, etc.

For each word in the first group you will find a word of almost the same meaning (a synonym) in the second group. Thus the word numbered 1 may mean practically the same as the word lettered F. Write this down as F-1. When you have written down all the answers, check against the correct pairings at the bottom.

| | |
|---|---|
| A—Terse | 1—Oust |
| B—Taciturn | 2—Portly |
| C—Evict | 3—Fond |
| D—Irony | 4—Garrulous |
| E—Corpulent | 5—Succinct |
| F—Affectionate | 6—Hint |
| G—Flavorsome | 7—Prank |
| H—Loquacious | 8—Sarcasm |
| I—Suggestion | 9—Reticent |
| J—Monkeyshine | 10—Palatable |

Each correct pairing counts 10 points for you. A perfect score would be 100; 80 is good. Below 80—better check each of these words in your dictionary and use them as often as possible until they come easily and correctly to your tongue and pen.

Answers.

A-5, B-9, C-1, D-8, E-2, F-3, G-10, H-4, I-6, J-7.

How large is your vocabulary? How many thousands of words can you use with confidence? For the answers to these questions, just send a self-addressed stamped envelope to William Morris, in care of the Post-Dispatch, for a free copy of his new self-scoring vocabulary test. It will show you how many words you know now and how to increase your word power.

New Interest

Let's Explore Your Mind

By Dr. Albert E. Wiggam

Answer to Question 1.

YES—mental or "attitudinal" shoes. This thought came to me from hearing what one wife said to a counselor: "I see I've been trying to make my husband feel small enough to fit my shoes, but you've made me see that I should try to be big enough to fit his." The simile is not perfect, but it shows that marriage can only be happy when it is a give-and-take way of life—neither partner being "bigger" or "better" than the other.

Answer to Question 2.

Most experts believe that if it is done very early, without his noticing it—by handing him things to his right hand, turning his chair so he will find it easier to reach things with his right hand—it may do him no harm. But if you scold him or tie his left hand, some experts believe the confusion and frustration may cause him all sorts of nervous reaction including stuttering.

Answer to Question 3.

Not basically. Unless the cases are extreme, one is as happy as the other; so why try to do it? If the introvert is thinking too much of his troubles, he should get a hobby and somehow get outside himself. The extrovert who recognizes that he's too loud or too excitable—as he often is—should tone down.

Luncheon Salad

Here's a pretty luncheon salad. Cut away the stem ends from tomatoes and make four or five parallel cuts through each almost to the bottom. Add finely diced cucumber and radish to cream-style cottage cheese; pile the cottage-cheese mixture into each cut of the tomatoes. Garnish with salad greens and serve with French dressing.

Next time you are simmering a boneless pork shoulder butt in water, try adding whole cloves, peppercorns and bay leaves to the water.

Midterm Report

By Angelo Patri

MIDTERM often is an upsetting time in the school and the family. The tests are recorded and the results made plain on the report cards. There are surprises for teachers, pupils and parents in these records. Some of the pupils who were expected to do well failed; some who were not expected to do much did very well; some who were not expected to do anything at all lived up to expectations.

Parents whose children carry home good reports are well pleased but those whose children bring poor ones are upset, alarmed, angry, according to their temperaments. This should never happen. Reports should not cause upsets in the family. The child who could do the work but failed needed day-by-day supervision and help. When he did not get that, when no attention was paid to his work until midterms came along his parents should not be surprised at his failure.

★ ★ ★

THE NATURALLY STUDIOUS CHILD—his numbers are few—will study regularly, do his homework and hand in his notebook written carefully and up to date without prodding. Not so the child in the big middle group who could but would rather not do the required work.

Most families have such children. They are healthy, intelligent and active but the world is so full of a number of things that little time is left for school work. Unless somebody rations the play and insists on work first, there will certainly be trouble by midterm.

Few school children have the power of looking ahead and foreseeing consequences. Most of them live in the present moment. Tomorrow is a long way off, and midterms so far in the future that there is loads of time to get ready for them. Then, woe to them, midterms are upon them. They are not prepared and the poor report is inevitable.

★ ★ ★

SCHOOL WORK, learning lessons, writing notebooks, drawing maps and writing compositions, are day by day tasks. When they are carefully done on time no test will alarm the pupil. He will pass it. But somebody must stand by to make certain that this day by day work is done.

The good report card is a good report for the father and mother of the school child as well as for him. It indicates that they were interested and helpful, even sacrificing. For them midterm is a triumph.

Missionary Project

No Sermons

By Mary Kimbrough

THIS is the story of a missionary project without sermons or Sunday schools, with missionaries recruited from the ranks of social workers, teachers and doctors and charged with the task of taking health, education, recreation and friendship into the dim corners of the world.

DR. FRANK Z. GLICK

The project is the Unitarian Service Committee, and its story was told in St. Louis this week by its quiet-spoken executive director, Dr. Frank Z. Glick, former head of the University of Nebraska School of Social Work. Dr. Glick was in town to spearhead a campaign for St. Louis's contribution to the national budget of $428,000, now being conducted by a committee of civic leaders, business and professional men and ministers representing other faiths in addition to the Unitarian. Charles H. Luecking is chairman.

LAUNCHED BY the Unitarian Church in 1940 to help refugees from the Hitler regime, the program since has become non-sectarian and has expanded to send clothing to Spanish refugees in the south of France; establish a neighborhood house in Bremen, Germany; set up a camp for emotionally disturbed boys near Boston, Mass.; conduct a public health program in Liberia, and revamp the educational set-up in Cambodia; send medical and scientific missions to Germany, Japan, France and India.

"These aren't permanent or even long-term projects," said Dr. Glick. "We aren't a giant agency by any means and we couldn't possibly take on huge relief programs. What we try to do is to step in and meet the specific need of the people—whether that need is for public health or education or, perhaps, recreation—but we never do so unless we're specifically invited. We don't impose our programs on anyone."

AN IMPORTANT FACET of the program, he pointed out, is the training of native leadership so that when the agency withdraws, the people themselves will be prepared to carry on the work.

Related to this is the "specialty team" project which sends skilled professional persons throughout the world to present lectures or work with the people in raising educational, health or other standards. Among physicians who have lectured to medical students of other countries under the committee's sponsorship are three from the Washington University School of Medicine: Dr. Robert Elman, professor of clinical surgery; Dr. Lauren V. Ackerman, professor of pathology, and Dr. Willard M. Allen, head of the department of obstetrics and gynecology.

"This is the kind of 'religion' we are taking these people," said Dr. Glick. "Perhaps the unique feature of our missionary program is our scrupulous policy of no interest whatsoever in the religious beliefs of those whom we seek to help.

"In fact, we aren't concerned with their form of government. Just so long as there is a need, we want to be there to try to help it. We don't preach sermons and we don't try to impose our theories of democracy on them. We hope they will learn about democracy and respect it because of what we do."

★ ★ ★

ONE OF THE COMMITTEE'S major missionary projects is right on the edge of the sprawling Navajo reservation in New Mexico and Arizona. In Gallup, N.M., dividing the white man's civilization from the tribal community, the committee has become the operating agent of the Government-built Indian Community Center.

"Our purpose isn't at all to stamp out the rich beauty of the Navajo civilization," said Dr. Glick. "In fact, our workers would be the first to hope that the tribal heritage could carry on, but the fact is that the Navajos are stepping into the white man's way of life and we want to ease the process of integration.

"We understand and appreciate their reluctance to part with their own unique culture, but we believe that they need not lose that culture even though they take advantage of better educational facilities for their children, and learn more of home economics, child care and sanitation.

"Some of the Navajo children have never had a shower, so they're learning cleanliness in our Community Center. The adults frequently bring their family or legal problems to the workers.

"But this isn't altogether an Indian center. It's also for the white people and we are seeking to develop an integrated program and merge the interests of these two races. We feel such a program helps blunt the edge of difference between the two and makes it that much easier for the Navajo to gain much from the white man's way of life without losing the beauty of his own Indian heritage.

"One reason we have centered our interest there is the tremendous growth of the Navajo tribe. Eighty years ago there were only 6000. Today, there are 80,000 Navajos and they constitute the fastest-growing segment of the American population despite shockingly high infant mortality.

"You can't call it a vanishing race anymore."

Business Manners

By Amy Vanderbilt

BECAUSE jobs depend on them, I find that good manners in business are more common than they are sometimes in our daily lives.

A young secretary doesn't say "What?" to her employer. She says, "I'm sorry, I didn't understand you, Mr. Jones." Or, if she misses a word or two in dictation: "I'm sorry," as she indicates that she wants a repetition of the words.

The individual, young or old, executive, or non-executive, man or woman applying for a job, rises for the introduction if his potential employer enters an office to see him. An office worker who is given an order by a superior doesn't argue. If it's something he doesn't understand, he asks politely to have it explained to him more fully.

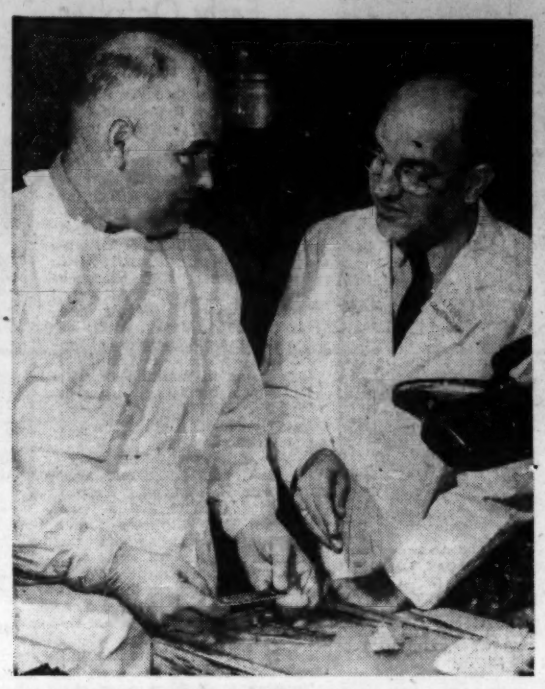

★ ★ ★

IT IS GOOD MANNERS in business offices for each employe to come to work with a cheerful countenance and positive attitude toward the day's occupation. The worker who comes to an office full of his own personal problems and frustrations inhibits the work of those around him, just as does the chronic complainer.

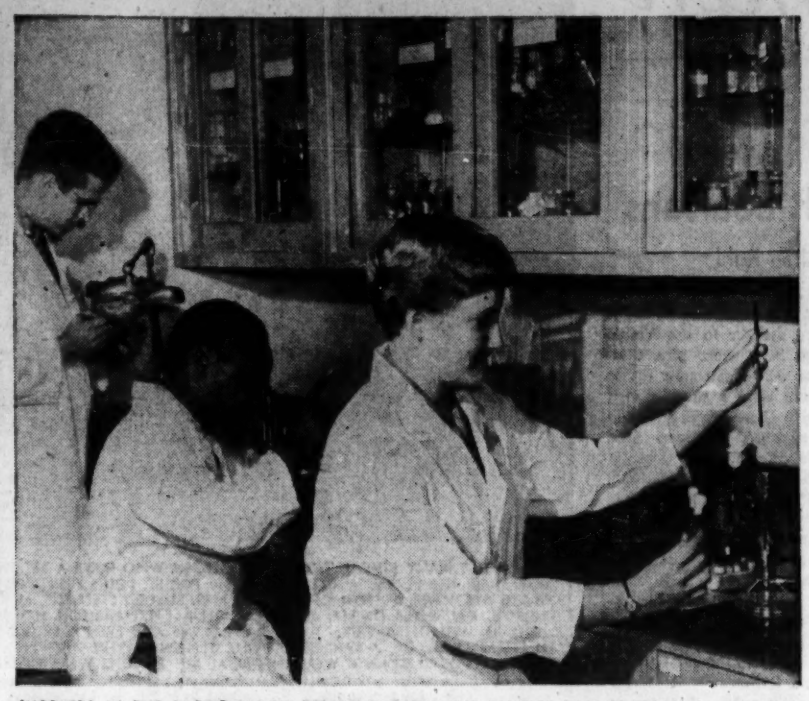

The polite and considerate office worker keeps very carefully to lunch hour schedules and times for arrival and departure, even when he does not have to punch a time clock. He considers the comfort and feelings of those working with him.

Medical Laboratory in St. Louis Tracks Down, Identifies Diseases for 13-State Region

By Clarissa Start

A GROUP of soldiers at Fort Leonard Wood complains of sore throat, the wife of a sergeant in Nebraska wonders if she's going to have a baby, the child of an overseas serviceman has a possible case of polio, or—as happened recently—a colonel is bitten by his pet hamster.

In any of these and many other situations, ranging from such minor distress as skin rash or sniffly nose to poisoning or drug addiction, the Fifth Army Area Medical Laboratory here in St. Louis goes to work.

Probably many St. Louisans have entered the building at Twelfth and Spruce streets to visit other military offices or the radio station there and never dreamed that a well equipped scientific set-up complete with white mice exists on the seventh floor. There Lt. Col. Robert L. Cavenaugh directs reference, research and consulting operations which serve the Army and Air Force in the 13 north-central states comprising the Fifth Army Area.

"Our laboratory is similar to that maintained by many hospitals in this area," Col. Cavenaugh explains, "although it's probable that our activities are much more diversified. We receive letters and specimens from all Army and Air Force stations in our area concerning those cases too complicated for them to handle.

In addition to its medical function, the laboratory serves as a training and testing ground. Students from the Army, Navy and Air Force take technician refresher courses, and the proficiency of the various laboratories in the area are tested and inspected. Col. Cavenaugh makes four trips a year, north, south, east and west, to keep up with the large area. He has no idea how many men are stationed in this area; that's a military secret.

"All I have to know," he says, "is how many patients are in hospitals and why they're there."

* * *

ONCE a year the laboratory invites the chiefs of all St. Louis hospital laboratories, technicians and interested military personnel to a demonstration and birthday party. This Saturday will mark the third birthday of the laboratory and will be the occasion for an open house.

"We were just getting under way our first year," Col Cavenaugh recalls, "when a tremendous epidemic of influenza broke out at Fort Leonard Wood. That was in December 1952. Washington called and asked if we were equipped to go ahead, and also sent a research laboratory consultant to investigate. It was somewhat of a feather in our cap that we were able to identify the disease as influenza type A-prime. The epidemic had started in Japan and the Philippines, been brought to California, Texas and Missouri, and later spread to the rest of the United States. Our findings proved that the type of vaccine being given was not the correct type and so it was changed. Influenza vaccine must be changed every year or two years as the virus changes.

—By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.

"We've also investigated questionable polio at Camp Crowder—it turned out it wasn't polio—and Rocky Mountain spotted fever in Colorado."

Col. Cavenaugh, who has just finished 20 years in the regular Army, comes from an Army family, his father, grandfather, and great-grandfather having all been Army men. After graduation from Cornell University Medical School and a year of additional study in pathology, he applied for admission to the Army at a time when there were more applicants than positions and highly competitive examinations weeded them out. Times have changed, he notes. He now lives in Webster Groves and finds, on checking up on it, that his children have attended about as many different schools as he did in his time.

During the war he served in the CBI theater, mostly in China doing administrative work. He had served in Panama in the early part of the war and took a box of slides of Panamanian tropical diseases which he used to trade for slides of Indian and Chinese diseases.

"I got a good slide of Chinese relapsing fever," he says with the air of a man who has found a rare collector's item.

He is one of three doctors on the staff. The other two are Capt. Robert I. Bosman, chief of pathology, and a regular Army man, and Capt. J. Robert Thompson, Chicago draftee. There are two veterinarians, five officers who are technologists, 16 enlisted and 26 civilian technicians.

* * *

THE highly complex doings of the laboratory personnel as explained to us, in necessarily simplified language, covers a great deal of territory.

"This is today's shipment of specimens," Col. Cavanaugh indicated a counter of jars and containers of various sizes and shapes. "They may be uninteresting. They may turn out to be very interesting. Every now and then we turn up a pearl."

Specimens, Capt. Bosman explained, are put through a series of solutions to dehydrate the tissue and then imbedded in paraffin so that they can be cut in thousandth of millimeter thickness and placed on microscope slides for study.

The slides, which are kept in an index file, play their role in many a human drama. Somewhere in some Army hospital, a serviceman or a member of his family waits to learn if the tumor is just a tumor or if there are malignant symptoms. Slides are kept permanently for review purposes.

Insect and animal borne diseases are the concern of the laboratory, too. No entomologist is presently on duty but a new one will arrive from Korea in a few months. The former entomologist, who has just left, worked with the local program of encephalitis control, and the over-all program of the division of entomology and parasitology may be called on to study anything from intestinal parasites to rat bite to insect control at an isolated station for anti-aircraft patrols.

* * *

A BIOCHEMISTRY and toxicology department does routine laboratory tests and investigates poisoning cases. These are rarely whodunit type cases, although they do work with the police department on occasion. In one case not long ago they were called on to disprove the presence of poison in the body of an Army officer who died suddenly while writing notes to his family; death proved to be from a heart attack.

Still another branch of laboratory work is the veterinary foods service, which consists of the testing of all foods of animal origin—meat, butter, eggs, ice cream, canned milk, lard—to be sure it meets specifications before it is purchased.

"This is a far cry from medicinal work," says Col. Cavenaugh, "as it has nothing to do with nutritional significance. It is closer to industrial laboratory work."

Other activities are carried on in the bacteriology room, in the immunology laboratory, which tests for syphilis and febrile diseases, mainly typhus. Two essential departments are the stock room and the glassware cleaning department, presided over by Mozella Winston, first employe to be hired for the laboratory, for cleaning the glassware with distilled water precedes all other work. The stock room houses rabbits, guinea pigs, used for tuberculosis tests, white mice, used for tumor and rabies tests, and cages of flies being tested for resistance to DDT and other insecticides.

On the day we visited the laboratory, there was great interest in whether or not a certain guinea pig would develop rabies. This research was brought about when a hamster, a pet owned by an Army colonel in another city, bit the colonel and then died. There was some joking—unofficial, of course—as to whether the diagnosis should be, "death due to biting colonel" — but the laboratory tested for rabies so that they might notify the colonel whether or not he should begin treatment for the disease.

At last report, the guinea pig was in excellent health. So was the colonel.

With his partner keeping quiet throughout the auction, South naturally felt that the opponents would make four spades, so he risked the five-club bid, hoping that his freakish distribution would bring him through with a small loss. He certainly could not know that the singleton heart opening by himself, with a diamond return by North, would result in a two-trick defeat of the spade contract. This is not a criticism of North—he couldn't afford to take action at any stage of the bidding.

The outcome, however, was even better than it would have been from doubling four spades. West opened the ace of spades—took a good look at the dummy, and then went into long huddle.

West thought that he faced quite a problem. He was virtually sure that South had no more spades, but that was about all West did know. South might have the heart fillers, and if North shifted to trumps, the result might be calamitous. So, deciding to play his partner for either the ace or the king-queen of diamonds, West shifted to the diamond jack.

That was all South needed. He collected two diamond tricks in short order, ruffed a diamond with a low trump in dummy, then trumped a spade and ruffed his last diamond with the club jack. Now he only had to surrender a trick to the trump ace.

It is true that West had something to think about at Trick 2, but his decision to shift to the diamond cannot be commended. With all the cards in sight or well accounted for, the only sort of hand that could justify South's bidding was a semi-two-suiter, i.e., the very long club suit he obviously had, plus a second suit of some "respectability." That second suit, plainly enough, could only be diamonds, and so West was playing South's game to lead that suit up to the closed hand.

Fix It Yourself — By Hubbard Cobb

Three Cures for Bad Walls and Ceilings.

OUR little problem for today concerns an interior wall or ceiling that needs repainting. Trouble is that on this particular surface the old paint has checked and alligatored not to mention peeling in spots. Now there are three things we can do about a surface in this sort of shape.

The first is to go to work with some paste type paint remover and remove all the old paint right down to the plaster. This is a real fine way to get the sort of surface we want for repainting but it takes a lot of time and a good deal of work. If you're working on a ceiling it's also darn hard on the neck.

If we don't want to remove the old paint we can get rid of the loose and peeling stuff with a scraper and then level things off with a thin coat of spackle. The spackle is applied over the entire surface and then smoothed out with a rubber squee-gee such as window washers use. The spackle will fill all the voids and if carefully applied will produce a pretty fair surface for paint.

If this operation seems like too much effort we have a final choice and that's based on the sound assumption that if you can't beat 'em join 'em. What we do is to apply textured or plastic paint to the wall or ceiling so that we end up with a textured surface. The textured or plastic paint is heavy enough to fill in the cracks and bad spots in the old paint on the plaster.

My Day

Our Uninformed Allies

By Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.

ONE wonders in reading the newspapers why it is there seems to be so little communication between us and our Allies. Why should we announce through the State Department that we are going to sell arms to Egypt and then a few days later find that our British allies are "seriously concerned that the United States will offer Egypt military supplies unilaterally," and that France and Israel may also protest?

Mrs. Roosevelt

It would seem so much simpler to consult our Allies beforehand in order to prevent these difficulties arising after a policy has already been announced.

* * *

I DO NOT SUPPOSE it is surprising that we should have a break in the stock market almost equal to '29, for, of course, there is fear that the President's illness will lead to a change in some of the policies that are considered safe and sane by the financial wizards of the country. One can only hope that few people have really suffered. Speculators are the ones who sustain immediate losses, not the people who own their stock outright and who can wait in the hope that the stock will come back to its real worth on the market.

It is good to know that the doctors are hopeful of the President's complete recovery, and it is especially heartening that he can look to resuming some work in about two weeks. That means that his advice will be available and that he also will be able to make final decisions on important problems.

* * *

THIS IS IMPORTANT because sometimes in previous Presidential illnesses there has been a period when the President could not be consulted and decisions were sometimes made in ways that were afterwards thought not to have been wise. There is apparently no danger of this today, and I have been hopeful that that would be the case right along.

Martha Carr's OPINION

REG U S PAT OFF

Dear Martha:

I HOPE you'll listen to my story and agree that I have a right to be happy. When I was 18 years old, I was very much in love but my father broke us up and then, just to show my dad that he couldn't run my life, I married a boy I really didn't love. That was three years ago and I've been miserable since. He is good to me and says he loves me but he's real dull and quiet and never wants to go out anywhere. There's a man who lives next door who seems to like me a lot. He invited us to a dance but my husband wouldn't go so I went anyway. Then he made a date to meet me the next day. My husband found out about it and we had a big fight and now I'm back at my folks' home. They think I should go back and he has asked me to but I don't love him, Martha. What do you think I should do. W.

Why shouldn't your husband get mad when you went dancing with someone else? The fact that he doesn't want to go out every night is no reason for a divorce. Just be grateful that he's a good man and loves you and make up your mind to be happy. Invite another couple in occasionally, and see if your husband wouldn't enjoy their friendship. Go out to parties or to the show with other women during the day but stay at home with your husband in the evening. And, incidentally, why blame your dad? You made your own decision to marry this man. Now it's up to you to make the best of it instead of insisting on your right to happiness by dating someone else.

Dear Martha:

WE'RE HAVING QUITE A PROBLEM with our younger daughter. She is quiet and retiring and doesn't seem to want to go out at all. Our older girl is just the opposite and is very popular. She wants her sister to date some, so she got her a blind date recently and the boy unfortunately fed her a big line and for the first time in her life she fell for someone. He promised to call the next day and she believed him, but, as you can imagine, he didn't call. The older girl has tried to reach him, but she can't locate him. Meanwhile, the younger daughter is miserable and hurt and is worse than ever. We can't get her to go out again at all. Please help us. MOTHER.

She will be hurt all the more if she thinks her sister has to get her dates, then go after a boy because she failed to recognize his line and take it in stride. If I were you I would let the matter drop and ask your older daughter to do no more about this boy. Then don't let the younger girl feel you are concerned about her popularity or lack of it. Let her stay at home if she prefers that, let her feel secure in the love of her family. In all probability she will outgrow some of this timidity but it will be harder if she is pushed out continually where she may be hurt again, and if she feels the family is disappointed because boys don't call.

What to Wear

By Louise Trescott

PLANNING a wardrobe around one color is a clever and individual approach to this problem of dress. Too few women have the courage to do it, so they never know the satisfaction it brings and the money it saves. Paula is interested in this idea:

LOUISE TRESCOTT

"Is it silly to dress all in one color? I mean a complete wardrobe. I've heard of it and would like to try, I think. It happens I have a lot of blue on hand—navy coat and suit, two print dresses, mostly blues, and a powder blue and gray checked suit with sweater set and blouse that match the blue in it. I need a suit and dress for the office and I need a dressy dress. Would I be crazy to get blue?

"I am 5'8", a little scrawny. I have medium skin, ash blonde hair and large blue eyes, which are my best feature, if I do say it myself. I am 30."

★ ★ ★

ON THE CONTRARY, planning a wardrobe around one color is the smartest thing in the world. By all means stick to blues. As I picture you, you can no doubt wear many green-blues, if you wish, which will still blend with your pure blues.

Also try violet-blues very carefully, as periwinkle and hyacinth. I am not quite sure what you mean by a "medium" skin. If it shows a bit of pink, all colors I have mentioned will be good. But if there is a yellow cast, watch the violet-blues. All of these blues will take navy accessories.

★ ★ ★

FOR SOME SPARKS of contrast I suggest all pastels, particularly a pale gold that melts into the delicacy of your hair. For stronger contrast—pure red.

You might like your office suit in a tweed mixture of light and dark blue, flecked with pale gold. A scarf to match the fleck. A basic dress for the office would be good in grayed turquoise with tailored turquoise jewelry. As for the dressy dress, a full skirted navy taffeta could not be beaten. Accessorize it three or four different ways and you'll feel dressed up in it for several seasons.

Try and Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

FAVORITE hillbilly story concerns the poor fellow who had to spend a night in Little Rock and saw an electric light for the first time in his life. Returned to his mountain shack, he sank into his favorite chair and told his wife, "Don't know how them city folk catch any sleep. There was a big light burning in my room right through the night."

"Why didn't you blow it out?" asked the wife.

"Gol dang it—I couldn't," grumbled the hillbilly. "It was in a bottle!"

A BUDAPEST MERCHANT rushed into an eye and ear hospital demanding emergency service. "The symptoms have been growing ever since the Commies have been here," he wailed. "I just don't see what I hear!"

News in Hand-Blown Glass

By Elizabeth Hillyer

THERE'S one color effect that is matched by nothing else—the effect of light sparkling through glass. Now that we're so increasingly color wise for our homes, there's fresh interest in jewel glowing colored glass for decorative purposes, in big and important accessories. Starring is American hand-blown glass.

Sea green, teal blue, amber, amethyst, chartreuse, and lime as well as clear crystal and a new delicate charcoal—these are the colors that focus an entranced eye on glass in so many fine decorative accessory and glassware sections of the stores. Vases, bottles, and lamps—often unusually tall—appear in wonderful shapes, simple in design, artfully simple and ideafull. And this is glass that's so distinctive it is known by name, Blenko glass, which is made by the Blenko Company of West Virginia.

THIS COMPANY originally made cathedral glass and is the only one which still does by the same process used to make the first stained glass windows in France in the eleventh century. Such notable buildings as St. Patrick's Cathedral, the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Harkness Library at Yale, the National Cathedral in Washington, and many others have windows of this glass. Blenko decorative glassware is shown in museums throughout the world and have been frequent award winners.

The method of making the decorative glassware involves great skill but the simplest of time-honored equipment. Artisans blow the red hot molten glass to shape each individual piece, and the twirling of the long, hollow blowing tube and basic implements of applewood and charcoal are all they need to complete the forms, so great is their craftsmanship.

SKETCHED ARE new Blenko pieces and those which have already become classics. Especially favored now are very tall vases and bottles, from 21 to 32 inches high, and the new lamps are as tall as 46 inches.

This company also makes official reproductions of bottles, pitchers, tavern glasses, and decanters found during the restoration of Colonial Williamsburg, and has recently begun to make them in amethyst, sapphire, and emerald as well as clear lead crystal.

Today's a good day to send for Elizabeth Hillyer's new booklet Furniture Refinishing—How To Do It Yourself. Plan to reclaim and restyle old furniture with its valuable help—and find out, too, what to do about finish repair. Address your request for this booklet to Miss Hillyer at the Post-Dispatch and enclose 15 cents, please, with a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Dean Speaks Up

Woman Wants Things Stirred Up

By Adele Starbird

A FEW people took exception to my article on the stubborn man. True, they said, but why did I omit the stubborn woman?

Adele Starbird

I omitted her because, with some exceptions, stubbornness is not the besetting sin of women. Their besetting sin is the desire to keep things stirred up. They love scenes. When life has been running smoothly for a week or a month—just long enough for the men of the family to relax and let down their guard, a woman will start flying storm signals.

★ ★ ★

SHE CAN MAKE A MOUNTAIN out of a molehill; she can take a trifle, a word that was said or left unsaid, something that happened the week before or 10 years ago, and build it up into a terrific act. Then when the whole family is devastated, she stages a big reconciliation scene; she feels wonderful!

The storm has accomplished three things for her. It released a certain tension which had been building up, it satisfied her need for excitement, and it made her the center of attention. Whether she knows it or not, the reconciliation is the goal. From the first sniffle or sarcasm she was driving toward that end.

Not all women make scenes, but more than half of them do—scenes of varying duration and intensity, from the pettish flare-up to the three-day blow.

HEALTHY MEN don't make scenes; they may lose their temper, they may be irritable or grumpy, but they don't deliberately work themselves up to a big act. All men hate scenes. In "The Thinking Reed," Rebecca West describes an effeminate man who enjoyed making scenes, but who did not forgive one made by a woman.

A woman's emotional debauches often have a certain periodicity. It would be interesting to keep a chart, to see if one could predict their recurrence. They are most frequent on Sundays and holidays, or on special occasions like birthdays and anniversaries. The scene-maker is like a tired child who gets upset when his routine is broken.

Most of these women can calculate to a nicety how far to go, and with whom. They know better than to blow up on a job. The people who have to take it from them are the only ones to receive it. Women who miscalculate find themselves unemployable—word gets around that they are poison. At home, they find themselves abandoned; the worm turns finally and crawls out.

★ ★ ★

AS I SAID, women like excitement. If the lake is too quiet, they rock the boat just to create danger, with disastrous results. But sometimes the results are farcical, and they get more than they bargained for.

There was a wife who complained that her husband was so dull and unromantic, she could scream. Always home at the same hour every day, steady habits, even temper, phlegmatic as an old shoe.

He discovered her state of mind, and since he was not nearly so dull as she thought, he obligingly changed his ways. He came home late, richly scented with whisky, and when she protested, he broke up her best china. She watched in stunned horror as her caveman rampaged through the house. Finally he grabbed her by the hair and smacked her face—not too hard.

★ ★ ★

IT WAS ONE OF THE QUICKEST cures in history. After that, she could endure the humdrum with pleasure.

I would never advocate physical violence. But I have wished at times that there were a colossal impersonal giant roaming the world with a paddle, or a colossal mother with a hairbrush.

A Change for the Worse

By Ruth Millett

HER three children are all teen-agers and two years ago she went to work to supplement her husband's income. She wanted her children to have all the things teen-agers today feel it is their natural right to have.

Well, they have more things. But the more they have the more they want.

And because they have to have their fun Mama does most of the housework at night after working all day at a hard and tiring job.

Once it was the American way that when money was scarce and kids were old enough to work they pitched in and helped pay their way.

But indulgent mothers have changed that story. Now Mama goes to work.

Of course, Mama thinks she is doing right. But she is making two mistakes. She is deciding that it is more important for kids to have things than to have a mother at home.

And she is giving them the idea that parents owe their children everything they want, even if it means that a mother has to work in the daytime and do housework at night.

The sad thing is that every year more and more mothers of demanding children go out and get a job to give the children everything they think they have to have instead of saying in the old-fashioned way, "If you can earn the money for it—you can have it."

Ever add fresh tomato to mayonnaise or French dressing? Peel and seed a tomato, then chop fine before making the addition. Good over lettuce sprinkled with lots of minced chives or parsley.

"Clever gal, my Carol!"

I'm tickled pink with the smart way my Carol handles her housework. Take wood floors for instance. Most gals complain about all that scrubbing and waxing. But not my Carol! She cleans and waxes them in one easy operation with Bruce Cleaning Wax. It takes her half the time and a lot less elbow grease. And we've yet to have a guest who hasn't commented on our beautiful wood floors. My Carol and her Bruce Cleaning Wax really make easy work of a hard job. I'm mighty pleased with both of them.

Quick Chili Con Carne

Method: Melt butter in 10-inch skillet; add ground beef. Cook over moderately low heat, breaking up meat with a long-handled fork so it is in crumbles, until beef loses its red color. Add tomatoes and kidney beans (including liquid in cans); mix well. Add chili powder, garlic powder, thyme, salt and pepper to taste. Simmer about 20 minutes so flavors will blend and sauce will thicken. Makes four servings.

Note: Chili con carne powder may be substituted for the chili powder, garlic powder and thyme if desired.

Cutting a Cake

Cutting a frosted cake? You can keep your knife free of frosting and cake crumbs if you dip the knife into hot water before each cut.

SHE DANCED at his Wedding

By Vida Hurst

CHAPTER 19.

IT was one of those evenings doomed to failure from the beginning in spite of the good intentions of everyone concerned. The newly married couple was having an argument before arriving and continued it as soon as the customary greetings had been completed.

Since Peter was living in a hotel, Donna had suggested that they meet in her apartment for cocktails.

"I'll leave the liquor department to you," she said frankly, "but I can make the hors d'oeuvres. I've some new recipes I'm longing to try."

She did not explain that these recipes had been clipped from a magazine during the period she had expected to be Arthur's bride. She was still a prospective bride if she decided to take her engagement to Peter seriously but Arthur had married another girl.

Tonight, however, they were going to forget the past, relax and have fun. They were in business together and it was inevitable that they should be thrown together socially, especially since Donna and Arthur had shared the same friends in Phoenix as Enid and Peter had in New York.

Once the newness had worn off there was no reason they couldn't enjoy each other's company, Donna told herself, determined to do her part in strengthening the alliance. But she didn't understand the temperament of Enid nor the depths to which Enid would descend to get what she wanted.

The hors d'oeuvres had been made and placed on a wooden tray. It was a colorful assortment and Donna gazed at them with pride replacing the waxed paper which she would remove when her guests had arrived. The living room was charming with gray-blue walls and carpeting she had purchased for the house which would never be built. Stop it, Donna. Don't be sorry for yourself. It's not the past but the future that matters.

* * *

A CLEAR red chair matched the twin lamps. A Venetian mirror reflected the flowers Peter had sent. The room was dramatic as if exciting events were bound to happen here. But so far it had been the background for nothing but tears and disappointment. There she went again. It was revolting how every thought she had was connected with Arthur.

Fortunately there was no time to think about anything after Peter had arrived with gin and French vermouth for the cocktails he knew were Enid's favorites. He was mixing these according to his own specifications when the married couple came. Donna greeted them cordially and led them into her small kitchen. The two men grinned at each other and Enid lifted her face to Peter saying, "Kiss me, darling. I'm wearing non-smearable lip stick."

Peter obeyed so platonically that even a jealous husband could not object and Enid cried, "Is that the best you can do?"

"Under the circumstances, yes," he retorted.

"I refuse to argue with you this early in the evening so I shall not inquire WHAT circumstances," Enid said. Her three listeners recognized the tension in her voice but each ascribed it to a different reason.

"A man has to have some place he can relax," he declared wickedly. "I can't entertain in my room at the hotel so I accepted Donna's invitation to have cocktails here. I thought you'd enjoy seeing her apartment since she redecorated it herself."

"I suppose you've seen it, Arthur. How about taking me on an inspection tour?"

"I've only been here once," Enid's husband said coloring. "I dropped Peter off here the other evening and came in with him for a few minutes."

* * *

ENID cast a careless eye about the spotless kitchen as she said, "That must have been the night I tried to find you. The night we lost our chance at the only apartment I've really wanted."

"I know. It's a shame I haven't been able to help you. But I've been so darned busy getting this project started. Ask Pete and Donna if you don't believe me."

"It won't be necessary, Sweetheart. I have news for you. I've taken a suite at Camelback Inn. We're moving in tomorrow."

"You must be kidding," Arthur said. "You know as well as I do we can't afford anything like that now when I've put every penny I can get hold of in this project."

On her way to the living room Enid said, "You should have thought of that sooner. I told you before we were married I positively would not live with your parents."

Arthur looked at Peter but he was opening the refrigerator . . . Donna had followed Enid.

"Stormy weather ahead, Captain," Peter murmured when he was sure the girls were out of hearing.

Cooler Weather, Showers

Cooler temperatures are expected in the St. Louis area tonight and tomorrow, but Meteorologist Harry F. Wahlgren said warmer weather will prevail again Saturday. He predicted showers by tonight and a possibility of more rain again Saturday.

Precipitation here this month totals 4.04 inches, including a .01 of an inch fall in the 24-hour period ended early today. This brought the amount for the year to 26.27 inches as compared with normal, 29.71.

Rain was reported in areas from the Atlantic to Pacific coast with heavy falls including 2.66 inches at Jacksonville, Fla.; 1.08 at Des Moines and 1.81 at Greenfield, Ia.

Below freezing temperatures prevailed early today in Wyoming, northern Colorado, northern Nevada and parts of Utah, Idaho and Oregon. Lows in the nation ranged from 14 at Big Piney, Wyo., to 82 at Corpus Christi, Tex., and in Missouri from 62 at Union to 72 at Kansas City and Joplin.

Readings of 90 degrees or more were recorded over most of the southern part of the nation with the highest, 100, at Blythe, Calif.; Yuma and Gila Bend, Ariz. Maximums in Missouri were from 79 at Kirksville to 87 at Malden. Wahlgren pointed out that record high in St. Louis for this date is 101 in 1953.

Uncle Ray's Column

By Ramon Coffman

THE story of writing goes back to pictures. This is true of early writing in Egypt, Babylonia, China and elsewhere. To this day the Chinese are without an alphabet, and use a form of picture writing.

A. "Eye" was a picture of a human eye. "Nest" was an object similiar to a bird's nest, with baby birds inside.

Many other examples could be given, but the main point is this: Early Egyptian words were pictures of the objects. As time went on, the pictures were drawn less carefully.

Q. Did both the Egyptians and the Babylonians develop an alphabet?

A. The Egyptians made an alphabet, but the Babylonians failed to do so. In Babylonia a "syllable system" of writing grew up, but it was awkward. The Egyptians, on the other hand, made and used a real alphabet.

Q. Do the Egyptians deserve all the honor for creating an alphabet?

A. The Egyptians should have much of the honor for inventing the alphabet, but other ancient people gave valuable help in supplying letters. The Hebrews gave important help, as did Semitic groups in the Sinai area. The Phoenicians did much to spread knowledge of the alphabet, and the letters were changed by the Greeks and Romans.

While the Egyptians were changing from a system of picture words to an alphabet, they often employed both systems of writing in the same manuscript. To write "awake," for example, they used three sound signs, or letters, and then made a picture of an open eye!

Two letters, or sound signs, spelled the Egyptian word for "nest." In addition, however, the writer made a picture of a nest with three little birds inside.
